

STOCKADE SITE FOR GIRLS' HIGH CONDEMNED AFTER ITS ADVOCATES LEAVE MASS MEETING

Progressives In Both Houses Plan Organization

CALL IS ISSUED FOR CONFERENCE OF PROGRESSIVES

Lead in Movement Taken by La Follette, Republican, and Huddleston, Democrat.

PLAN ORGANIZATION OF COHESIVE BLOC

Formation of National Council of Progressives, Without Regard to Party, Is Apparent Object.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, November 18.—A call for a national conference of progressives to meet here December 1 and 2 and organize a progressive group in congress was issued tonight by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and Representative Huddleston, democrat, Alabama, chairman and vice chairman respectively, of the people's legislative service.

Formation of not only a cohesive progressive bloc in senate and house, but also a national council of progressives, without regard to party, was the apparent object of the movement.

There was no mention of a third political party and before the call went out Senator La Follette declared a new party must be a matter of evolution and could not be established through meeting of any group of men and adoption of resolutions.

The call proposed a meeting of progressive leaders generally December 2. Invitations to the latter meeting were sent, it was announced to "a representative group of influential men and women throughout the country," whose names were not divulged.

Replies Are Asked.

Telegraphic replies were requested and it was said the names of those accepting would be announced as replies were received. Previous to announcement of the conference call Senator La Follette issued a statement declaring that the "time has now come for the organization of a well-defined group in support of accepted progressive principles and policies, and the defeat of the administration ship subsidy bill, proposed anti-strike legislation and projected transfer of federal forests to the interior department."

Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, chairman of the senate farm bloc, almost at the same time issued a statement declaiming against the ship subsidy bill and outlining a program of legislation including farm credits, prohibition of tax free securities, and reduction of freight rates and government taxes. Both Senators La Follette and Capper said their recent elections were a victory for the progressives over the reactionaries, but it was not apparent to what extent the plans of the farm bloc might coincide with those of the La Follette-Huddleston group.

The call issued by Senator La Follette, which he addressed to the latter with the latter a strong labor champion in the house, announced that it was "for the organization of an active working group in congress." The general conference December 2, it was said further, would include "leading progressives and not already actively affiliated with the people's legislative service," an organization formed two years ago at a dinner of senators, representatives and others.

"It was decided at that time that

VALENTINO TRIES TO BAR DIVORCED WIFE FROM NAME

Los Angeles, November 18.—Rodolfo Valentino, screen star, has filed in the superior court an answer to the petition of his divorced wife, Jean Acker, motion picture actress, for permission to change her name to Valentino. He objected.

He asserted that when he married his former wife his true name was Rodolfo Guglielmo, and that Rodolph Valentino was his stage name.

He asserted her only reason for attempting the change was that she might "advertise herself."

ATLANTAN'S BODY FOUND IN LAKE; SUSPECT SUICIDE

H. C. Bailey, L. & N. Passenger Agent, Found by Caddy in Lake at Brookhaven Club.

HIS COAT AND HAT ARE FOUND ON BANK

Coroner's Inquest Will Be Held Today—Deceased Had Planned Visit With Mother Sunday.

The body of H. C. Bailey, 53, division passenger agent for the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was discovered in the Brookhaven lake of the Capital City Country club, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. County police believe that he had taken his own life.

His coat and hat were found on the bank of the lake at a point near where the body was discovered in the water by two caddies who were searching for a golf ball. A railroad reservation to Louisville, where he had told relatives he was going Saturday night to visit his 80-year-old mother, was found in one of the pockets.

Coroner Paul Donehue will conduct an inquest at Patterson's chapel some time Sunday to determine the cause of his death. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

No Cause for Suicide

According to Albert H. Erwin, of 701 Highland avenue, the son-in-law of the railroad official, there is no known reason why Mr. Bailey should have decided to end his life, unless he had become depressed over ill health.

Mr. Bailey is thought to have been last seen alive at 2 o'clock when he drank a bottle of ginger ale in the Brookhaven club cafe. He talked for a moment with Evelyn Harris, of the Southern Bell Telephone company and other club members.

George Derricote and Vanzoff Clement, two small negro boys who work as caddies on the Brookhaven course, discovered the submerged body in the portion of the lake nearest the clubhouse. The discovery was made about 3 o'clock and was immediately reported to Eugene Stokes, caddy master.

Dr. Harry Vaughan, who was playing golf near No. 6 hole, was sum-

Schneider Will Face Grand Jury In Choir Mystery

Writ of Habeas Corpus Sworn Out for Man Who Found Two Bodies.

New Brunswick, N. J., November 18.—The first official step in the roundup of witnesses to appear before the grand jury Monday to testify in the Hall-Mills murder case was taken today, when a writ of habeas corpus for Raymond Schneider, who found the bodies of the minister and the sexton's wife, was given to the sheriff of Middlesex county.

Schneider is in jail on charges of perjury in connection with his pseudo confession several weeks ago, and also on a charge of impairing the morals of Pearl Bahmer, who was with him when the bodies were found.

In the legal wording of the writ demanding Schneider's appearance before the grand jury observers perceive an indication of a change in the plans for indictments. "To testify against John Doe, Richard Roe and Thomas Roe," is the phrase used.

Although it has been previously believed that indictments would be asked for two men and a woman, the legal fictitious name for a woman, "Jane Doe," is not used. Whether this was through oversight or because the prosecution had decided to ask indictments for three men was not made known.

As the preparations are being completed for the presentation of evidence to the grand jury, without any official announcement of the number or names of witnesses to be called, unofficial tabulations show that 52 persons have been mentioned in connection with the case in the nine weeks since the finding of the bodies.

GENERAL HARBORD WILL LEAVE ARMY

Officer Who Was Slated to Succeed Pershing Will Become President of the Radio Corporation.

Washington, November 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Retirement from the army of Major General James G. Harbord, deputy chief of staff, and one of the outstanding American military leaders in the world war, to accept the presidency of the Radio Corporation of America, was announced today by Secretary Weeks. He will be succeeded in Washington by Major General John L. Hines, now commanding the eighth corps area.

General Harbord's retirement becomes effective December 29 and he will take up his new duties January 1. He had been selected to succeed General Pershing as chief of staff on the latter's retirement, and Secretary Weeks said in his formal announcement that the loss to the active forces of the army through General Harbord's separation from the service "cannot be adequately expressed."

"We have not had in our military service, or in our government service, in any capacity, a man of higher qualities or one who has inspired in others a greater degree of confidence," said the war secretary. "The business he will enter is in its infancy and it will offer full scope for his abilities."

"He will prove himself a great leader in industrial and commercial affairs seems as certain to me as his great leadership in military activities. I have an acute sense of personal loss in his going. His ability and loyalty have been of vital importance to me in administering the affairs of the war department."

In his letter to Secretary Weeks applying for retirement, General Harbord pointed out that he had been on active service for 33 years, "having enlisted on January 10, 1889, with continuous service since enlistment, over 16 years of such service being abroad."

"Whenever occasion has offered during nearly 34 years of service," General Harbord's letter said, "I have been an advocate of opportunity for the younger men of the army. At this time of elimination, by some action, of hundreds of officers in the service, with whom they have dedicated themselves, I feel that my retirement, thus saving some man to the army, who would otherwise be lost to it, and affording promotion to younger officers for whom I step aside, is but consistent."

Mr. Johnston, as acting chairman of the radio corporation under consideration for almost a year. His acceptance was opposed by Secretary Weeks and other officials, including General Pershing.

The order will permit the Russians to resume production in textile mills after several years of idleness. Delivery at Petrograd is provided. The order amounts to approximately $6,000,000.

RAILROAD UNIONS DISCUSS ELECTION

Officials of Sixteen Roads Are Planning for Progressive Political Action.

Washington, November 18.—Officials of 16 railroad unions associated with the conference for progressive political action at an extended executive meeting today discussed the results of the elections, prepared estimates of strength which they can count on in congress as a result thereof, and gave some consideration to the direction which they may seek to give future governmental action.

The session will be continued tomorrow and will be merged with that of the executive committee of the same conference organization, which is to prepare plans for a general session of supporters of the group from all parts of the country, summoned to meet in Chicago, December 11.

Present were Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Engineers; W. H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, and chief executive of officers of shopcraft union and other railroad organizations. The session also included Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin; Basil M. Manley, former chairman of the war labor board, and Benjamin C. Marsh, of the farmers' national council.

Mr. Johnston, as acting chairman of the radio corporation under consideration for almost a year. His acceptance was opposed by Secretary Weeks and other officials, including General Pershing.

PEACHTREE ARCADE FIRE DRAWS CROWD

Several Thousand Dollars Damage to Drug Store Results From Stockroom Blaze Saturday.

Playing havoc with the trolley schedules and traffic in general, a fire broke out in the basement of the Peachtree Arcade after 6 o'clock Saturday evening and caused several thousand dollars' damage to drugs and chemicals in a storeroom of the Charles A. Smith Drug company.

Origin was traced to the electrical conduit. The entire arcade was thrown into darkness as a result of the damage to the conduit, and tenants who are accustomed to remaining open late on Saturday nights were forced to close early.

The Smith drug store, on the ground floor, was in no way damaged, and officials of the company stated that business will be carried on as usual, as the storeroom was used only for a surplus stock.

A tremendous crowd gathered when the building was seen to darken. No blaze was visible from the outside. When the fire engines arrived the entire arcade was filled with smoke and main entrances were closed to the public. After the flames in the basement were extinguished the big skylights were opened and the atmosphere is expected to be clear before business hours Monday.

Smoke from the burning rotted in a chimney atop the three-story brick building on the southwestern corner of Whitehall and Alabama caused a well-meaning citizen to turn in a general fire alarm at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Firemen quickly ascertained the cause of the alarm and with a few squirts of a hand extinguisher down the chimney the companies returned to their respective headquarters.

NEW YORK STATE DRY FORCE WILL GET SHAKE-UP

New York, November 18.—State prohibition headquarters made known tonight that fifty agents had been dropped from the force, on instructions of Acting State Director E. C. Yellowley, who now is in Washington.

Twenty-two of the men were employed in New York city, and the remainder up-state, it was said at headquarters.

No charges against the men dismissed were made public, but it was indicated that Mr. Yellowley's action was the first step in a reconstruction of the whole force, which has consisted of 250 men.

Mrs. Lewis Barrett And Robert Meyer Wed in Birmingham

Birmingham, November 18.—Mrs. Lewis Butt Barrett, widow of the late Edward Barrett, and until the recent change in ownership, the publisher of The Birmingham Age-Herald, was married this afternoon to Robert R. Meyer, of Birmingham, operator and owner of a number of hotels in southern cities. The ceremony was performed in the pastor's study by the Rev. George R. Stuart, of the First Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer left tonight for points in the east.

OBREGON ASSERTS MEXICO RESENTS U.S. CENSORSHIP

Heated Debate in Chamber Follows Charges That America Suggested Proposed Law Changes.

INTERFERENCE DENIED BY SECRETARY HUGHES

Confiscatory Policy of Mexico Has Stood in Way of Recognition of Country, He Asserts.

Mexico City, November 18.—(By the Associated Press).—All South and Central American republics were being informed today that Mexico resented any censorship of its legislation by the United States or other powers and that President Obregon's statement to that effect had secured for him a virtual vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies.

This action grew out of a heated debate in the chamber last night following the disclosure of a series of communications which are said to have recently passed between Foreign Secretary Pani and George T. Summerlin, the American chargé d'affaires. In these communications, Mr. Summerlin, speaking for the American state department, is alleged to have offered suggestions concerning the prospective petroleum law which is to be considered by congress. The Mexican government is represented as holding the opinion that these suggestions were intrusive.

Seldom has there been such vindictive speeches against the United States in the chamber when communications dating back to last October were read.

Were Personal Notes.

These letters, some of which were personal notes between Foreign Secretary Pani and Mr. Summerlin, were interpreted as an encroachment on the national sovereignty and the lower house, unanimously approving President Obregon's attitude, voted to inform all Latin-American countries of the Yankee attempts at imperialism.

According to the communications as put forward by Mr. Summerlin on October 19, last wrote a personal note to Secretary Pani enclosing a copy of a draft of a proposed petroleum law and a resolution.

COUNCIL IS URGED TO SUBMIT MATTER TO VOTE OF PEOPLE

Advocates of Site Attend Meeting in Large Numbers and Turbulent Session Ensues.

BOLT AS MAJOR GUINN IS DENIED THE FLOOR

Friends of Stockade Site Then Hold Own Meeting on the Steps of City Hall.

Resolutions condemning the selection of the stockade site for the Girls' High school were passed last night at a meeting in the Baptist Tabernacle following a turbulent early session which was featured by the withdrawal of a large percentage of those present.

The "bolters" walked out en masse, following Major R. J. Guinn, former president of the board of education and member of the bond commission, who left when he was refused the privilege of explaining why he had voted for the stockade site. This contingent then went to the steps of the city hall where they held a meeting of their own.

Leaders of the anti-stockade meeting claimed that their gathering had been "packed" with residents from the sections of the city adjacent to the proposed site, which was agreed upon by the bond commission and the board of education last week.

Want No Explanation.

Major Guinn asked that "before condemning the action of the two bodies that they be given an opportunity to explain the reason of their decision."

J. A. White stated that he was an instigator of the meeting; that the meeting was called for those who opposed the selection of the stockade site and that they did not desire to hear from anyone else.

Pandemonium ruled when Mr. Guinn rose, extended his apologies for attending and started out followed by those favoring the stockade site. This contingent went to the steps of the city hall where they held a meeting.

After the advocates of the stockade site had left the building, Dr. Hain led the congregation in prayer and Mayor Pro Tem Cochran, presiding, made the opening speech against the site.

He was opposed to the site, he said, on the grounds that he believed it unfair to locate the school in any outlying portion of the city; that he had opposed in council the selection of the Grant park site and all others which were not near the center of the city.

"Neither do we want to tell our children, starting now to school, that when you grow up you'll go to the stockade for school," he said.

Mr. White, who had caused the sudden leave-taking of Major Guinn, was the next speaker. "I am a real estate man," he began, "but I do not want to have anything to do with the purchase of a site for the high school.

"The people who just left here came for the sole purpose of wrecking and gaining control of this meeting. I came to prevent them. I have talked with Mr. Ashcraft, Mr. Innan and Judge Candler. They all wanted to know what was done in this meeting and tell why, as members of the bond commission, they oppose the selection of the stockade site. But we did not want them to do that."

A Little Series of Homely Talks---No. 15

Cattle and Hog Industry Important in Georgia, But Closer Study and Co-operation Is Needed

Among a great number of letters the L. W. Rogers Company is receiving from all parts of the state commanding us for the work we are trying to do in arousing Georgians to their possibilities in these series of advertisements, comes one from Governor-elect Clifford Walker. In it he asks us a question that, while we are not in position to go fully into detail in its discussion, is worth very serious consideration.

The idea advanced by the Governor-elect is one that we have continually called attention to, and in one instance, at least—that of milk—we have done much to remedy the situation.

Mr. Walker, after commanding us for the articles as a whole, and requesting that we "keep up the good lick," asks:

"How about a series of articles showing up the small prices given to the producer and the large prices paid by the consumer? In other words, I am told that cattle on the hoof sells around two cents a pound, while steak retails at 35 or 40 cents a pound. Look into this phase at your leisure. We certainly need information and a healthy public sentiment on business conditions—particularly where the farmer is interested."

The great trouble, as we have tried to show in other bulletins, and as the incoming Governor indicates, is that there is too much waste—too much lapse—between the producer and the ultimate consumer. This is the natural consequence of a lack of co-operation between producers in given communities or sections. This, however, may not apply to beef cattle and other live stock so much as it applies to some other products of Georgia.

It is because, too, of a LACK of QUALITY in many products—and this refers to cattle and hogs just as much as it applies to fruits, grain and vegetation.

And it is, doubtless, more or less this latter cause that brings about the situation noted in Mr. Walker's letter. For we find on pretty authoritative information that cattle which brings only about two cents per pound on hoof is hardly the cattle from which 40-cent steaks are cut.

Georgia, we find, is not paying as close attention to beef cattle raising as she ought. Only in just a few instances are there any individuals or concerns trying to produce in any considerable quantity beef cattle in Georgia. Those that are doing so are doing it well, and are producing just as good beef as can be produced anywhere—which shows that it can be done in Georgia.

But statistics would probably show less of this food commodity, as a whole, offered now than was available a few years ago. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that beef cattle raising—even though quite profitable in the end—is a somewhat long drawn-out and rather expensive business in the beginning. It takes quite a few years to get a good start in this line. It requires a good number of cattle to begin with, or a wait of three to five years before enough volume is secured to enjoy good profits. Then, again, it takes considerable pasture, and it takes considerable feed of the right sort for fattening cattle.

We say this, not in criticism of Georgia, but to show a situation as we believe it exists here. However, it could—and SHOULD—be improved; good Georgia beef cattle can find a ready market near at hand, and certainly it is profitable when once established.

That brings us back to the two-cent cattle Mr. Walker speaks of. Georgia cattle at such price—and there is considerable of it sold, no doubt, for that—is used largely for canning or where ground meat is desired. Certainly but little of it—if any at all—can be said to be offered as choice meats at 35 to 45 cents per pound.

GOOD beef cattle—the best in Georgia and a great deal that comes into Georgia from other states to be slaughtered, for this state isn't offering near enough of this kind—brings on the hoof from 6 to 9 cents—some as much as 11 cents—and bear in mind that only about 50 per cent of the weight of the cattle is salable as meat, so when 11 cents is paid it really means, after all, that 22 cents is paid for the meat that goes on the table.

In explanation, too, of the situation Mr. Walker speaks of, it must be remembered that only about 16 per cent of a beef carcass represents the higher-priced meats—that is the loin or porterhouse steaks at 40 to 45 cents—such as Mr. Walker, of course, has on his table.

So, when GOOD cattle are purchased for slaughtering, consumers must bear this in mind: There's first the expense of 6 to 8 cents per pound on hoof. Then comes shipping and loss of weight in shipping. To this freight must be added. Then comes the labor and overhead expense of the slaughtering and packing houses. To their profit must be added, of course, the retail market man's profit. When the beef is ready for slicing for the consumer, here is about the average percentage of the kinds of meat and the price it brings:

	Per Cent.	Retail Price
Round steak	.24	30 to 35c
Loaf Porterhouse	.16	40 to 45c
Blanks	.04	Around 10c
Ribs	.09	25 to 30c
Chucks	.25	Around 15c
Stew meat	.12	10 to 12c
Sirloin	.05	Around 15c
Suet	.04	Around 8c

THIRD ATTEMPT ON ALLEN'S LIFE

Bootleggers' Revenge Is Said Cause of Stabbing of Man—Grady Authorities Fear for His Life.

For the third time in two months an attempt was made early Saturday on the life of Sid A. Allen, 24, of 225 Mount View avenue. He was carried to Grady hospital at 2 o'clock Saturday morning with a deep gash under his left shoulder blade, inflicted, police were told, by L. B. Lanford, of 195 Ivy street, a surgeon at the hospital who was paid for the knife blade penetrated the lung.

Lanford escaped immediately after the cutting, but was arrested about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon by city officers. He was brought to police barracks where he was placed under a $100 bond.

Allen had been liberated from the police custody less than five hours before being cut. He had been arrested late Friday evening under a charge of being drunk and disorderly and also resisting Officer Glover.

At the hospital Allen told City Officers Hewell and Wood that he didn't know who stabbed him. Police obtained the information concerning Lanford's identity from a Miss Moore, who phoned Desk Lieutenant Shaw.

Police officials are working on the theory that because Allen is alleged to have been instrumental in the arrest of several bootleggers, an organized band of friends of the gang have banded together to kill Allen.

Several weeks ago Allen was almost stabbed to death by unknown parties and at a later date he was severely handled by unidentified persons.

Sat Brooklyn at Lunch.

According to M. J. Smith, manager of the country club, the railroad man ordered a substantial meal, and, after eating it, sat at the table for perhaps 40 minutes, apparently gazing into space.

He was more than an hour later when John Hartman and some companions gave him return to the table and drink a ginger ale.

According to Erwin, Mr. Bailey had planned to meet his wife, Mrs. Emma Bailey, who is visiting his mother, Mrs. Will Bailey of Louisville, on Sunday. He had gone to Louisville at the time of his departure for the Savannah convention, it was stated.

Mr. Bailey celebrated his thirty-fourth anniversary as an employee of the L. & N. last week. He is one of the best known railroad men in the south. Thirty-four years ago he and W. J. Mapother worked in the office of the general offices of the road at Louisville. Today Mapother is president and Bailey had attained one of the highest positions in the service. Before being transferred to Atlanta he was division passenger agent for the Chicago division.

On Personal Family.

Mr. Bailey was a member of one of Kentucky's most distinguished families. He was the son of the late Dr. Will Bailey, noted Kentucky surgeon.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Bailey is survived by his daughter, Mrs. A. L. Erwin, of 78 Highland avenue, and four grandchildren and three brothers. Dr. Will Bailey and Owen Bailey of Louisville, and Hewitt Bailey of New Albany, Ind.

Mr. Bailey had been one of the Capital City club's most active members. He also belonged to the Elks' club and other local organizations.

It was premature to attempt to organize the handful of progressives in the two houses of congress, said the call, "but without organization these members of congress who are devoted to the people's interest have struggled valiantly and nobly to win their ends and have won many important victories. They have blocked many vicious bills and have saved the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars and exposed some gigantic evils. But above all, they have let the people know what was happening in Washington."

"The people have responded. They have elected a very considerable number of senators and representatives with splendid records of fidelity to public service. They have done all that could be done at this election to express their views and the government shall be genuinely progressive."

"It is apparent therefore that the time is opportune for a conference to discuss a definite plan for the cooperation of all the progressives in congress."

Just what senators and representatives will join in the progressive move was not revealed but several have pointed out recently the desirability of some such a step. Among others, Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, has said that he planned to meet in conference with progressive members of the senate and house with a view to co-operation in legislation.

Two attacks upon women by negro footpads within less than an hour of each other were reported to the police Saturday evening. In one instance the negro robber shoved one of the victims to the sidewalk causing her head to become severely bruised on the pavement.

Those robbed were Mrs. A. H. Jones, 104 Whitfield terrace, and Mrs. Andrew Cranford, 85-Windsor street. The negro attacked Mrs. Jones as she passed by an alley near 135 South McDaniel street, about 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, while Mrs. Cranford was robbed about 6 o'clock in front of 27 Windsor street.

Mrs. Jones was shoved forward in White's address:

"Agricultural prices have advanced and agricultural commodities have increased 28 per cent over the low of 1921. Industrial commodities increased 18 per cent over the low of February, 1922. Increased supply has caused heavy buying. The recent rise in cotton is a bit too rapid to be healthy."

Battle Promised in Council on Proposed Stockade School Site

Joint Statement Is Issued By Three Members of Bond Commission.

Both factions to the controversy involving the city stockade property as a feasible site for the senior girls' high school were leveling their argument Saturday on members of council. The floor of council Monday afternoon is to be the next great gathering after the conflicting camps when Alderman J. L. Carpenter's resolution to submit the stockade issue to vote of the people will be fought out.

Where to locate the Girls' High school has proved the most perplexing question with which council, the board of education and bond commission have to do, since they have come to grips over the stockade tract.

Objectives Voted.

Opponents of the prison land voice a vehement protest at the "psychological suggestion" they declare will linger after the prison is removed.

Many express disbelief that the stockade will be taken away, pointing out that the city has appropriated no money for the purpose.

Among the other objections that have been put forth are the following:

The location is bad and the school built there would be contrary to the recommendations of the Columbia surveyors, which have been followed to the letter in locating other schools.

The site is adjoining what is described as an industrial area.

Street car facilities are totally inadequate. No lines run to the site.

The Fair street-Grant Park line passes within 400 yards of where the school is to stand. The Fair-street-Decatur line is almost a half mile distant.

Girls of the north side and West End section would be subjected to much loss of time and undue hardship to reach the school. Comparatively few students will live within walking distance of the site.

It is nearly two miles from Five Points to the proposed school.

Adherents of the site have set forth answers to the foregoing objections and submitted a long list of talking points in favor.

Selected Selections.

At the request of a number of citizens R. J. Guinn, J. W. Mason and Walter G. Cooper, members of the bond commission favorable to the stockade tract, issued a joint statement Saturday outlining their reasons for advocating it.

The statement by the three commissioners follows:

So much has been said on impulse, in connection with the proposed location for the Senior Girls' high school, that a statement of some of the principal grounds upon which the stockade site was selected should be given to the public. Other conclusions on this very important question may be reached by citizens who are interested only that a wise decision shall be made.

We have been asked by some of our associates with us in the bond commission who give us the opinion that the stockade is the best, to furnish a brief statement of the facts for the information of the public.

It is rather remarkable that the south end of the stockade property at Roswell street was selected as the site for the joint session of the bond commission and board of education without the intervention of any outside organization.

For all the months that the search has been going on for an appropriate girls' high school site, our commissioners have been to the stockade to examine this location.

It is doubtful if any member of the bond commission was approached by any person in behalf of this site. Its selection was solely the result of the irreducible logic of the facts.

It is generally known that for months a committee of citizens of Atlanta's public school system and needs the services of two of the highest authorities on public education in the country. This service is for the betterment of the public富裕地 projecting the organization of a public school system which would meet the demands of our city for the next year.

The report of the surveyors, therefore, should be given a hearing, and the bond commission, with the type and number of schools, whether high or primary, and for kindergarten and also approximately designated the location of each unit.

More Schools In Order.

While the recommendation at this time, with the bond issue, to build more than two senior high schools—one for boys and girls on the north side, and one each for the south and west sides. The general plan or organization was accepted and agreed upon by both bond commission and surveyors about six months ago. Up to this time, with practically no new need being chosen, there has been considerable conflict of opinion as to locations selected.

Since only two high schools could be built at this time, it was considered that the largest number of girls attending high school were in early training at the time, near the north end of Grant park, and at any other point in the city. It was decided that the ideal site was the north end of Grant park, which was accepted unanimously by both the board commission and bond commission, because of the fact that the Grant heirs, submitted the matter to the referendum of the people.

The people voted against it, not because of education, but because they did not wish to see the encroachment of encroachment upon park areas. In the discussion which preceded it, there was absolutely no opposition to that location.

The site chosen is the north end of Grant park, having been defeated by a vote of the bond commission to find a location still on the north side, and as far as possible to the center designation, at the end of Grant park. A diligent search has been made for the corner of Capitol avenue and Georgia avenue, and the surveyor showed that it was a short distance from the school site to the high school, and only a few cents and millions return. Stiffness, pain, headache, feverishness, inflamed or congested nose and head relieved with first dose. These safe, pleasant tablets cost only a few cents and millions now take them instead of sickening quinine.—(adv.)

Every druggist here guarantees each package of "Pape's Cold Compound" to break up any cold and end grippe misery in a few hours or money returned. Stiffness, pain, headache, feverishness, inflamed or congested nose and head relieved with first dose. These safe, pleasant tablets cost only a few cents and millions now take them instead of sickening quinine.—(adv.)

WHISTLE BOTTLERS HOLD CONVENTION

American Bottlers' Exposition Closes Saturday. Visitors Jubilant Over Success of Meeting Here.

The third annual one-day convention of the Whistle Company of America ended last night with a banquet, several vaudeville acts and dancing in the roof garden of the Ansley hotel. It has been the custom of the Whistle bottlers to hold their convention on the day following the closing of the convention of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages. The latter convention ended on Friday.

A brief address by Mayor James L. Key, "Here's to Your Health," formally opened the convention at 10:30 Saturday morning. Junior Owens, secretary of the National Bottlers' association, addressed the meeting on the aims of the A. B. C. B. organization.

Following these two addresses, a "merchandising comedy," entitled "The Big Idea," written by J. W. Goetz, of San Francisco, was shown for the first time. The cast included thirty members of the Whistle company, incidentally, carrying a strong lesson on "merchandising" to the bottlers. A winecock at the Ansley completed the morning's program.

FOOTE IS SPEAKER.

At 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon the final session began with a stirring address by W. O. Foote, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, who used as a subject, "Looking Forward and Fighting for Your Organization." Addresses on the correct method of labeling, poster advertising and the like were made by Arthur Stiegel of New York, and W. W. Widmeyer, secretary of the Whistle company, and W. H. McElroy, of Altona, and W. H. McElroy, respectively. These addresses were followed by a series of five-minute talks by Whistle bottlers on subjects of their own selection and relating to the industry.

At 6:45 o'clock Saturday evening 250 Whistle bottlers were guests of the Whistle Company of America at a banquet at the Ansley. In addition to the food Whistle sherbet and Whistle punch were served. The banquet was enlivened by witty remarks by individual clubmen. J. F. McElroy, of Chicago, who presided over the convention, and at the banquet table. Vocal solos, piano selections, vaudeville sketches and other forms of amusement followed the banquet. Several Atlanta artists starred, among them Harry North, monologist, and Barlow and Jennings, in comic relief. Mrs. William Fessell, of the Whistle company of Reading, Penn., delighted the banqueters with a vocal solo. Thus ended the convention of Whistle bottlers of the nation.

The officers of the Whistle company are: Vessa Jones, of New York city, president; Frank Newlyn, first vice, vice president; C. William Widmeyer, of New York, secretary, and

From the Cradle of the Republic

Philosophers and historians have found the stories of the Colonial pioneers a treasure-trove of inspiration.

It remained for Beverly artists to draw from the same sources the basic ideas for a group of lighting fixtures eminently suited for American homes.

Pilgrim and Mayflower are two of them. The very names bespeak the qualities so evident in the fixtures which bear them.

No Price Premium for Art in Beverly Lights

Ordinary fixtures cost as much as Beverly Lights. Pilgrim and Mayflower, reproductions of hand-wrought models, are examples of the artistic standard of all Beverly Lights. And the prices prove that Beverly Lights cost no more.

DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE WILL BOOST VOTING

Planes Laid for "Registration Week"—Dorsey Named President.

Coincident with the closing of the Whistle convention came the end of the exposition of carbonated beverages, which has been held in Atlanta during the past week at the auditorium-armory. The work of dismantling the huge machinery commenced last night, and throughout the week exhibition exhibits will be engaged in removing the various machinery and supply material which have been viewed during the past week by several thousand bottlers and interested people of Atlanta.

The combined bottlers' convention and exposition was the biggest event of its kind ever attempted, organized by individuals, clubs and the Young Men's Democratic League of Fulton county at the annual installation of officers held in the convention room of the chamber of commerce of Fulton county.

Admission was free, and there was a tremendous success in every way.

Scrap Session Of City Council Coming Monday

Stockade Site, Municipal Market, Coal Sales and Traffic Issues Up.

All indications point to a scrappy session of city council Monday afternoon, when new measures are expected to bring in hot fighting.

The stockade school controversy, the municipal market fight, the coal market resolution and a resolution to add two women members to the citizens' council traffic commission, will be up for action.

Alfred L. Carpenter has announced that he will offer a measure calling for a referendum on the stockade issue. Councilman J. A. Couch is the author of a resolution seeking the establishment of a municipal coal yard. The produce market matter is of long standing and has been the subject of many bitter clashes on the floor of council.

After the citizen-council traffic committee adjourned it was suggested that the Atlanta Woman's club should have representation on the body, and Miss Helen Douglas and Mrs. Norman Pool were invited to sit as representatives of that body. A member made the point, however, that since they were not regularly appointed members they were not entitled to vote. Council will be asked to designate them as regular members of the committee.

INDORSES "THE HAWK" AS MYSTERY PLAYLET

"The Hawk," a mystery play written by J. O. Wood, attorney and representative, for production by the Little Theater guild, was indorsed last week by both the剪影和 Atlanta Lodge No. 1 of the American-Hellenic Educational and Progressive society. The action was taken, it is said, because of the sympathetic fashion in which Mr. Wood dealt with the aspirations of Greeks in America.

The play is one of a series to be presented by the guild December 13.

Reviewers, including Parker Horne, found it as intriguing as "The Bat." Its motif comes from the ancient tradition that the hawk assumes the various characteristics of the animal on which it preys. It is in one act with two scenes, lasting 45 minutes.

Among members of the cast are Miss Beatrice Hamlett, who won distinction as "Mary Ivory" in "The Potboiler"; Newton C. Wing, F. H. Fulton, George Bush, and the author. Other plays to be given at the same time are "Comedy and Tragedy" by W. S. Gilbert, and "Pokey," by Philip Moeller.

Tampa, Fla., November 18.—The only witness to the death of Francisco Font, a 69-year-old dairyman who was found in his bedroom in west Tampa with his heart shot out, was his son, who could give no coherent account of the tragedy. A shotgun lay beside the body. Constable Martinez believes the aged man was murdered and has called a coroner's investigation for next Monday.

Colored "Y" Event.

Father and son day will be celebrated this afternoon at the colored Y. M. C. A., when Dr. W. G. Alexander will speak on "Things That I Would Do If I Were a Young Colored Boy." There will be several musical numbers by the boys, and some of the best talent in the city. During the past week several of the old members have renewed their membership and new applications have been received.

W.C.T.U. Fights Any Modification Of Volstead Act

Affairs Urged.

Philadelphia, November 18.—The biggest job of the prohibition workers is to hold on to prohibition, Miss Agnes E. Slack, of England, tonight declared in an address before the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Resolutions declaring unalterable opposition to any modification of the Volstead act were adopted. Resolutions also demanded recognition of a crusade for total abstinence, pledge signings, the education in the use of the ballot and a campaign urging all persons to exercise their right of franchise, giving support to dry candidates regardless of party affiliations.

Continued co-operation of the United States in world affairs, a responsible membership in peace, the prescription of war by international law and the reduction of world armaments to police forces were also urged. The convention unanimously resolved to oppose military training in schools. All officers of the national organization were re-elected.

PARENTS OBJECTED TO HIS FIANCÉ; COMMITTS SUICIDE

Anniston, Ala., November 18.—(Special)—Clay Currier, cashier of the First National bank of Jacksonville, committed suicide at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in a rear room of the bank. Most of the bank employees were in another part of the building, it was learned here tonight.

Mr. Currier's engagement to Miss Avery Caldwell, of Jacksonville, was announced a few weeks ago, and it was reported from Jacksonville Saturday that members of his family objected to the marriage. Worry over this objection is supposed to have caused the act of Saturday.

Mr. Currier's financial affairs were in splendid shape. He was an active church worker, a leader in civic affairs and was engaged extensively in stock raising and farming.

R. F. Maddox and Mrs. Boykin To Address Retail Merchants

Above, Robert F. Maddox; right, Mrs. B. M. Boykin, who will address Atlanta Retail Merchants Thursday.

Announcement that Mrs. Boykin will speak on attractive features in the salesmanship and service of Atlanta's retail stores will undoubtedly bring to the meeting the largest attendance of the year, officials declare. In dealing with her subject, Mrs. Boykin will view new developments of the retail trade of nearly 2,000 representative women who make up the membership of the woman's club.

Mr. Maddox, by reason of his long contact with industrial conditions in the south and throughout America, will bring to the treatment of his subject a wealth of ideas that will be truly valuable to all who hear him. As a banker who has closely watched the shifting scenes in the financial and business life of America, his views will be of considerable value as they affect the interests of retail merchants who are expected to make his address doubly interesting.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT KILLS ENGINEER

"Pair must have loaded the gun and handed it to me after I had finished cleaning it. I took it in my hand, and snapped the trigger—and I was dumbfounded. The bullet hit Pair on the side of his head, and taking a diagonal course came out just above his ear."

Pair was taken to Grady hospital, and at midnight was reported to be in a critical condition. Lindsey is being held without bail.

Pair was a stationary engineer, employed by the terminal company. His friends told the police that both he and Lindsey were on friendly terms, and so far as they knew they had every reason to believe Lindsey's story.

The officer who arrested Lindsey told the city police that they passed through the basement of the terminal building just a short time before the shooting and saw the two men sitting there talking. Lindsey in the act of cleaning the gun he fired the fatal shot with.

Poison Is Found In Bodies of Four Chicago Husbands

Chicago, November 18.—Poison sufficient to have caused the deaths of several persons has been found in the bodies of two more former husbands of Mrs. Tillie Klimek, Dr. William McNally, coroner's chemist, announced today. Mrs. Klimek and her son, Mr. Klimek, 28, of 1820 North Paulina street, were found dead in their home on charges of murder after bodies of a former husband of each. The case is to be presented to the grand jury next week.

Poison was found today in the bodies of George M. Klimek and Joseph Ruszkowski, who died under similar circumstances in October. Undersheriff Underhill has declared that the poison found was not used in the embalming fluid, according to the authorities. The bodies of five children, all relatives of one or both of the two men, are to be exhumed at once and examined, it was announced. The state is working on the theory that the series of husbands and other relatives of the women were poisoned in order that insurance might be collected.

Next Dose may Salivate, Shock Liver or Attack Bones

You know what calomel is. It's fiery; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It causes into your body like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel is the best thing that should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headache, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Vodou's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful every day to start you up and straighten you up after dinner and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, just go back and get your money!

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Vodou's Liver Tone straightens you up and keeps you healthy. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—(adv.)

Power Company Breaks Records In Laying Track

Downtown Peachtree Open to Traffic After Three Days' Work.

In the record working time of three nights, the Georgia Railway and Power company completed new track and paving on a 9-foot strip of Peachtree street between Auburn avenue and Walton street Saturday morning. The newest type of granite pavement was laid.

It was necessary to install new rails, ties, frogs and switches. The company, in a desire to inconvenience the public as little as possible, put 75 men to work at 6:30 o'clock Monday morning. The excavation work was completed by night, leaving which time the workers had to step aside for 1½ hours.

By Tuesday morning the street cars were running on new rails. Tuesday night the track was resurfaced and the concrete foundation for the pavement installed. Rain prevented any work Wednesday night. The pavement was laid Thursday and Thursday night, the work cleaned up before business hours Saturday morning. The company completed the work a day sooner than it was thought possible.

The record time was made by using the latest equipment for street railway work, including a derrick car for heavy rails, a different camp lamp for cutting rails, and electrically driven welding machines and drills.

LETTERS EVIDENCE
SUCCESS OF WGM
CANADIAN NIGHTListeners From Montreal to Quebec Hear Program—Party Joined in Singing "O, Canada."

In the Canadian night program arranged last Tuesday evening by Edward Clark, Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, moved another step toward radiophone entertainment.

The fact that this map was prepared for distribution by The Atlanta Constitution and the Ram McNally company insures its completeness and accuracy. It has detailed maps and complete lists of stations now in operation, together with radio personalities, sketches of radio personalities, difference of time in the different parts of the United States and a glossary of the terms used in radio.

Get New Station WGM

Scarce a night passes that radio listeners in a city don't pick up some new distant station. Atlanta has an hour of quiet, voluntarily given by the Atlanta Radio Club every night in the week, in which owners of the tube sets can listen to distant points. There now complete is what is really a necessity in the homes of such people. There isn't a thing that is lacking in this new atlas, which is of a convenient size.

Radio and radio communication is explained at the outset in this atlas, and then goes on to extracts from laws of the federal government regulating stations and prescribing for the operation of transmitters and broadcasting plants.

Even the call letters assigned to foreign countries and in use right now by the long-wave transmitters of Europe are found in this complete atlas. Every high-power radio station in the world is listed with its call letters, wave-lengths and location.

Government Stations Listed.

Government radio stations are listed separately with call letters, wave-lengths and location.

Amateurs will find unusual value in the new Ram McNally atlas for the big amateur transmitting plants are listed with call letters and locations.

This atlas is being distributed through the circulation department of The Atlanta Constitution and can be obtained by bringing 25 cents to Mr. J. W. Griffith, manager of the second floor of The Constitution building.

The orchestra is directed by Earle A. Helton, and has as its business manager, Wendell J. Helton, both of whom are excellent musicians. The orchestra last night was assisted by Mrs. Warren Massey, pianist, who played the piano accompaniments for special numbers by the Helton brothers.

Both of the Helton brothers are excellent musicians and with them was W. B. Griffith, banjoist, whose work last night was heard very well.

The Heltons opened their program with "Hot Lips," which they played in the approved way of the modern dances. Following this with the French horn solo, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," Earle A. Helton, pianist, and French horn duet by the Heltons with Mrs. Massey.

This was an excellent number in which Mrs. Massey accompanied Mr. Helton.

The next two offerings were popular numbers. One was "Lonesome Mama Blues," by the orchestra, and the other was the "Memphis Blues," a saxophone solo by Wendell J. Helton.

"Out of the Shadows," a pretty waltz, was the Heltons' next offering with the orchestra.

Earle Helton demonstrated his ability at the piano with his solo, "Kitten in the Keys," which was the next number. This was followed by "The Rose," a piano and French horn duet by the Heltons with Mrs. Massey at the piano.

Two request numbers concluded the program. One was "Three O'clock in the Morning," by the orchestra, and the other was the French horn solo, "O Sole Mio."

Another from Montreal is being written by Charles H. Johnson, 33 Bedford Street, the "Prince of Quebec." He writes,

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to write and congratulate you on your special Canadian night for radio fans. I have been able to pick up your station on previous occasions and was delighted to hear your concert for the purpose of more securely cementing international friendship."

"Would you kindly advise me your regular evenings for broadcasting concerts so we will surely listen in for you in the future?"

Another from Montreal.

Still another letter from Montreal is being written by Charles H. Johnson, 33 Bedford Street. He writes,

"I am very glad to let you know that our station has gone to the air for the first time. We all joined the chorus and sang 'O Canada' concluding the program."

"I think it says volumes for you station when I tell you that all I have in a single detector and my panel is of soft wood."

From Winnipeg J. C. Dinnen writes of the Canadian night program.

PRETTY WOMEN IN POLITICS HIT
BY MRS. PROAL

Elizabeth N. J., November 19, 1922
To members not to select pretty women as officers at the annual convention of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs at Atlantic City in May, has been made by Mrs. A. B. Proal.

Mrs. Proal is state president, and her appeal was made when she appeared before 200 delegates at the convention of clubs of the fifth New Jersey district, held recently in part. "Popularity or good looks should not be given undue consideration," she said. "These are external things and amount to very little. We must have leadership to maintain democracy. I do not like to use the word 'lesbian,' but sometimes it is true that co-women do not give their hearty support to those who have the qualities for leadership."

Robbers Use Ladder.

In burglarizing the residence of Mr. Goddard the thieves waxed bold. They hauled a long ladder, placed it beside an upstairs bedroom window and stealthily entered the room, while the occupant was sound asleep. The robbery is believed to be members of Mr. Goddard's family to have occurred between 1 and 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

Among the articles of jewelry listed as missing are a brooch, set with diamonds and pearls valued at $300; a lady's watch set with diamonds and valued at $200; two gold pins and a ring.

Mr. Goddard told officers he did not believe the thieves employed the use of chloroform, as he was unable to detect any scent of the drug when members of the family awakened.

Cleanout Pickpockets.

The vicinity of the Walton street passenger station of the Georgia Railway and Power company has become infested with pickpockets, according to the special order issued Saturday morning by Chief Beavers to the heads of the various departments, instructing that they employ every means possible to jail the thieves.

Chief Beavers, in his special order, recited the fact that within the last two or three days an old confederate of the station, who was carrying more than $300 in his nimble-fingered hands, and an out-of-town man had his pockets picked of more than $200.

"This is a condition that must not exist and every agency of the police department will be put to work to clean the city of these thieves," said Chief Beavers Saturday night.

Auto Theft Suspects.

Four young men arrested about 3 o'clock Saturday morning by Patrolman Paul Morgan and C. G. Officers Davis Marshall, John Woods, who suspected them of the theft of an automobile, were turned over to Provost General Bernard J. McFeely, of Camp Benning, Columbus, Saturday afternoon.

The men gave their names as George Hendrickson, 26, former corporal at Camp Benning; Paul Kline, 20, and R. E. Neal, 21, also natives of Fort Benning, and Lee Huff, 20, who gave his occupation as a farmer and his home as Deering.

According to Officer Morgan, the men stopped the automobile shortly before 3 o'clock by The Constitution building on Forsyth street, going into the newsroom office to inquire concerning route or road map. The officer became suspicious, and he stated, they tried to dodge him, refusing to come near the auto while he was there.

Hiding in a nearby garage, the officer captured Hickson and Huff as they returned toward the church. The soldiers in uniforms, going out Hunter street toward Madison avenue. Both Huff and Hickson denied being in the auto at first, the officers stated, but a suit case containing several letters and other effects of Hickson is said to have been found in the car. The soldiers were later taken into custody at the terminals.

Heavy Advance Seat Sale For Great Chorus Event

CONDUCTOR ALEXANDER KOSHETZ

Those who are planning to hear the Ukrainian National chorus, declared to be the most distinctive and unusual musical entertainment that will be heard in Atlanta this season, are advised to secure their seats at the earliest possible moment as the sale has now been in progress in Cable hall since last Wednesday and choice seats are going rapidly.

The Ukrainian National chorus, perfectly trained and directed by a master conductor, Alexander Koshetz, will entertain without interruption November 29, and through that influence also that the price of seats was reduced from a maximum charge of $3, the cost at other points, to $2, which will be the cost for box and arena seats at the auditorium; $1.50 for dress circle, and $1 for balcony seats.

Sale of tickets up to this time has been highly gratifying, officials say, and indicates a splendid audience for the Atlanta appearance. The chorus has sung to crowded houses everywhere and hundreds have been turned away unable to secure admission. Tickets may be secured at Cable hall up to the night of the concert.

It is said that a number of Atlanta's schools and colleges for young women are planning to attend the performance in Cable hall, and for this purpose are already being secured and officials of the music festival association anticipate a large representation from the leading educational institutions in Atlanta and vicinity will take advantage of the opportunity to hear this unusual attraction.

The Ukrainian National chorus, being brought to Atlanta for a performance in Cable hall, will be conducted by a veritable "human orchestra," in which the vocal orchestral accompaniment is nothing short of marvelous, and is achieved, it is said with an ease and control that has rarely if ever been equalled.

To its eminent Cossack conductor is due the artistic credit for this unique choral achievement. He has trained and perfected this company to a degree of skill and finish that is a veritable "human symphony orchestra," as it has been called, both in Europe and in this country; and its every tone is said to be instinct with the guiding influence that stands before it, conducting without the baton, but bringing out the tones and effects that it wants, as if by magic.

Charges Secret Divorce in Suit For Annulment

Woman Alleges Husband Lived With Her After Wedding Another.

Charged with secretly divorcing his wife and marrying another woman unknown to wife No. 1, William J. Blanton, Jr., Saturday was made defendant in divorce annulment proceedings in the Fulton county superior court.

The plaintiff in the action is his first wife, Mrs. Jessie Blanton, who, in her petition, states that while she was in Columbus, Ga., in 1919, her husband had set up housekeeping with another woman, his confidante. She alleged that the papers were served Ada Clark, who, it is alleged, was living with Blanton at the time.

After the final decree was granted Blanton, on July 9, 1920, he married Miss Evelyn Grier, 136 West Peachtree street, while still representing himself as a bachelor.

Mrs. Blanton stated she continued to live with her husband until a few weeks ago, when, becoming suspicious of his actions, questioned him. His alleged coup was revealed to her, it was stated, by Roy Drennan, counsel for Blanton.

best known and most popular of Atlanta's eating houses. It has made a splendid reputation in the past for its delightful home cooking and for its splendid service. Several months ago its management began the making of a tea room and tearoom, which have been served very generously at soda fountains and other eating places. Its cakes have likewise proven very popular, and this feature of the Daffodil business has become so large and so important that only recently the Daffodil Cake Company, Inc., was organized.

It is planned to make the baking of cakes a specialty, following the delicious methods of goodness it has pursued in the past, and under the management of the cake company will also be operated the Daffodil tearoom.

Mr. Coolidge is popularly known among a large number of Atlanta's citizens. His wide business experience in handling fruits and edibles of various kinds, and his uniform courtesy in dealing with the public, will make him an added asset to the Daffodil forces. He is one of the leading active members of the Elks, and holds membership, too, in other fraternal and civic bodies, as well as being an active worker in his church. His friends are justified in believing that Daffodil cakes and sandwiches, and the other delicacies will be given further prestige under his management.

Georgia Bulldogs Are Defeated by Vanderbilt 12 to 0

PASSING OF VANDY FEATURES

Vanderbilt Scires in First Quarter and Repeats in Third by Using Long Forward Passes.

WORK ON SCHEDULE.

Charlotte, N. C., November 18.—North Carolina and Georgia universities are negotiating for a football game next year and may play if they can arrange their schedules. Charles T. Woolen, graduate manager of both North Carolina and Carolina, said tonight. He added that North Carolina would not play Georgia Tech and in reply to questions said Tech had sought a game but that North Carolina's policy was to play its state teams and what universities from nearby states it could.

BY HOMER GEORGE.
Athens, Ga., November 18.—(Special)—Forward passes tell the story. Vanderbilt had them—the kind that stick. As a result Georgia went down in defeat by a score of 12 to 0 in a game with the Commodores from Nashville.

It was a thrilling game, full of spectacular plays, with Vanderbilt keeping the ball in the Georgia territory the greater part of the time. But passes, passes, passes scored the points or gave Vandy her chance to score from a few yards of the goal line.

Georgia tried many passes, but failed to make them stick. Georgia made one terrific rushing effort and took the ball to the Vanderbilt 2-yard line but there lost on downs, lacking the final punch to take it over. She had done well to go 30 yards but she could not make it. That was her only opportunity to score. Twice this year Georgia has gone down to defeat through long forward passes. One time she was tied by the same kind of plays. And today it was the same story as against Auburn and Virginia. And she lost them to scores by a long pass and so did Virginia. Vanderbilt did the same, scoring on the play of one pass and getting inside the 5-yard line on the other.

Use Long Passes.

Vanderbilt used long forward passes and they were completed, that is, entirely completed to give two touchdowns. Georgia tried short passes mostly but a few of them were completed; they did not figure in giving her a chance. One got through in that long rush when it seemed that the Bulldogs would score, but aside from this Georgia could not get any passes worth counting.

Vandy made her touchdowns in the first and the third quarters. Georgia had her one real chance to score in the second half, having carried the ball from her 27-yard line to the Vandy 2-yard line, where it was lost as a pass was grounded in the fourth down effort to get a touchdown on the route with the Commodores line held.

This was home-coming day for Georgia and hundreds of her alumni came to town from all parts of the country. Notables, ranging from Governor-elect Clifford Walker to lively hard-working newspaper reporters and lawyers, were in the crowd. And again this assemblage filled the stands completely and overflowed into the bleachers. The students' stand was packed with the wildly-yelling cheering crew which never stopped trying to help the Bulldogs with its encouragement.

Plenty Of Spirit.

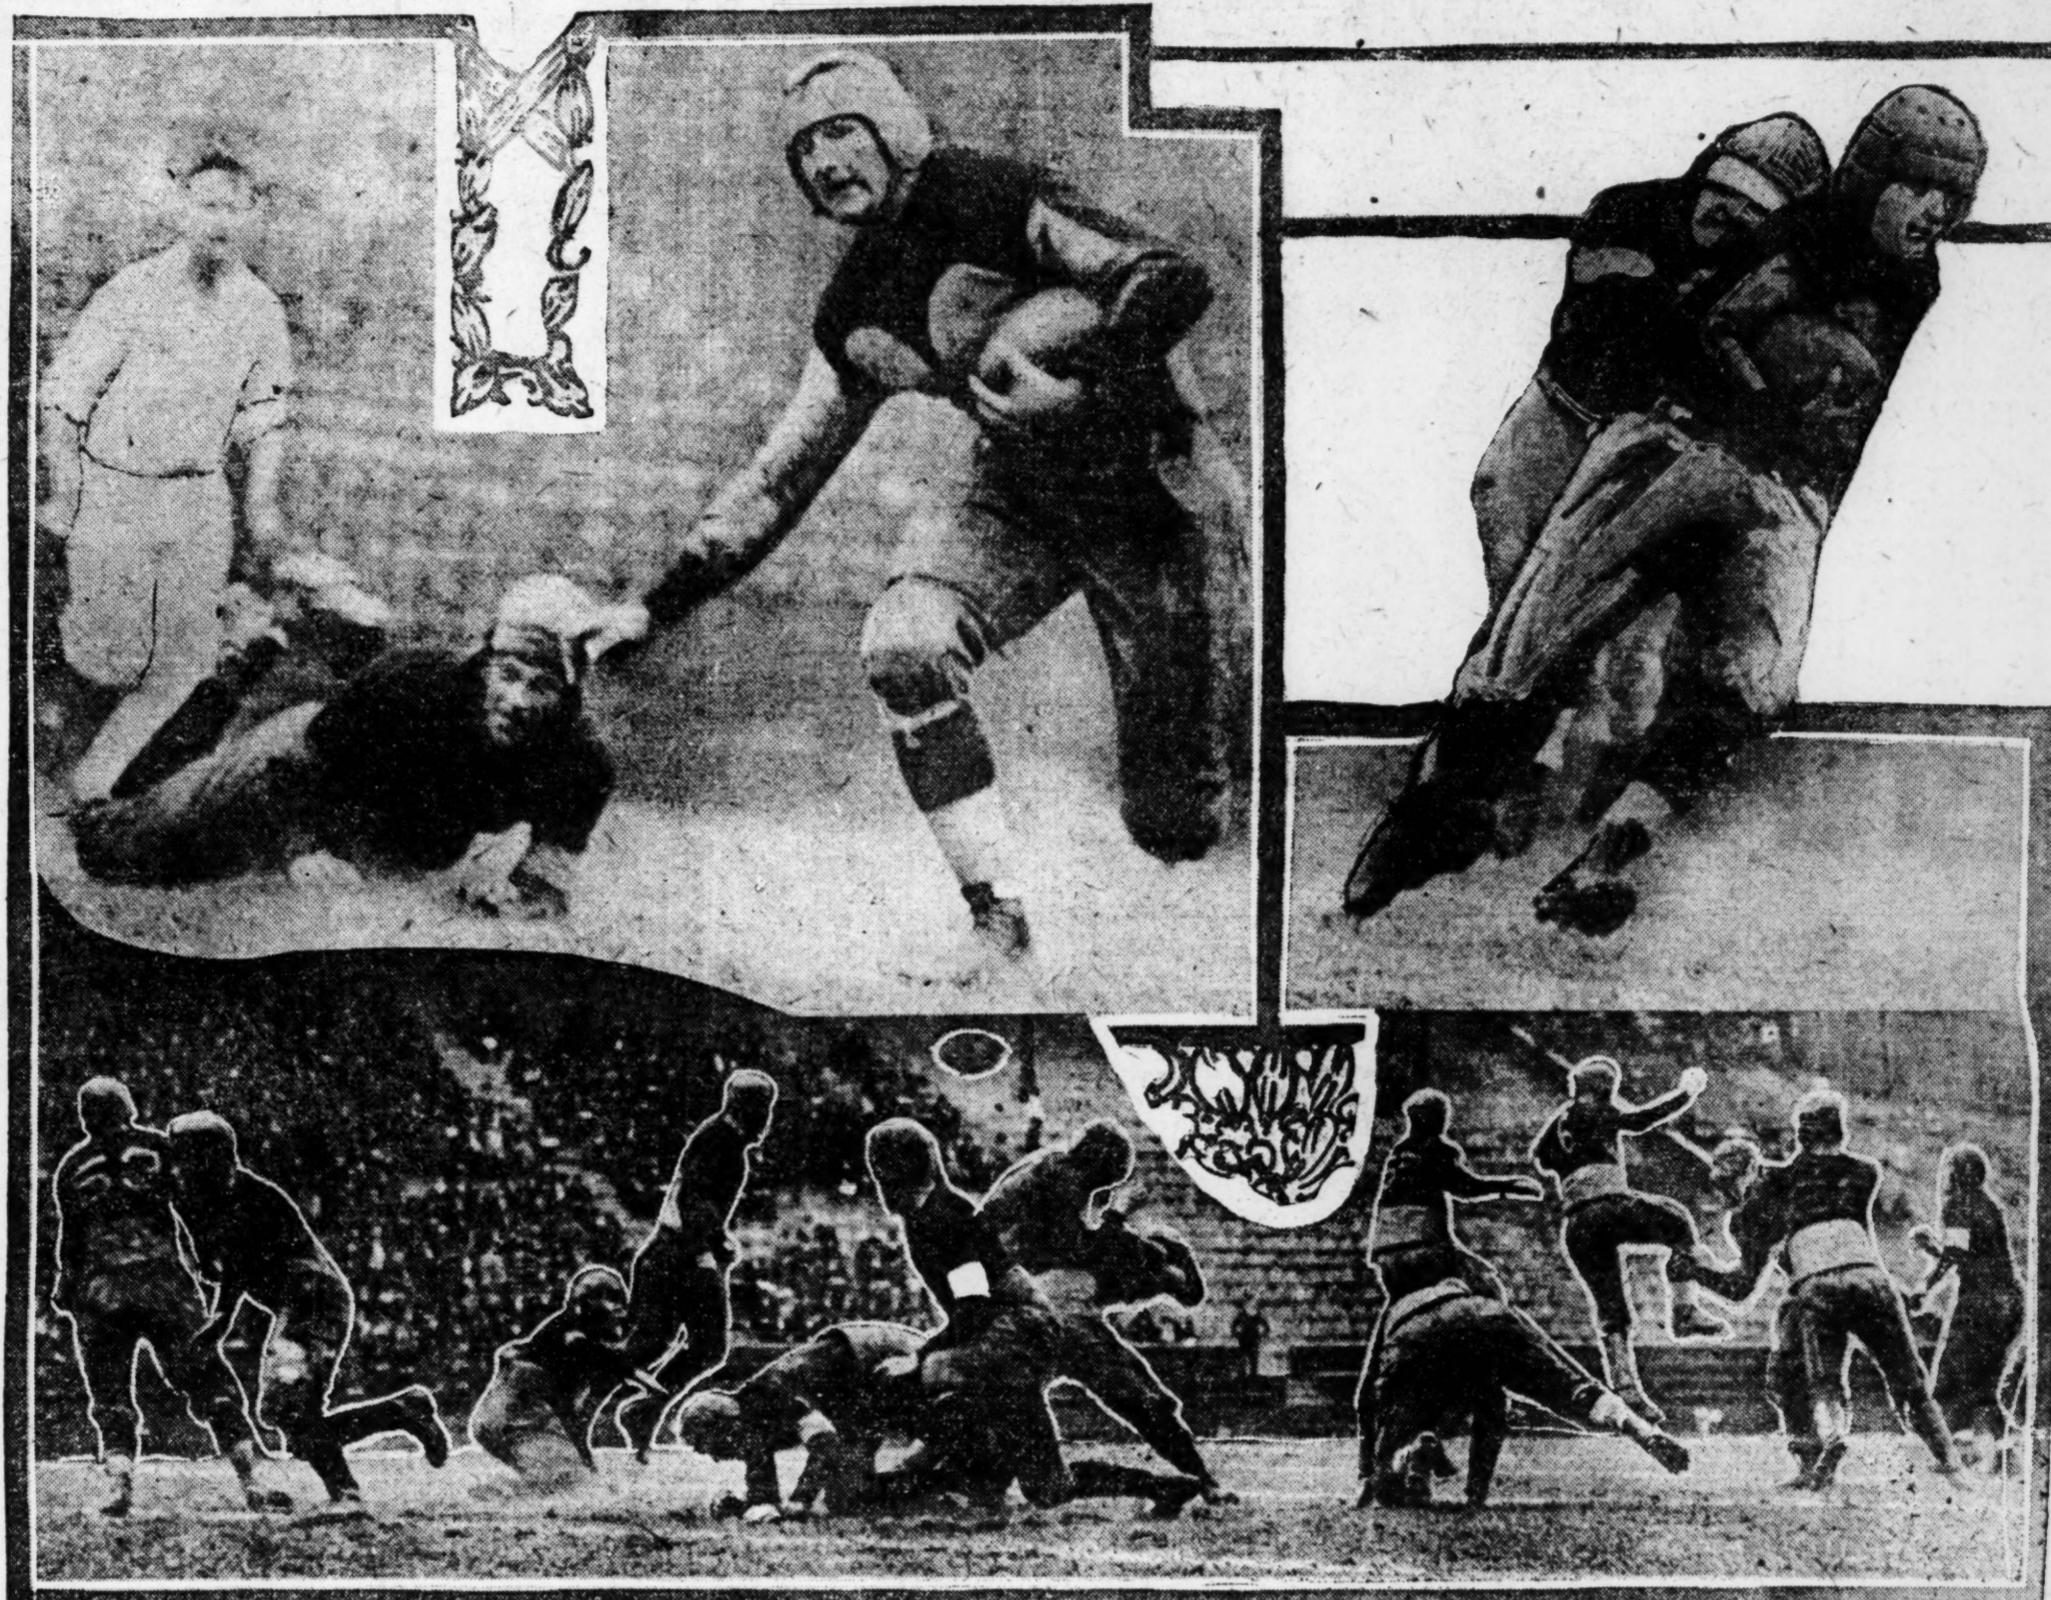

Browns and socks, Blacks and stripes of all kinds intermingled with the plain colors of the men, the glorious womanhood standing out superbly in the great picture made. From one end of the vast grand stand to the other it was the same thing. Laughter, cheers and smiles intermingled with the tears. And after ten years as one team or the other sprang forth in gains. With all the Georgia crowd present Vandy had a decided following of her own in the bunch to give yells of gladness when her team scored. It was the biggest crowd of the year. Sanford field by all odds.

Georgia had a very strong defense, was the outstanding hero for Vanderbilt. Weighing 205 pounds and standing six feet and one inch in height, fast and hard running, he was on the receiving end of the passes which wrought havoc to Georgia. Powerful in the extreme are sure when running, but when he drops down the ball forty to fifty yards and be ready when one of those long passes was shot to him. Yale threw the first one to him and the second came from Kuhn.

And boy, such passes as they were, it was a sight to behold as the big giant did his best to catch them. He knew just where to go and when to stop for the pass, so carefully had the throws been figured out and so rigorously had he been coached. It was perfection and the most ardent Georgia rooters had to take off their hats in salute to the Commodores end. Perfection—that's what it is.

Coach In Posing.

Last night Coach Dan McGugin told me he hardly hoped to score except possibly by forward passing. He said his team had been very carefully coached in such plays and he would count on the speed of his men with such plays to score. I wrote that this morning. This afternoon that is just what happened. Vanderbilt was practically helpless when O'Hearn, sent in by Yale as a last resort, made a magnificent try from the 45-yard line. The ball sailed

Princeton Used Weapons Better Than Yale--Camp; Smith's Goal Wins Game

Statistics Show That Yale Gained More Ground Than Victorious Tiger, But Lacked the Finishing Punch.

BY WALTER CAMP.

Princeton, N. J., November 18.—The raging Princeton Tiger won the undisputed championship of the so-called big three here this afternoon that came when Substitute Ken Smith, in the third period, booted a drop-kick over the posts.

The Orange and Black victory was due to more skillful and less supply of weapons than were possessed by Yale. Princeton had not as many weapons as Yale, but used every one to the limit; Princeton had no such powerful plunger into the line as Yale had in Jordan, but the Tigers used every man to the utmost of his strength.

Princeton had just the one opportunity to score in the whole of the bitterly-fought contest, and when unable to penetrate the stalwart Yale defense with a running game, the home team took the drop-kick route and hung up the points which entitled them to win the game.

Princeton showed more in her running attack than she did in the game with Harvard, although she scored less. But Yale did not give today's winner such an opportunity as did Harvard when Kehre last week fumbled and allowed Princeton to get to the two-yard line. Yale had the more skillful and powerful attack today and showed it by advancing the ball down close to Princeton's goal line in the first quarter there was but one yard to go. A touchdown seemed assured. The adherents of both teams thought Yale would cross the Tiger goal line, Against all might attack, Jordan, the Tiger line held like a rock, and Yale recovered it.

Georgia played a magnificent game and fought with terrific might from start to finish. She was a winning team but she played a losing game and there was hardly a time when it did not look as if Vandy would come off with the big end of the score. Her strategy won for Vanderbilt and there is no getting away from it. That is, her strategy and forward passes. She seemed to know that she directly toward the middle of the posts but was just short.

For a moment it looked as if Yale would surely come through for both Jordan and Nease were making good gains against Princeton.

But when the teams came on to the field for the third quarter there seemed to be a mental and physical weariness on Yale's part, and Princeton seized upon the opportunity, and for the first time in the game gained a variety of plays and attacking power and a whirling offense which Yale could not stop until too late. A successful forward pass, followed by two deceptive double plays, caught Yale napping and carried Princeton into the field. But after Princeton had made the successful drop-kick Yale came back with several desperate sprints which brought the blue partisans to their feet with joyous hopes.

Three times Yale carried her attack into Princeton territory only to be stalled before she could transfer her efforts into figures on the score board. When Jordan lost his grand opportunity in the early part of the game through being sent into the goal post, it did not at that time seem very likely that Yale would go on to victory and her adherents believed she would wait within striking distance again.

But as the periods passed it became more and more manifest that this occasion was to remain Yale's only golden opportunity to win the game.

A gashly block of a wild attempt by O'Leary in the last period for a goal carry nearly near driving Princeton another score.

Fortunately for the Blue, the ball shot downward instead of back over Jordan's head, and Yale recovered it.

As to the quality of play, Yale's forward passing was better concealed than Princeton's, but it did not offer much chance for big gains like Princeton's did. Yale's attacks with Jordan were better than anything Princeton had, but it was largely the speed and power of the big back that carried him through.

HOREMANS IN BILLIARD WIN

New York, November 18.—In a sensational finish Edouard Horemans, the Belgian, defeated Welker Cochran in the tenth game of the international 18.2 balk line billiard championship today.

Horemans came from behind at the close to win by an unfinished run of 2077. It was another masterpiece of masse, and close nursing. Otherwise the Belgian's string was uncertain and he had trailed much of the time.

His other runs were 96 and 81, and his average 24.77.

Cochran was unavailable, and his career play was interesting. His average was 23.14-17 and his high 103, 93 and 87.

The score by innings follows:

Edouard Horemans, spot ball: 34, 0, 2, 9, 9, 81, 2, 8, 96, 7, 0, 2, 9, 0, 3, 15, 2077. Total 2077.

Georgia Tech Has Easy Job Beating N. C. State; Many Players Are Used

Varsity Backfield Starts Game But is Withdrawn After Jackets Send Over Two Touchdowns—Barron Is Star.

BY PAUL WARWICK.

Subtract that extra flare of brilliance which "Red" Barron displayed in honor of his approaching mauls and the wholly correct and admirable manner in which Ivie Reeves, substitute halfback, guided the ball with his toe from the 40-yard line to the place where all good drop-kicks go—and the game in which Georgia Tech defeated North Carolina State 17 to 0 Saturday afternoon was similar in all respects to several others which have given the crowds on both sides more fun than their money's worth during the current, if now dawning, season.

For it was the old story. Here was a team pitted against Tech which was wholly at a loss to stop the regular backfield or to dent the regular line. But with the substitution of Red to Tech's detriment, the much

ALABAMA IS BEATEN 6-0

Lexington, Ky., November 18.—The University of Alabama was defeated today by the Wildcats of the University of Kentucky, 6 to 0, in the most bitterly fought gridiron battle in the history of Stoll field, Kentucky's lone touchdown game in the first quarter, and with the result line plunger by Curtis Sanders, a pass from Fuller to Hollowell and an end run by Fuller. Fuller failed to kick goal.

The teams fought on even terms for the first half with the play inside the 40-yard lines. Only two first downs were made in the first half, one to the credit of each team. At the start of the second half, Kentucky started off with a devastating attack and had crossed the Crimson goal line before Alabama got into action.

What advantage there was on the Kentucky side of the ledger.

Only four penalties were imposed in the clash, two on Kentucky and the same number on Alabama.

Open Aerial Attack.

When it was seen by the Alabama quarterback that no gains could be made through the line, Alabama opened up its complete aerial attack and although the visitors completed some for good gains, the Wildcats knocked them down or intercepted them at the critical moments. Kentucky made eight first downs to four for Alabama.

Alabama turned back in a drive for all-out gridiron honors, fought desperately for the win from the Wildcats' favor. The field was virtually a sea of mud, and numerous fumbles marred the work on both sides. The Kentucky line was at a disadvantage in weight, but held solid against the attacks of the Alabama backs.

The game was a fitting climax to the gridiron careers of four Kentuckians players, Pribble, Fuller, Fest and Colpitts.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR CLEMSON

Clemson College, S. C., November 18.—(Special)—It is possible that the Clemson Tigers will line up against Furman on the kick-off at Greenville, Saturday, bedecked with new and gaudy uniforms of orange instead of solid purple. Furman and Clemson both use purple as the body for their uniforms, and with head gears alike, the only distinguishing feature of the uniforms is Furman's white stockings contrasting with Clemson's purple stockings.

As a consequence there is likely to be quite a bit of confusion in forward passing, etc., unless the above mentioned change is made and in itself changes the way the Tigers can maneuver themselves with the new uniform scheme. It is a well recognized fact that dark uniforms make a team look small while those of the bright colors seem to magnify the size of the players and as a result all coaches drift more or less to the dark colors for their teams.

This is a little secret seldom disclosed by the coaches and yet is a well known fact that the brighter colors accentuate size if it does not actually magnify it in the eyes of the spectator. For instance any team wearing red jerseys is always known as the "Big Red Team" regardless of the possibility that actual avoidance may be lacking on such a color.

In speaking of this color question Thursday Coach Stewart said: "Your mother will tell you that feminine members of her family shunned red for dresses if said feminine member chanced to be stout or fat," and for the same reason coaches for a great many years who believed that football players are light weight, choose the dark colors for the body of uniforms instead of the brighter colors.

PITT BURIES GRID HATCHET

Pittsburgh, November 18.—(Special)—Of interest to every football fan in Western Pennsylvania and to the alumni of Carnegie Tech throughout the country was the announcement last week from officials of both institutions that athletic relations between the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech had been renewed after a lapse of three years. Pitt severed relations after a mix-up during a football game in 1920, and weeks later the hatchet was announced that it had offered Carnegie a game on its 1922 schedule late in October. The date was accepted, and it is believed that the schools will also meet in other branches of sport even before the fall of 1923.

Starting next fall, Carnegie Tech will present the freshman gridiron. Previously the mandatory rule was adopted so the Skibos are now working under the same eligibility rules as the University of Pittsburgh and, in fact, any other big institution.

Northeastern has not appeared in these parts for some time, and there has been a big demand for its appearance among its former students. "Bo's" Team Wins.

Louisville, Ky., November 18.—Centenary college, coached by "Bo" McMillin, former Centre college all-American star, completely outclassed the University of Louisville football team on the latter's field here today. Final score was 38 to 13.

Tennessee Shoots Over Two Touchdowns in the First Half and Stops Sewanee's Splendid Drive.

Chattanooga, Tenn., November 18. (Special)—Grabbing the bit in its teeth at the very start this afternoon, University of Tennessee football team aviated its way to an 18 to 7 victory over Sewanee before the Tiger had hardly begun to fight. Just at the time when it seemed that Sewanee was about to be smothered beneath a big score, with two touchdowns already made, the Tiger got his claws into the ground and began to fight back. Then came a great transformation. First, he stopped, then he blocked and panted gave Sewanee a touchdown, and immediately after Nicholson's men promenaded up field.

TOURNEY FOR NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., November 18.—(Special)—Plans for the holding of the annual open championship in New Orleans are bringing the city about 50 of the leading "pros" in the game today, being performed by the New Orleans Golf association, Harris P. Ralston, secretary, announced Saturday that he had as assurance from John Bredenius, the manager of the golf and professional champion, and Jock Hutchison, former British champion, who are touring the country, will come here to take part. The dates for the tournament are February 15, 16 and 17.

Besides making plans for the open tournament, the association decided to hold the men's city championship here during the month of May. No dates have been fixed as yet. The women golfers will play off their city championship tournament in April.

No attempt is going to be made this year to get a sanction from the Southern Golf Association to hold the open tournament. It is to be known that the New Orleans tournament will be held in the month of April.

The public believe that their football players are light weight, choose the dark colors for the body of uniforms instead of the brighter colors.

Walter Camp Drops Hints About All-Star Machine; "Red" Barron Mentioned

Football's Noted Authority is Much Impressed With Work of Castner, Notre Dame Star; Kipke and Kirk Good.

BY WALTER CAMP. New York, Nov. 18.—Enthusiasm cannot afford to overlook the mid-western horizon in looking for stars in the 1922 football firmament between now and the end of the season. Not all the crucial contests have been played but there are many players there who have shown sufficient ability to repay close inspection.

Those who have an opportunity to do so are advised to take a good look at Kirk, one of Michigan's Reed, and Kipke, Yost's backfield star. John Thomas, the plunging, lunging backfield man of Stagg at Chicago, is worthy of close scrutiny. So is Barkin, the Ohio center, if he can again before the season closes. Thousands already have had an opportunity to judge his class in the east against Yale at New Haven. Gordon Locke, fullback of Iowa, also commands attention whenever he is on the field.

It also would do no harm for lovers of football to cast a glance at Martineau, the Minnesota back, and this applies also to Williams, of Wisconsin, that clever forward passer; Workman, of Ohio State; Castner, of Notre Dame; Muirhead, the Michigan tackle, and Tebeck and Holfield, the Wisconsin end guard.

Others who will never inspection in the midwest are Pixley, the big guard of Ohio State; Kadesky, the Iowa end; Horaker, who plays end for Ohio State; Heldt, of Iowa, who can alternate at center or tackle.

In the east, watch Cruikshank, the Yale guard. Captain Miller, of Pennsylvania, although diminutive, is worthy of close attention and Wilson, of Penn State, is coming into his own. His teammate, McMahon, the giant tackle, with his tremendous reach is worth study, and so does the small end guard, Wood.

Now all the football fatalities occur on the field of play. Professor Frank S. Hayden, of Illinois, recently dropped dead while watching the Illinois team in a game against Carthage. Excitement is believed to have been the cause. He was a Yale graduate.

Heavy Florida Team Batters Down Tulane's Defense and Wins, 27-6

Eddie Reed, Tulane Star, Knocked Out Early in Game and Resistance of Doctors Wanes.

New Orleans, La., November 18.—(Special)—Battered down to a shell of its real strength through vicious results of the powerful Florida eleven, the Tulane Greenbacks went down here this afternoon by a score of 27 to 6. The vicious tackling of the Gators, especially of Fullback Dickson, sent practically every regular with three except the two ends, out of game for Tulane. The team that represented Tulane in the West is not far behind him.

Big Hewitt, of Pittsburgh, is a great line plunger and will be an

V. P. I. WINS EASY BATTLE

Lynchburg, Va., November 18.—(Special)—Virginia Tech's football machine worked smoothly and efficiently today, mangling Washington and Lee to the tune of 41 to 6. The Generals made only two first downs during the game, and as a result of a series of the other results in a touchdown from a 65-yard forward pass and run. Tech outplayed the Generals throughout, gaining ground almost at will. Gittle standing out conspicuously. Tech tried for four field goals, being successful with two of these tries.

Early in the game Dickson hit Eddie Reed with a smash and Florida to the penalty 15 yards by Reed.

Bamm for unmerciful roughness. The penalty that Florida received was little compared to the damage caused Tulane. For the first time in four years the mighty Red was compelled to leave the field with Reed practically lost the morale of the entire Tulane team.

The players seemed to sense that if the heretofore uninjurable Reed could be injured, they stood little chance. The Greens, however, fought gamely and held the heavy Alabamans but only in vain.

Deadly Forward Passes.

The Gators, led by Art Newton, crashed through the Shanghaiesque with powerful stabs at the line and varied with a few arrows over the top, the last four touchdowns over the goal line. Newton gave the greatest halfback exhibition this season in New Orleans. During the time that he was in the game, Eddie Reed played brilliant and Tom Appling over the edge over the visitors.

Reed's real worth to the team was certainly felt when he was removed and Florida went into the lead in the second half after working the ball down the field on four passes.

Newton carried the ball out on a line plunger through the places vacated by Reed. Florida scored on a fake trick formation from which a pass was worked, Newton to Case, in the third quarter. The last touchdown was scored when the Florida forward blocked an attempted punt beyond Tulane's goal line and Robinson recovered.

Harry Talbot and Blackshear played the best ball for Tulane. The line-up and summary:

NOTRE DAME WINNER OVER BUTLER TEAM

Indianapolis, November 18.—Butler college's hopes for the Indiana football championship were shattered here today by the University of Notre Dame, the final score being 32 to 3 in favor of the team from up state.

Chance recently sold his western subdivision, dusted off his old fireman's mitt and emitted cries like manager.

Hugh Daffy is the present manager of the club. It is reported that Barney Oldfield, a close friend of "Husk" Chance, will join him in buying a block of stock in the American league tail-enders.

BROWN TRIMS THE CRIMSON

Cambridge, Mass., November 18.—(Associated Press)—Brown's football eleven, beaten by Yale a few weeks ago, won from Harvard today. The score was 3 to 0. The Crimson, however, had a good game, and will repair for their trouble, for flashy football was exhibited by Tech and Fullback Adams from the 16-yard line.

Crimson supporters, considering Harvard's defeat, 3 to 0, by the team beaten by Yale, 6 to 20, in the light of its effect on the big game of next week, could find as a source for hope only the fact that neither Captain Buell nor George Owen was in the game today. Otherwise, it was Harvard varsity team, and all the credit must go to the coach, who departed from the usual policy of sending substitutes only after Adams, Brown, failed to avert defeat against the Brunonian strength offensively and on the defense.

LATER OPENING SEEN FOR MAJOR LEAGUES

Chicago, November 18.—Major leagues baseball fans will probably have to wait a week longer than usual to see their favorite play next season, as notices were sent out today by President Ban Johnson, of the American League, and President Heydell, of the National League, that the season will open April 17.

The action was taken, it is said, at the request of club owners who hope to avoid bad weather, and benefit their clubs by wet weather additional play.

The season, according to the advices, closer a week later than usual.

The inaugural date in past years has been on Wednesday while this coming season it will fall on Tuesday.

The game kind of rocked along until the fourth period, getting along the best it could. In this period the half-pint came in to wake things up. First the horses, or regular backfield performed, then they went out in the second quarter in favor of the ponies, consisting of Win, McWhorter, Murphy and Moore.

In the fourth period they were relieved by the longhorns that had been held captive for nearly three seasons—lost a 19 to 0 struggle on a muddy gridiron to an eleven that had been conquered this fall.

A brittle line and a thinning line, however, did not meet expectations and the Tuscaloosans in the games that closely followed this contest certainly did not seem to be justified in view of the great number of capable players on the squad, most of whom were veterans.

It was just before the Penn game that the Crimson pointed out in this column that the Crimson Tide was due to show something of good coaching and the strength of power that had been smouldering through the early part of the campaign.

CHICAGO WINS OVER ILLINOIS

Chicago, November 18.—With Johnnny, the human "battering ram," ripping and tearing the line to pieces, Chicago triumphed over Illinois 9 to 0 in their twenty-third annual game in Stage field today, keeping the Maroons undefeated in the race for the western conference championship.

The Maroons opened with a field goal from the 40-yard line in the first period and clinched the game when Harry Thomas, a brother of Johnny, raced across for a touchdown in the closing minutes of the game after the "fighting Illini" had three times fumbled the ball down from their own 5-yard line.

Little Action for Preps This Week; Marist Plays Fourth District Aggies

Material For All-Star Team in City League Not So Promising as It Was in Past Campaigns—Few Real Stars.

By ROY E. WHITE.

Prep football in Atlanta will be on the standstill during the coming week-end unless some of the teams get busy and schedule games. At present only one game is listed for the week-end and that is between the Marist and Winder High teams Friday afternoon on the Marist campus.

In the absence of a game last Friday afternoon Coach Bean got busy and scheduled a game for Tuesday afternoon at Marist college between Marist and Carrollton Fourth District.

That game should be a corking good affair because of the fact that the Carrollton team has been playing a brand of football that will equal or exceed that of the Marist team. Carrollton has given some of the teams that Carrollton High, the high school eleven that beat G. M. A. here recently, played.

There are several prep games scheduled for the last week in November and one or two of those will be played Turkey day morning. G. M. A. and University are scheduled to meet at G. M. A. Thanksgiving morning.

The week off will give the prep teams of Atlanta a breathing spell so to speak and that spell will be very much appreciated by the players.

Schedules Finished.

Tech High and Boys' High have just finished one of the hardest prep schedules that could have been arranged. Tech High, especially, played hard and long.

The Smokies tied Richmond, lost to Riverside, University State Normal eleven and then lost to Duval.

Boys' High did not run such a risk but they played some hard games and won only one game, that from the Rome High team, by a 6 to 0 score some two weeks ago.

The recent upheaval in the ranks of the city prep teams has caused quite a bit of comment from local prep fans and that is given as the reason for the greatest playing in the city in years. Several of the teams have been hurt by actions of some of the players.

A house cleaning is good for the teams some time and it will serve as an example to some of the other clubs. G. M. A. was hit hard and then the Tech High automobilists from the city's high schools, the Princeton linemen, made a poor punt out of bounds at its own 30-yard line and Yale tried again to batter its way towards Princeton's goal.

After one gain of 5 yards by Neale and several short plunges by Jordan, Princeton took the ball on down on its own 22-yard line. On the fourth down, Neale tried a double pass which failed to work.

After an exchange of punts which was featured by the fierce defense on both sides, making it impossible to advance the ball, Princeton intercepted a Yale forward pass at Princeton's 30-yard line, made a poor punt out of bounds at its own 30-yard line and Yale tried again to batter its way towards Princeton's goal.

Cleaves just doubled the number made by Vandy, she getting 8 to the Commodores' 5. But what in the world does all this have to do with the result? Vandy got three forward passes, two of which were very short and resulted in touchdowns. It is scoring by such counts, and the Commodores had the scoring team. So when all is said and done, Vandy had all the better of the battle. She tried eight forward passes, succeeding with three for 31 yards gain. Georgia tried nineteen and got five for a total of 44 yards. And that tells the story.

Coty to Georgia.

It was a costly game to Georgia in one on one respect. Her captain and guard, Paul Whelchel, was put out of the game early in the first quarter, when his shoulder was hurt again. This shoulder was smashed in Chicago, and gave him lots of trouble all the season. It is probable that he will be able to play again next Saturday, when the Bulldogs meet the season at Alabama.

Georgia's defense was pretty bad also, while Fletcher was taken from the game on account of injuries in the third period.

Mulvihill was out of the game, and when Collings and Fletcher were put out by injuries, both Smack Thompson and Bennett punted to Reesee who ran back five yards before being downed on his 44-yard line. Kuhn lost three yards at right end and Neel punted to Randall who had a free catch. It was Georgia's ball on her 44-yard line. Mulvihill met two yards and Fletcher made fifteen around left end, putting the ball on her 40-yard line, two attempts at forward passes failed, each being from 40 to 20. Post to Post and a third gained five yards when Bennett punted to Reesee.

For the Vanderbilt team the outstanding star, of course, was Bonar, who was on the receiving end of many passes, but Kuhn, Reesee and Foye Meiers also were stars. Bradford was an outstanding star on the line and helping in plusses. Georgia turned out to be in Randall, Fletcher, Neel, Tanner and Collings with both linesmen all playing superbly. Their defense was as usual, strong, all departments, except in defending against long passes in which she fell down.

In making her great rush down the field from her 27-yard line, Georgia gained a great distance when Reesee missed a punt as he was tackled and Randall recovered it, that he could not get beyond the right end. He helped Georgia receive all the help Georgia received from Vandy all the afternoon and it came from the terrific tackle which the Bulldogs made when they hit Reesee. Neel was a bear at running and he had a great start on his 44-yard line. After two forward passes from Randall, he was downed on his 44-yard line. Two forward passes from Neel, one to Post and a third to Post, and a fourth to Post, and a fifth to Post, and a sixth to Post, and a seventh to Post, and a eighth to Post, and a ninth to Post, and a tenth to Post, and a eleventh to Post, and a twelfth to Post, and a thirteenth to Post, and a fourteenth to Post, and a fifteenth to Post, and a sixteenth to Post, and a seventeenth to Post, and a Building Permits 18 Days of Month Total $1,013,424

Total of 1922 So Far Over $5,000,000 Ahead of Any Past Year, According to City Officials.

BUILDING OF HOMES MAKES GOOD RECORD

$20,000,000 Final Total for This Year Now Practically Assured, Officials Say.

By J. H. TATUM.
It took November just eighteen days to become a $1,000,000 building month. Permits had been issued up to Saturday to the value of $1,013,424, and the grand total for the year thus far is a little in excess of $18,500,000.

This is over $5,000,000 ahead of any twelve-month record ever before made in Atlanta.

Home building has clapped along in November away in advance of any other line of construction. One hundred and twenty permits were granted by the city building inspector. Few were for costly residences; the average cost figuring about $4,000.

Up to the present month, the number of residence permits issued, not counting those for apartments, was 2,037, and November's addition brings the number to 2,157.

City building officials said Saturday that nothing but virtually continuous bad weather will be able to stop 1922 from becoming a $20,000,000 construction year, which will be reaching a pinnacle beyond which even the most optimistic turned their eyes at the first of the year.

Claims Sultan Has Surrendered Rights by Flight

Rafet Pasha Asserts He Gave Up Caliphate on Entering Christian Soil.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Constantinople, November 18.—The Turkish nationalists consider that Sultan Mohammed VI, by his flight, has surrendered the caliphate, according to Rafet Pasha, Kemalist government of Constantinople.

"According to the Moslem law," he told The Associated Press, "when the sultan leaves Turkish soil and enters Christian territory he places himself under Christian protection and thereby loses the caliphate, ceasing to retain any authority over the Moslems."

Mohammed's departure on the British-dramatised Malaya in the face of threatened trial for treason by the Angora government was compared by Rafet Pasha to the flight of Damad Ferid Pasha, former grand vizier, and the other "members of the opposition who by their acts were compromised in the eyes of the whole Turkish nation."

Rafet spent several hours following the escape in telephoning Angora for instructions and taking precautions against the flight of the members of the sultan's cabinet and other high persons wanted by the nationalists.

The sultan left his palace by the boat down the Bosphorus to the Marmara, which has always been sealed. The British for some time had been aware of his anxiety and fear for his personal safety, and were prepared to remove him when he said the word. They explained, however, that the request for safe conduct must come from us, as they could not be placed in the false position of having kidnapped him.

The sultan repeatedly told his friends that he would not abdicate, and after his reception of Rafet Pasha last week he seemed more steadfast than ever in his determination to rejoin the Kemalists.

The Kemalists today took measures to guard the famous palace containing the precious relics of the Caliphate and the priceless gifts to the sultan and his predecessor from world monarchs since the time of the prophet.

WIVES OF SULTAN ARE DESOLATE NOW MASTER HAS FLED

Constantinople, November 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The sultan's wives and ladies of the harem are overwhelmed with grief and dismay over the flight of the sultan. They did not know he was going.

The sultan's youngest wife, whom he married only nine weeks ago and who is the 22-year-old daughter of his gardener, became hysterical when the fact of the sultan's flight was confirmed, and the seven faithful eunuchs, who had acted as personal bodyguards to the Moslem ruler for the last five years, gave themselves up to despair, fearing the sultan had been kidnapped by the Kemalists. The other eunuchs and the ladies of the palace, numbering 300, wept bitterly and soon the whole palace was in a state of commotion.

The sultan's departure was not known to his household until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when his aide-de-camp entered his sleeping chamber. When he gave the news that the sultan was missing the palace was searched from top to bottom for the monarch.

Consul General Asserts That in Eleven Months' Time No Punishment Has Been Meted Out for Offenses.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Breckenridge, Texas, November 18.—One arrest was made yesterday after a day's diligent work by city, police and state rangers, sent here by Governor Neff, in the delicate situation resulting from a parade by a crowd of men Tuesday night through the Mexican and negro districts.

The fiery old Tiger earnestly voiced the purpose of his tour in a brief response at city hall to an address of welcome by Acting Mayor Hubert.

"In the world at this time," he declared, "it is a crisis which hasn't been settled. How it will end, nobody knows. If you take the wrong side—well, the war counts for nothing and we may have to go to war again. If it turns out right, and the right thing is done at the right time, then it will be the greatest step for the civilization of mankind."

Clemenceau's idea of the "right thing" is the message he will give to America in a series of addresses here and in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and Philadelphia.

HONORS OF DIPLOMAT.

Although he came as a private citizen, the famous French statesman was accorded the honors of a diplomat.

Red tape was cut by Washington to facilitate his landing. A personal representative of President Harding, Assistant Secretary of State Bliss, Jules J. Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, was on hand to put the stamp of his government's approval on the visit.

HARDING REBUKED, STATES WILLIAMS

Secretary to Senator Harris Sums Up Results of Election, in Answer to G. O. P. Newspapers.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 18.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Many newspapers in the east with close political and personal relations with President Harding are contending that the election of November 7 was not a repudiation of President Harding's administration. One strong democratic paper, The Baltimore Sun, fell into the error in one article when it said that "the theory that the democratic landslide in the country implied a great and significant revolt against the Harding administration does not hold water." In a reply to The Sun, which became public today, Cranston Williams, secretary to Senator Harris, of Georgia, set forth the results of the reasons why he thought the results were a rebuke and repudiation of the Harding administration. In an article, saying "let's see about this," Williams wrote:

EXPERTS TO MEET NOV. 23 TO WAGE FIGHT ON WEEVIL

Conference Called for Washington to Unify State and Federal Recommendations.

UNIFORMITY WANTED IN TIME OF PLANTING

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, November 18.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—An effort to unify the various recommendations being made by the different states and federal government towards assisting cotton growers in combating the problems arising out of the boll weevil menace will be made at a conference to be held in connection with the meetings of the Land Grant College Association at Washington, D. C., November 23. Extension directors and college presidents, as well as prominent officials of the United States department of agriculture, will attend.

Among the important questions to be discussed will be that of encouraging the growth of uniform varieties of cotton in communities. Uniform time of planting is another big factor in boll weevil control that will come up. The opinion is expressed that if agreement could be reached by the various interests on uniform varieties and time of planting and the recommendations followed by the growers one-third of the boll weevil problem would be solved.

Adaptable to Change.

Cotton is pointed out, is a plant that readily adapts itself to changes in soil or climate. One variety, therefore, may prove valuable through a wide range. One of the big difficulties is the long time that would be required to effect a complete change of variety. Pure seed is hard to get, as mixed varieties are so generally grown. Some years would be required to produce enough pure seed of any one variety to bring about any big change.

The conference will also go into the various methods now recommended for controlling boll weevils under different conditions. No attempt will be made to dispose finally of the various problems of fighting the boll weevil at this conference. Its work is intended to pave the way for another meeting later in which all interests involved will be represented.

Morgan Starts Movement.

The plan of calling the conference originated with Dr. H. A. Morgan, president of the University of Tennessee, who made three trips through the south for the government studying boll weevil conditions. Dr. Morgan believes that unity in the methods recommended by the states and the federal government for combating the pest is one of the most important steps toward that end. Practically all officials of the United States department of agriculture concerned in boll weevil work will attend the meeting.

Annual Georgia Products Dinner Will Be Served

Yearly Event of Joseph Habersham Chapter Scheduled for Wednesday.

The annual Georgia products dinner, which since its initial serving in 1913 has been noted for the unusual flavor of foodstuffs included on the menu, will be served Wednesday, November 22, by the Joseph Habersham chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Auditorium.

Cranberries from south Georgia, incomparable peach preserves from fruit grown on world famous Georgia peach trees, candied yams from the mellow earth of the Cracker state, and a tempting variety of other dishes are included on the menu. No food product grown outside the state will be served.

The dinner is an annual event of the Joseph Habersham chapter of the D. A. R., and was inaugurated in 1923. The state-wide slogan used by civic and patriotic organizations has its inception in these dinners, which from the first have been called "Georgia products dinners."

Places for 2,000.

Places for between 1,500 and 2,000 guests will be set, and the serving of the dinner will start at 1 o'clock.

Fifty beautiful girls, who like the farmed Georgia peach, have made the state famous, will serve the food. Among items listed on the menu are turkey and dressing, cranberry, rice and gravy, baked ham, candied yams, green peas, sweet pepper relish, hot rolls and coffee, and home-made cake and ice cream.

WOODROW WILSON SENDS WELCOME WIRE TO "TIGER"

New York Gives Warm Greeting to the Wartime Minister of France, Who Comes on Peace Mission.

CRISIS NOT SETTLED, ASSERTS CLEMENCEAU

Although Coming as Private Citizen, Clemenceau Is Accorded All the Honors of a Diplomat.

New York, November 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Georges Clemenceau, war time premier of France, came to America today on a mission of peace.

The fiery old Tiger earnestly voiced the purpose of his tour in a brief response at city hall to an address of welcome by Acting Mayor Hubert.

"In the world at this time," he declared, "it is a crisis which hasn't been settled. How it will end, nobody knows. If you take the wrong side—well, the war counts for nothing and if it turns out right, and the right thing is done at the right time, then it will be the greatest step for the civilization of mankind."

Clemenceau's idea of the "right thing" is the message he will give to America in a series of addresses here and in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and Philadelphia.

HONORS OF DIPLOMAT.

Although he came as a private citizen, the famous French statesman was accorded the honors of a diplomat. Red tape was cut by Washington to facilitate his landing. A personal representative of President Harding, Assistant Secretary of State Bliss, went down the bay to welcome him and invite him to the white house.

Jules J. Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, was on hand to put the stamp of his government's approval on the visit.

The conference will also go into the various methods now recommended for controlling boll weevils under different conditions. No attempt will be made to dispose finally of the various problems of fighting the boll weevil at this conference.

A conference between coal dealers of Kentucky and Tennessee has been arranged for the first of next week, according to the wire by Mr. Boileau, at which lower maximum prices on coal at the mines will be fixed, it is understood.

Coal dealers in Atlanta, according to Distributor Boileau, are forced to pay $7.50 per ton, f. o. b., at the mines in Kentucky and Tennessee, while other sections of the country are said to enjoy a more favored price of $4.25 and $4.50 per ton maximum.

In the event of the fuel distributor's action lowering the price on coal ships to Georgia, this will mean a substantial reduction in the present retail price of the commodity, Mr. Boileau stated.

"That the proposed conference between Distributor Boileau and the mine owners of Kentucky and Tennessee will result in lower prices of coal for Georgia," declared Mr. Boileau, "I am confident the coal crisis in the southeastern states of the past few weeks is taking on a decidedly more favorable appearance. With the assignment of 4,000 additional cars to the eastern coal ports, I am confident indications are that the crisis is over in Georgia."

CALCIUM ARSENATE CALLED SURE CURE FOR BOLL WEEVIL

Agent for the State Bug Board Says 100 Per Cent Cotton Crop Can Be Made.

ADVISES SELECTION OF GOOD SEED NOW

Proper Type of Cotton for Special Soil or Climatic Conditions Will Increase Yield.

Preservation of the cotton crop by "dusting" the bolls and stalks with calcium arsenate in order to exterminate the boll weevil, is the only sure method of eliminating the pestilence, according to Ira W. Williams, general field agent of the state board of entomology in an interview Saturday.

By observing this precaution and applying the calcium arsenite on the cotton plants during the months of July and August, when the migrating period of the weevil is at its height, Mr. Williams asserted, a hundred per cent crop of cotton can be raised in spite of the weevil.

"The people of Georgia," declared Mr. Williams, "are thoroughly convinced that a hundred per cent of a cotton crop can be made in spite of the boll weevil up to the migrating period of the weevil, which takes place the last of July in some sections and during the month of August. We hope to work out a method of control after migration sets in. The best possible control would be for every man to dust with calcium arsenite as directed by the Georgia state board of entomology. Then the weevils would not be numerous enough in any man's field for migration to be injurious, should any take place."

"The people of Georgia," declared Mr. Williams, "are thoroughly convinced that a hundred per cent of a cotton crop can be made in spite of the boll weevil up to the migrating period of the weevil, which takes place the last of July in some sections and during the month of August. We hope to work out a method of control after migration sets in. The best possible control would be for every twice victorious Turkey and defeated Greece, the conference possesses vastly more importance.

It must settle the problems that have grown out of the Turks' return to the continent of Europe from which they were expelled after the great war, as well as the all-dominant question of the freedom of the Dardanelles, in which America has a natural interest.

The conference must lay down Turkey's new frontiers and take up the delicate question of Turkey's capitulations, or concessions, whereby foreigners in Turkey, like those living in China, have been exempt from Turkish laws and free from taxation. Turkey demands freedom from those restrictions and claims for national autonomy.

Without departing from our policy of non-intervention in European politics, the United States has designated three observers: Richard Washburn Child, ambassador to Italy; Joseph C. Grew, minister to Switzerland; and Alfred M. L. Bristol, official American representative at Constantinople.

Recent events in London, Paris, Constantinople and Athens have demonstrated the delicate nature of the relations between England and France concerning this Near Eastern tangle, with statesmen of both countries striving for "unity of front," which will safeguard their separate national aspirations as regards commerce and their various "special positions."

The prediction is freely made here that the Lausanne conference will have a weighty bearing on the future amity and harmonious co-operation between England and France in European affairs.

Demands of Italy.

The fascists of Italy, dedicated to a firm foreign policy, will demand equality of treatment and are apparently strong in their determination to denounce the Italian-Greece treaty of 1920, whereby Italy agreed to cede to Greece the Dodecanese islands in the Aegean.

Bolshevik Russia has been invited to attend the Dardanelles discussion, but not the main conference, which will take up revision of the Sevres treaty.

Bulgaria will insist on an outlet in the Aegean at Dodecanthes and Jugoslavia will undoubtedly demand assurances of commercial privileges at Salonika.

Most of the neutral European states have asked permission to attend the meetings.

The view of the conference finds the way of extreme nationalistic exhalation prevailing in Turkey frankly voted by the Turkish delegates, who declare that unless they obtain satisfactory terms at Lausanne they "stand ready, like Caesar, to cross the Rubicon," intimating that their armies will take by force what they cannot get by peace.

Greece, defeated and almost bankrupt, stands out as the pathetic figure of the conference and the great Greek leader, Venizelos, has a heavy and probably thankless task.

WALLER PEONAGE CASE DISMISSED

Man Freed of Suspicion in Langston Ax Murder Case Also Freed of Slavery Charge.

Dismissal of the peonage charges against John Waller, Fayette county farmer, in connection with his alleged holding in peonage Perry Thompson, 50-year-old relative of the defendant, was ordered Saturday morning at the preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter.

At the hearing Thompson claimed that Waller had compelled him to "work out" a debt of $20, which the former stated he owed the defendant. On cross-examination by Attorney L. C. Dickson, who represented Waller, Thompson admitted that he remained on the farm on his own free will and accord.

The charges against Waller grew out of the recent accusation of the slaying of James C. Langston, a Farm Bureau, a rural mail carrier. Waller was held in jail at Fayetteville for three days on suspicion in connection with the slaying of Langston, whose mutilated body was found near the main road in the Morning creek district.

The murder mystery has never been cleared.

Completion of Long Memorial by the First Of Next Year Planned

Definite completion by January 1, 1923, of the fund to provide a memorial statue to Dr. Crawford W. Long, discoverer of anesthesia, will be set up in the hall of statuary in the national capitol at Washington, has been determined upon and announced by the Crawford W. Long Memorial association.

In order to push the work as rapidly as possible and with a view to making the subscription a widely popular one, a centrally located office will be opened by the association within a few days, in charge of the secretary and an assistant, and through this office attention will be given to correspondence and canvass work of members of the association and their various committees.

At the regular weekly meeting it was announced by President Frank K. Boland that a small fund collected by some of the doctors for the same purpose several years ago, would be available for the present Long Memorial fund.

Burns Club.

The Burns club of Atlanta will get up a subscription among its own members for the memorial statue to Dr. Long.

The committee of the club having this subscription in charge includes President J. A. McElreath, Vice President A. P. MacIntyre, Don Bain and Alex S. Taylor.

Special committees are planning to get out letters to doctors, druggists and nurses all over the state. A committee of women has taken in charge the work of the women's patriotic societies, and the other committees are planning to get busy at once. This latter committee will be composed of five members, four of whom have been selected, including President W. J. Blalock, of the Fulton National bank; Dr. Joseph A. McCord, of the Federal Home Bank; and J. R. Billups, general passenger agent of the Atlanta and West Point railroad. Mr. Billups is a relative of Dr. Long's partner and associate in the drug business, which was prominent more than half a century ago in Athens.

Dr. Joseph A. McCord has received a letter from Miss Belle Bennett, Madison, stating that Morgan County would do its part toward the Long memorial despite the ravages of the hell weevils which have been seriously felt there. Miss Billups will take charge of the work in Morgan county, and reported a small fund already raised.

New Forsyth Star Faces Brilliant Future on Stage

Great Belasco Wires Her Offer of Contract—Tribute to Ability.

BY WALTER CHAMBERS

When Belle Bennett slipped away from New York to come down to the Forsyth players in Atlanta for her present engagement, she surprised quite a lot of folks, including Dave Brown, and others whose power is magic along the white lights of Broadway.

Belasco was probably the most surprised one of the crowd, for he had brought her developed a half-empty house to the point where tickets were at a premium. And he had received a telegram, saying, "Belle, you're dead-beat, to watch out for the kid. She's a comer."

Anyway, when she received a wire from Belasco Tuesday, after her opening performance in "The Broken Wing," Monday night, she had what any girl would give half of her life to possess—an offer from the great Belasco to star in a new show he's opening on Broadway the first of the year.

Has Running Contract.

But Miss Bennett was brought to Atlanta through the efforts of Dan Michaelove, of the Southern Enterprises, which has a working arrangement with Al H. Woods. Miss Bennett has a contract with three and a half years yet to run, with Mr.

WISCONSIN GOVERNOR "SELLING" HIS STATE

Blaine Pleads at Memphis for Commercial and Industrial Co-operation.

Memphis, Tenn., November 18.—Governor John L. Blaine, of Wisconsin, touring the Mississippi Valley, made the state his chief argument for commercial and industrial co-operation between the valley states, in an address today before the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and City club, and a mutual effort to develop the resources of the Mississippi Valley received.

"I have come to sell you a state—the state of Wisconsin," Governor Blaine said. "Not so much, however, for its territory, nor in its natural resources, but, perchance, in carload lots; not all in assets but, perhaps, some in liabilities—mutual collective liabilities, however, for your problems of waterways, of soil development, improved livestock, better marketing, increased production, less waste. A higher degree of efficiency in industrial output are also our problems."

"Prosperity at the head of the valley can only be enhanced through mutual co-operation with you and your prosperity throughout the Mississippi Valley," Governor Blaine said, in urging the importance of co-operative support and exchange of ideas and closer relations between the people of the valley states.

He emphasized the need of water-way development.

"The Lakes-to-the-Gulf waterway, when it becomes a reality will restore the trend of thought and travel, the sense of which in later years has developed of that comradeship to which the valley states are rightfully entitled," he declared.

Governor Blaine detailed the industrial and agricultural developments of his state, its achievements and hopes for greater commercial expansion and called attention to the Wisconsin Products and Services, which he will be on the tour by Carl A. Johnson, president of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association and L. G. Foster, state deputy commissioner of markets. The party will remain in Memphis until tomorrow night. Governor Blaine will speak at St. Louis Monday and in Chicago Wednesday.

Graft Charges Made in Bosch Magneto Probe

Clear Intent to Defraud Government.

Washington, November 18.—Startling developments, involving serious charges against certain officials of the Wilson administration are promised when the case of the Bosch Magneto properties comes up for trial, probably in New York.

William Jennings Bryan continues his effort to stop the teaching of the evolutionary thesis in schools and only recently the Rev. Harold J. Hamilton of Rochester, N. Y., called for the banishment of every modernist from Protestant churches.

"The monkey gospel is prominent in the Protestant church," he said, "and the Bible has been reduced to a classic."

Common Misunderstanding

"There is a common misunderstanding on this 'Monkey Gospel,'" said Professor Conklin, "but it is not descended from some existing species of anthropoid ape and the latter from some existing species of monkey and so on back to certain existing species of lower animals. This cannot be true for the whole organic world has been evolved together. Some have been born, have died, from some common, but at present, extinct ancestor."

"Existing monkeys and apes are collateral relatives of man, but not his ancestors—his cousins, but not his parents."

"The attitude of the church continues a modern inquisition. It is in full force with religious pronouncements and funds are being raised to endow and perpetuate the fight against evolution."

The Bosch Magneto company was an American corporation controlled by German capital during the war. A few months after its seizure, A. Mitchell Palmer, at that time alien property custodian, authorized the sale of properties to Martin W. Kern, who represented a syndicate of American buyers.

Immediately after the sale charges were made against the government's action in the case. Investigation into the circumstances, however, was practically postponed until the advent of the Harding administration, at which time Attorney-General Daugherty included this case in the many war fraud investigations launched by the department of justice.

WELLS IS BEATEN AND BADLY BEATEN IN LONDON RACE

London, November 18.—(By the Associated Press).—H. G. Wells, as labor candidate for member of parliament from the University of London, not only was defeated, but polled the smallest number of votes for the constituency.

Sir Sidney Russell-Wells, conservative, was elected, receiving 3,833 votes against 2,150 for Professor A. D. Pollard, and 1,427 for Mr. Wells.

"Church Militant" Found in Chicago; Men Come Armed

Chicago, November 18.—The "church militant" means that New Mount Maran African Baptist church of North Dearborn street, where the congregation comes armed, members of its colored flock avenged in Englewood police court.

The Rev. T. L. Polk is its "fighting pastor."

"Why, your honor," the Rev. Polk told Judge Eller, "I've got to fight my way to the pulpit every time I officiate. You see, Judge, the members of my congregation all come armed."

"It's all his religion, you know," he said, "the Rev. Deacon Joseph McLean. He hangs out with the worst sort of sinners, gin hounds and gamblers. He invites them to come to holy services and he'd rather have them than us respectable folks."

"My business is to save sinners, not saints," said the Rev. Polk. "But, the sinning may be better. What I used to take in $100 every time I sold a dollar's collection. No wonder I had to get out in the highways and byways."

All this was in connection with the assignment of Edward Mack for a collection at last Sunday's service. Mack was discharged and Judge Eller recommended a new pastor.

Pea Vine Hay Field in Habersham County Demonstrates Value of Diversification

The possibility of growing hay for commercial purposes has been illustrated by John Purcell, a farmer of Cornelia, Ga., on whose 12-acre pea vine hay field, shown in the accompanying picture, has been raised more than a ton of pea vine hay to the acre. Scores of farmers of the surrounding territory who have visited this place have been impressed with the value of the diversification idea in agriculture.

Claims Churches Use Inquisition On Science Now

There Is Common Misunderstanding on "Monkey Gospel," Says Professor.

BY WILL JOHNSON.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Princeton, N. J., November 18.—Science, and in particular the theory of evolution, is being subjected to a modern day inquisition at the hands of the churches.

So declared Edwin C. Conklin, professor of zoology at Princeton university, before the American scientific association, when his attention was directed to the renewed demand, particularly in the southern states, that science be viewed through the spectacles of literal Biblical interpretation.

Kentucky Baptists have just pledged themselves to withdraw all financial support from their denominational schools in Turkey in which the Darwinism or any other theory of evolution, held to contradict any part of the Bible, is taught. A Baptist convention in Texas has determined to find out if heresy is being taught in Baylor university, heresy in this case also being the Darwinian theory.

William Jennings Bryan continues his effort to stop the teaching of the evolutionary thesis in schools and only recently the Rev. Harold J. Hamilton of Rochester, N. Y., called for the banishment of every modernist from Protestant churches.

"The monkey gospel is prominent in the Protestant church," he said, "and the Bible has been reduced to a classic."

Common Misunderstanding

"There is a common misunderstanding on this 'Monkey Gospel,'" said Professor Conklin, "but it is not descended from some existing species of anthropoid ape and the latter from some existing species of monkey and so on back to certain existing species of lower animals. This cannot be true for the whole organic world has been evolved together. Some have been born, have died, from some common, but at present, extinct ancestor."

"Existing monkeys and apes are collateral relatives of man, but not his ancestors—his cousins, but not his parents."

The attitude of the church continues a modern inquisition. It is in full force with religious pronouncements and funds are being raised to endow and perpetuate the fight against evolution.

These sheets were for fly leaves, of all embracing abracadabra editing of 1924 copies, which Harrison, the book publishers, were about to bring out. Something delayed matters and the sheets were sealed in a metal container and filed away.

When Mark Twain died at Redding, Conn., on April 21, 1910, the idea was revived, but then Harpers didn't want to publish it, so it is not present, extinct now.

Cleaner, rattier behind an old safe which hadn't been budged for many years, recently hooked out the customer was a 2 per cent risk on a 3 per cent risk when he sold him a glass of beer."

Gabriel Wells, a Fifth Avenue book seller, took over the leaves and the work of producing the edition. By arrangement with Harpers and the publishers of New York, he sold them.

There are 35 books in each of the 1,024 sets and the sets have been selling at the rate of $7.50 a book. They are almost all gone. On January 1, the price will advance $35 a set and as the editions run closer to exhaustion the rate will go up to $100 a set.

Efforts of the wets to secure from congress the appointment of a scientific commission to determine what constitutes heresy in science.

Professor Conklin, in tracing the battle that evolution must wage to establish itself, pointed to the contests which faced pioneer scientists in the past, instancing the Newtonian theory, the modern astronomical system with the original hypothesis that the world was round.

"Some men in this twentieth century of enlightenment preaching a new idea, attempting to establish a court of law, the trial of science at the bar of theory."

Professor Conklin, in tracing the battle that evolution must wage to establish itself, pointed to the contests which faced pioneer scientists in the past, instancing the Newtonian theory, the modern astronomical system with the original hypothesis that the world was round.

"Only Olivia Ziron City remains to declare that the world is flat," Professor Conklin declared.

"The discovery of the fossil re-maines of man," he said, in dealing with evolution as it affects mankind, "have proved conclusively that other species of man, more brute-like than ours, are the more ape-like against whom the opponents of evolution explain."

The joke on Mark Twain is that he wrote all those signatures for nothing.

"What is there to support the theory of special creation?" Only this, that evolution denied the Biblical account of the creation of man—creation from dust, molded, as the Egyptian and Babylonian stories are said to have been.

JAMES J. DAVIS OPPOSES STRIKES

Labor Secretary Says
They Can Be Easily Averted by Mutual Understanding.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Los Angeles, Cal., November 18.—The unconfirmed report that curiosity once killed a cat is partially verified by William Furlong, 70-year-old hachiko, in the sense that William solemnly swears his own curiosity might have brought him the fate of the alleged feline.

For seventy years Furlong ducked marriage—and trouble.

Women came and went in William's life, but the wedding bells stayed mute.

I remained for a consuming curiosity to see what it was like, and a 60-year-old flapper of 1919, twice widowed but with skirt twelve inches from the sidewalk and a healthy color on her cheeks, to yank William out of his lonely existence.

"There is no one who will question the right of labor to organize. It has the same right as capital to organize."

The man who advocates cheap labor is not much of an American, to my notion of thinking.

"I am opposed with all my heart and soul to the so-called living wage. It is not enough to live on. If a man is only to get just enough for his fail to pay all of the bills on Saturday night, I say it is all wrong in our land.

I am against the living wage and in favor of the saving wage. There should be enough in the envelope each week so that the American family may live enough so the children may be educated. There should be enough so the things in life worth living for will not be crowded out.

"We want the American laborer paid so his children may be kept in the home with their mother instead of being sent to factories. Eighty percent of the money comes from neglect of children. And neglected childhood comes from the father receiving an insufficient wage."

He said the administration had taken a firm stand on the "3 per cent" law regulating the immigrants to the United States.

"We have three million men out of work right now in the United States," he said. "Why should we allow foreigners to come to add to the burden?"

He's Married Now And Mighty Sorry, He Tells Judge

"She Beat Me With Everything She Could Lay Her Hands On," He Says.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER.
(United News Staff Correspondent.)

Chicago, November 18.—The unconfirmed report that curiosity once killed a cat is partially verified by William Furlong, 70-year-old hachiko, in the sense that William solemnly swears his own curiosity mighty near brought him the fate of the alleged feline.

For seventy years Furlong ducked marriage—and trouble.

Women came and went in William's life, but the wedding bells stayed mute.

I remained for a consuming curiosity to see what it was like, and a 60-year-old flapper of 1919, twice widowed but with skirt twelve inches from the sidewalk and a healthy color on her cheeks, to yank William out of his lonely existence.

"If I'd had any idea what it was like, I'd never have single-decked William in maulin' tones to Judge Morgan in domestic relations court on this 17th day of November, 1922.

"I want to be supported," demanded Delia, the flapper wife, with fire in both eyes, "she doesn't know how to take care of a wife."

"Judge, a man has to learn from experience," said William, "but mine were terrible. I've been with everythink she could lay hands on—sticks, rolling pins, canes, milk bottles and chairs. She comes flapping around me before I married her, and her words sounded like honey, but it's been sticks and rolling pins ever since. I'd read of such things in the country, but I didn't suppose they could be true."

After Captain Braun had testified it would not be safe for the couple to live together, and it developed that William had $500 in the bank, the court ruled that William should give Delta $250, but that he could resume single life.

"That suits me," said William as he hobbled out.

"Get more!" shouted Delia as the next case was called.

GERMAN CABINET NOW IN MAKING BY WILHELM CUNO

Berlin, November 18.—A new German government is in the making. It is anticipated that the names of the new cabinet to succeed the Wirth government will be announced today by Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno.

The successor of Chancellor Wirth returned from Hamburg Friday where he had the affairs of the Hamburg-American Steamship company, of which he is president, in order before assuming the reins of government. Cuno had a long conference with President Ebert.

It was known, however, that Cuno had tested that restlessness of men who have never been identified with partisan politics. His promises to be a "business administration" and looked upon with favor by Hugo Sperrle, the leader of the people's party and Germany's leading industrialist.

"That suits me," said William as he hobbled out.

"Get more!" shouted Delia as the next case was called.

"Knights of Road" Begin Annual Winter Pilgrimage to Dixie

The "knights of the open road" have begun the annual pilgrimage to the warm southern lands at the advent of winter in the north. Above are seen a few of Atlanta's visitors during a short stop-over at the local Salvation army.

BY WALTER CHAMBERS.

The whirr of wings that marks the migration of feathered game from the lakes of the north to the rice fields of the coastal southland, has awakened the impelling appeal in the hearts of the "knights of the road," and the vanguard of the followers of the Gypsy trail has arrived.

"Young ones who would rather enjoy the quietness and happiness which comes to them from the sight of the leaves turning golden-brown and dying.

Last Pilgrimage Made.

Such a one is Old Dan Holden. But he has made his last pilgrimage. He is seen here talking with Staff Captain Ferdinand Braun, of the Salvation Army Men's social center at 271 Luckie street.

When Jack Frost started him south this year the old man felt different than in any of the 30 years he has traveled the roads of the highway and by-ways. And when he asked at the Salvation Army the other day for a night's lodging, it ended his travel in answer to the inner call for the "wanderlust."

An expert artisan, Dan has gone to work steadily—for the first time in almost half a century. Every day now, in place of moving on to young ones who would rather enjoy the quietness and happiness which comes to them from the sight of the leaves turning golden-brown and dying.

Young ones who would rather enjoy the quietness and happiness which comes to them from the sight of the leaves turning golden-brown and dying.

When it is repaired, nicely varnished and placed in the army's store, it enables poor young married couples to buy it very cheaply, which they prefer to charity. Then, too, Staff Captain Braun says, it helps Dan to "come back" by giving him the chance of earning money to support himself.

Hundreds of men are annually being rehabilitated and encouraged to make their lives useful at the social center, according to Staff Braun. They get a night's lodging and a meal or two when they drift in, but they sort papers or do other work to help keep the army going. Lots of them quit begging after they've seen how easy it is to earn their living.

Speeders Shown Maimed Tots STARTLING INCREASE IN ACCIDENTS OVER COUNTRY

Enforced Morgue Tour Next

Detroit, November 18.—Arraigned in traffic court for speeding, frequently regarded as something of a joke, has suddenly taken on a deeper and more ghastly significance here in the light of the drastic steps taken by Judge Charles L. Bartlett to curb the speeding practice.

Judge Bartlett caused a nationwide sensation Wednesday when he had 70 speeders through a hospital ward to show them dozens of little children maimed for life by other automobile drivers.

But the speeders arraigned next Wednesday will face an even more terrifying ordeal, for Judge Bartlett has now announced he will take them to the county morgue and show them the horrors of persons killed by automobiles. After that they will be sent to jail to reflect upon the things they saw in the morgue.

"When a man speeds in an automobile, he has murder in his heart," the judge declared. "Next Wednesday when another heavy list of speeders is to appear in court to be sentenced, they will be told to come before me they may see the grim reality."

While Judge Bartlett favors universal application of this system to eliminate the speeding menace, he believes that the least judges in other large cities can do is to stop fining speeders and send them to jail.

"Worse Than Murder."

The recent grave increase in accidents to children and pedestrians throughout the country due to speeding and reckless driving of motorists is a matter that no traffic judge in America should overlook," he declared.

No American judge should be allowed to remain on the bench who is not exerting himself to the limit of his ability to stamp out this growing menace. It is even worse than murder because it is an unaggravated crime.

"I have been told that there exist judges who, in actual fear of men of wealth and political influence, are allowing these child maimers, these speeders, to actually get away with a small fine. I can scarcely believe it of any fellow jurist. I most heartily recommend that every traffic judge in America follow my plan of imprisoning traffic violators without option of a fine and in attacking them through their consciences by taking them through local hospital wards where children are maimed because of recklessness must spend the rest of their lives in misery."

Speeders are punished by both jail sentences and fines.

Smith Outlines Dealers' Views on City Traffic

Automobile Dealer Says Two Lines of Traffic Cannot Move Abreast, Even If Parking Is Prohibited.

BY JOHN E. SMITH,
Atlanta Traffic Committee of the Atlanta Automobile Association.

Congestion in traffic is caused principally by two things; narrow streets and heavy traffic. When the traffic stream is interrupted congestion results. Wider streets or more streets across the city would cure the trouble, but since we cannot produce either, wider streets or more streets quickly, the cry is to speed up the traffic on our main arteries.

Some say that parking of automobiles on the parked car obstructs traffic. Let's examine this question. Suppose you try driving an automobile through Whitehall and Peachtree on Sunday afternoon—when there is little or no park, and you will find that it will be necessary to trail the street cars because it is impossible to get through traffic in each direction on Whitehall street, one automobile standing next the curb in a block will obstruct a line of traffic quite as effectively as a dozen.

Aside from this fact the street is narrow at the Atlanta National bank corner that a line of automobiles could not pass on the car at this point and consequently must pull over into the street car tracks, thus making a single file of traffic going north.

Traveling south on the Whitehall viaduct, the bridge is so narrow at the arcade that all traffic must go through in a single file. So it would not speed up traffic to open up a double line to these points, but would simply add confusion. The street car absolutely sets the pace for traffic in Atlanta.

On November 3, 4, 5 and 6 a checker was placed on the street car to time the trip between Cain and Mitchell. The checker on the street car had to count the number of cars parked in order to see if the parking of automobiles affected the running time of the street cars. The following is the data:

One trips in 12 minutes each—80 cars parked.

Five trips in 11 minutes—70 cars parked.

Twenty-two trips in 10 minutes—84 cars parked.

Twelve trips in 9 minutes each—96 cars parked.

Nineteen trips in 8 minutes each—75 cars parked.

Sixteen trips in 7 minutes each—80 cars parked.

Two trips in 6 minutes each—102 cars parked.

One trip in 5 minutes—120 cars parked.

The smallest number of automobiles parked at any time was eighteen at 5:40 p.m. Friday and the time for the trip was ten minutes.

Understand that when non-parking is in force an automobile has the right to load or unload passengers and the laws applies to travel. But when the majority of non-parking laws there would never be less than fifteen or twenty cars loading or unloading between Cain and Mitchell streets and these cars alone would absolutely prevent traffic moving any faster than at present.

Then who prevent the vacant space at the curb from being used by the patient of the physician, the patient of the doctor, the client of the lawyer and the thousands of citizens who wish to run down town quickly in their automobile, transact their business and move on?

A parking limit of one hour on Whitehall and Peachtree streets between Cain and Mitchell, on Forsyth between Peachtree and Mitchell, on

FORD TRUCKS PARADE STREETS DURING WEEK

Commercial Demonstration to Acquaint Business Men With Uses of Vehicles.

Under the direction of the Atlanta Ford Motor Dealers' organization a commercial car parade is announced for each day this week, starting at the Ford plant about 8:30 o'clock Monday. This parade is to show Atlanta business men how their transportation problems can be simplified through the use of the Ford truck. Twenty units will be in this parade, each with a different type of body. These bodies are manufactured by the Karsner Manufacturing Works, of Atlanta; Martin-Merriweather Corporation, Continental Body Company and the Hercules Body Company.

Routes for the different days are as follows:

Monday—from the Ford plant on Ponce de Leon to Peachtree, down Peachtree and out on Forsyth, then Whitehall back through Whitehall and Peachtree to Broad; from Broad and Peachtree to Pryor and northward on Pryor to Peachtree.

Tuesday—from the Ford plant on Ponce de Leon to Peachtree, through Whitehall to Fair; Fair to Pryor, northward to Alabama; eastward on Alabama to Central avenue and through Produce Row; back Central avenue to Decatur; out Ivy from Decatur to Houston, to Peachtree.

Wednesday—from the Ford plant on Ponce de Leon to Peachtree; to Broad and Mitchell; out Mitchell to Forsyth and to Nelson, to Madison, Mitchell and Forsyth to Peters, to Whitehall; out Park to Lee, to Gordon and back to Whitehall; through Gordon to Peachtree.

Thursday—from the Ford plant on Ponce de Leon to Boulevard, to Edgewood and Five Points; to Broad and Mitchell, to Forsyth; out Forsyth to Whitehall and to East Point and College Park via Lee street.

Friday—from the Ford plant on Ponce de Leon eastward to Decatur, Ga.; back through DeKalb avenue and through Decatur street to Five Points; out Five Points and Whitehall from Five Points to Mitchell, to Washington, to Edgewood, to Peachtree, (At Decatur the demonstration fleet will enter on Ponce de Leon, the square twice and proceed to College avenue through Sycamore.)

It will undoubtedly be to the interest of the public to see this display. Further information regarding these trucks can be secured by calling any of the dealers of the Ford Motor Company in Atlanta, East Point, Buckhead or Decatur.

THE TRUCK PARTS COMPANY OPENS ON AUBURN AVE.

The Truck Parts company, 56 Auburn avenue, has been appointed authorized distributors of parts for the well known Torbensen internal gear drive axles.

There are a large number of trucks in this territory using Torbensen axles and for the convenience of the owners of these trucks a complete stock of parts covering all models will be carried for service.

Why deprive these automobile owners of the right to use their cars for the benefit of the merchant, the doctor, the client of the lawyer and the thousands of citizens who wish to run down town quickly in their automobile, transact their business and move on?

A few years ago the street car furnished the fastest transportation and developed the suburbs of our city in the sections it served. The automobile is now the fastest form of transportation and is developing our streets even faster.

As present 116 street cars per hour cross the Whitehall viaduct during the rush hours and that is what causes the congestion: the car stops at the corner to load passengers in single file so their fares can be collected and by the time the Whitehall car is started again the other street cars have hunkered up behind and it is no unusual thing to see a solid line of street cars on the viaduct, also at Broad and Marietta and on Forsyth between Walton and Marietta.

These street car jams almost invariably occur between 4:30 to 6 o'clock in the evening when parking is permitted and therefore parking is not to blame for the jam. The situation can be improved by providing safety zones for loading street cars and also by loading street cars at both ends.

Finally, more cross-town arterials must be developed and unless the street car company obtains other routes in the near future it will simply be a physical impossibility for them to handle the cross-town traffic. The Whitehall viaduct was built in 1901 when our population was only 90,000 and it is now 250,000. With our rapid growth in population how can the traffic be handled without additional arterials?

Friends and Foes Of Ship Subsidy Ready for Fight

All Indications at This Time Point to a Deluge of Amendments.

Washington, November 18.—Friends of the administration ship subsidy bill went to work today in active preparation for the fight over the measure which will begin next Tuesday in the house.

While there were indications of a deluge of amendments, opponents said they would not agree to the bill unless it was amended to strike out the provision which gives the merchant marine committee power to increase the mail payment to passenger ships to offset possible losses through dry regulations.

Provisions Opposed.
Some have indicated opposition to the bill's provisions announced that a republican move would be made to strike out the section under which shippers whose goods by designation are brought over in American vessels would receive a 5 cent income tax rebate on the amount of freight payments.

An effort also will be made it was stated to add a rider to the bill an amendment repealing the Panama Canal tolls for American ships. The bill repealing the tolls was passed more than a year ago by the senate, but it never reached the house for a vote.

Virtually the entire time of the special session which began Monday will be taken up with consideration of the ship subsidy bill. It will be put before the house Thursday under a rule calling for a vote on November 29. There will be three full days of general debate and three full days for amendments.

Oh, Boy! Two Stars Here!

When Miss Virginia Pearson made a personal appearance at Loew's Grand theater last week she was entertained royally. First, a Peerless sedan was placed at her disposal by the Lifsey-Smith-Hill company, 236 Peachtree street. Miss Pearson was billed at Loew's as "The Perfect Woman," so Julian Lifsey "up and says" that she should have a "perfect car," such as the Peerless, for her use while here. Miss Pearson was delighted with the Peerless, of course, and during her stay here managed to find time to pose for the above photograph.

Their Mutual Child

Great is the magic of love that can restore a man in an instant of time from an obsequious wreck to a thing of fire and resolution. A moment before Steve's only immediate object in life had been to stay quiet and keep out of the way as much as possible. He had never been more than a speck in the circumference of an angry woman, words intimated him as blows never did, especially the whirl of words which were at Lora Delane Porter's command in moments of emotion.

"And the young woman?" And the future Mrs. Dingie's, said Mrs. Porter, with an effort.

"Thank you, ma'am," said Steve, and released Mamie, who forthwith bolted from the room like a scared rabbit.

Steve had started to follow her when Mrs. Porter, magnificent woman though what was left from defeat, stopped him.

"Wait!" she said. "What you have said alters the matter in one respect; but there is another point. On your confession you have been guilty of the extremely serious offense of kidnapping a child boy."

"Drop me a line about it, ma'am," said Steve. "Me time's rather full just now."

He disappeared into the outer darkness after Mamie.

In the room they had left, Kirk and Ruth faced each other in silence. Lora Delane Porter eyed them grimly. It was the hour of her defeat, but she knew it before them. She was not at all surprised.

"Wait!" she said. "What you have said alters the matter in one respect; but there is another point. On your confession you have been guilty of the extremely serious offense of kidnapping a child boy."

"Drop me a line about it, ma'am," said Steve. "Me time's rather full just now."

BLACK WILL OPEN WITH AUTO SHOW

Buick Line of 16 Models to Be Shown on First Day in New Home on Whitehall Street.

D. C. (Pinkie) Black, Buick dealer, is giving a "house warming" out at his new building at Whitehall and Stewart avenue, this week in the form of an automobile show.

"Pinkie" became Buick dealer several months ago, opening in a temporary location at 267 Peachtree street. A permanent building was started immediately at Whitehall and Stewart avenue, and that building is now completed and ready for occupancy.

The entire Buick line of sixteen models will be shown at Mr. Black's new place of business starting Monday. This is said to be the first time that the entire line of sixteen Buick models have been assembled in the south since they were brought out last August. It is said that not even the Atlanta branch has been able to show all sixteen at once. This includes fourteen models in four and six cylinder motor cars and two delivery wagons.

"Pinkie" Black's new show room will be decorated for the occasion tomorrow, Virgil Shepard having been called in to perform at his best. No attempt will be made to sell automobiles, it is stated. Mr. Black merely inviting the public to come to his new stand, look it over and then see for themselves the entire Buick line.

Mr. Black is quite proud of his new building for several reasons. He believes that it is a model little building, being just the right size for a small automobile business. It has 18,000 square feet of floor space, the building being 60 by 200 feet and there are two floors. It is well designed and well lighted and the railroad tracks are right at the back door, which gives Mr. Black a huge advantage when it comes to unloading Buicks.

As it happens the building was designed by Mr. Black himself. "Pinkie" is a graduate of Georgia Tech where he finished with an "M. E." degree, so it can be seen that he has the qualifications for designing a building and having had the automobile experience, knew how to plan a building to the maximum of efficiency for the motor car dealer.

The Black establishment is the only retail automobile firm in the city of Atlanta, which has railroad facilities at the rear door. With this arrangement Buick motor cars can be rolled right out of the freight car into Black's garage and gone over thoroughly before they are sent on to travel any distance under their own power.

The entrance to the service building will be from Whitehall street.

In the same building with D. C. Black, facing Whitehall street, will be a branch of the Motor Tire Co. This will be known as branch No. 1, and the same line of Goodyear and Kelly-Springfield tires will be carried.

Ed. Holt of the Motor Tire company, feeling "Pinkie" Black's

New One in Oakland Family

During the present week, the Oakland Motor Car company, 270 Peachtree street, are having an enclosed car show in their sales rooms. One of the cars which is receiving quite a bit of attention is shown above. It is called a "five-passenger coupe," being of what is usually called the "coach" type. It has a Fisher body and an innovation is sprung in the slanting trunk on the rear end. This trunk contains a suit case in the large compartment.

"SPEEDWAY FOUR" IS LATEST STUTZ MODEL

Eight Different Body Styles Are in Complete Line—No Vital Changes Made.

Though it has been intimated for some time that the Stutz Motor Company, of Akron, Ohio, under its management, anticipated introducing a bigger program of production and sales than ever before, the first actual evidence of this proposed development came with the announcement of the new series Stutz Speedway Four, which will succeed that KLDH series that the company has been building for a little more than a year.

"No vital changes have been made in the Stutz product," says Austin Abbott, local Stutz dealer, "the new Speedway Four being simply a bit more mature and refined than its forerunner, which has been enjoying a greater vogue than almost any product so far offered by the company."

"Eight models are included in the line: A seven-passenger touring car, a four-passenger sportster, a two-passenger roadster, a de luxe bearcat roadster, a seven and a four-passenger California type model, a coupe, and a five-passenger custom-built sport sedan."

"The Stutz 'D-H' engine, which was embodied in the cars when the KLDH series was announced, empowers the new Speedway Four series. This motor, which experts have pronounced one of the most important advances in automotive engineering in recent years, has the characteristics to multi-cylinder power plants in point of flexibility, absence of vibration and acceleration, but because of its more simple and fundamental design it has the advantage of fewer parts and greater accessibility.

Developing more than 80 horsepower with a speed range in high from 5 to more than 60 miles per hour, the Stutz 'D-H' engine in its present advanced state shows an increase of 45 per cent in torque, 20 per cent greater fuel economy and 65 per cent more power than its predecessor, the series 'K' power plant.

"Official" of the Stutz series assure that the announcement of the new series Speedway Four is the forerunner of other important announcements of the company which will be made public about January 1."

CHILDREN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS DURING SATURDAY

Three children, all under 10 years of age, were hurt in automobile accidents Saturday. They all were treated at Grady hospital and later sent to their homes.

Cleva Bolling, aged 8, 24 West Baker street, running in front of her home, was struck by a car driven by H. L. Varnedoe, 15 West Harris street. She received several bad lacerations. Varnedoe was placed under arrest, charged with recklessness.

Melvin Kennerly, 71 King street, aged 7, was struck by a car as he was crossing Grant street at Decatur street. The driver, D. W. Bruce, of Buford, Ga., reported the incident to the police after he had taken the child to the hospital. He was not arrested.

Jesse L. Waters, 132 Windsor street, was badly bruised when hit by a car driven by W. C. Hall, 18 Decatur street. Hall stopped to take the child to the hospital. The police who investigated the accident later placed Hall under arrest, on a reckless driving charge.

SHACKLEFORD OPENS UP ON WHITEHALL STREET

New Chevrolet Station Makes Bow, But Will Not Handle Sales Until After Jan. 1.

The Shackleford Chevrolet company will open their doors at 444 Whitehall street, just across the street from the Atlanta branch of the Chevrolet Motor company, on Monday morning.

C. B. Shackleford, formerly connected with the Woodward Motor company, local Chevrolet dealers, is general manager of the new concern.

Neither cold, heat, rain nor snow can mar a "Lyk-Glas" finish.

We re-finish a job in three days—a complete burn-off in six days.

You are not deprived of your car for an indefinite period of time.

The essential features and secret formulae of the "LYK-GLAS" System are fully protected by patents and cannot be used by any but an authorized "LYK-GLAS" plant.

Prior to his connection with the Woodward organization, Mr. Shackleford was associated with the retail store of the Chevrolet Motor company, on Peachtree street.

The Shackleford Chevrolet company will be ready for service work on Monday morning, according to Mr. Shackleford, but will not be able to handle the sales on Chevrolet until after January 1.

"There is such a tremendous demand for Chevrolet cars at the present time that the factory has its hands full in delivering cars to the old, established dealers," said Mr. Shackleford. "We signed a contract as a Chevrolet dealer for January 1, 1923, because after that time, new factories that the Chevrolet Motor company are now building will be in production and more cars will be available. Rather than wait until January 1 to go into business, however, we opened our little shop and will handle service on Chevrolet cars until such time as we are able to make sales. We have a competent service organization, having a good staff of skilled mechanics and will handle the work carefully and promptly. We will have a complete stock of parts and believe that the factory branch will be able to give the best service of any needed parts."

Mr. Shackleford says that his mechanics are going to pride themselves on one point—not that a car is going out of their garage with the steering wheel coated with grease and dirt.

The manager of a manufacturing plant in Cleveland has arranged a "country estate" on the roof of his factory.

FOREIGN PROPAGANDA MENACES U.S. COTTON

Dr. Soule, Back From Brazil Conference, Says Europe Wants to Crush Price.

ATLANTA, Ga., November 18.—(Special)—Propaganda is being spread in Brazil by foreign countries in an effort to produce a great surplus of cotton in that country and lower the price in the United States. Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, declared here Saturday upon his return from the world cotton congress at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

The report was made by the English delegates that the United States could not hope to continue to supply the world with cotton on account of the ravages of the boll weevil, but I made it plain that by use of calcium arsenite and improved methods of production, that the United States will continue to lead the world in cotton production, and that they could look to the country to expect an adequate supply of raw goods.

The world cotton congress, which was composed of delegates from England, Belgium, Switzerland, Portugal, America and all South American countries, considered in great detail the problems of cotton production and sources of supplies.

Dr. Soule was a representative from the United States and explained the cotton situation in America and its relation to the manufacturing interests throughout the world. He stated with much emphasis that America was not out of cotton production as had been reported, but would continue to produce a normal crop.

There is a growing propaganda in Brazil promoted by the English spinners, stated Dr. Soule, to increase the cotton production so as to supply not only the needs of Brazil but outside countries as well. The manufacturers hope to get a cheap supply of raw cotton from South American countries and are encouraging increased production.

Brazil Survey Planned.

The Brazilian government has employed Arno S. Pearce, general secretary of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners, Manchester, England, to conduct a survey of the Brazilian provinces to see if cotton can be grown successfully throughout the country. Mr. Pearce has just written a book on Brazilian cotton to awaken the people to its possibilities and it is being distributed all over the country.

Dr. Soule says America faces the proposition of competition from South America in cotton production in the future. Brazil has tremendous territories in which cotton can be grown successfully.

Dr. Soule was elected vice president of the world's cotton congress and invited the conference to hold its next session in America. The invitation was accepted.

BY GEORGE BIGGERS

Busy were the truck men during the bottlers' convention.

Each truck company had a special exhibit at the exposition, showing special bottled bodies.

Everybody was out after the business and "may the devil take the hindmost."

There were special buses running to and fro; dinners and the like; barbecues; everything to grab the attention of the bottler and get him into their own place of business.

The big feed among the truck people was staged by the White company on Friday afternoon. They pitched a barbecue out at the plant and about 2,000 people turned out. Big success!

J. W. Spaulding, assistant advertising manager of the White company, was in attendance. He rushed down from Cleveland to be in on the big dinners and compile some data for speacial advertising.

Roy Moran, a member of the Atlanta baseball club in days gone by, has joined the sales forces of the Yarborough Motor company and is selling Studebakers now. He has linked up with Carl Thompson's live wire crowd and they are going to it with a zest.

Colin Campbell, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, was a visitor in Atlanta. Frank Cliff Clay, branch manager here, was down in Florida last week, but got back in town in time to meet his chief.

Chevrolet is planning an increased production for next year. Additional factories are being built and will be ready to do business by January 1. Then is when the Chevrolet production will increase materially.

J. W. Doolittle, formerly connected with the Yarborough Motor company, is now handling the territories of the Fisher Sales company. Mr. Doolittle will work Georgia on the Star and Durant line.

J. W. Whitley, factory representative of the Rickenbacker Motor company, spent a few days in Atlanta last week. He is training the men south for Rickenbacker and has his hands full with such a big territory. Whitley states that he is having great success throughout the south and that his dealers are doing very well, indeed.

M. W. Lamar has been made manager of the used car department of Packard Enterprises, according to an announcement made yesterday by Harry Sommers, general manager. Mr. Lamar has been with Packard for a number of years and "knows his stuff."

Rufus Barnett, formerly in the tire business in Atlanta, is now connected with the Forison Motor company, selling Fords, Lincolns and Fords. Rufus is one of the old-timers in the automobile business and doubt, his many friends will be glad to know where he is located now.

Enclosed car show at Oakland; automobile show with sixteen living models in line at "Pinky" Black's; Shackelford opening up a Chevrolet automobile—plenty of things popping in the automobile business this week.

URBAN LEAGUE WEEKLY BULLETIN

The health meeting under the auspices of the health committee of the Y. W. C. A. held in the auditorium theater, Sunday afternoon, was a successful event from the point of view of the children reached and the character of the health messages presented by the different speakers.

The Social Workers' association held their first meeting of the season under the reorganization program at Big Bethel A. M. E. church, Tuesday noon. This meeting took on the character of a luncheon discussion. The program was made up of representations of the various social service welfare organizations in the city that have colored persons included in their working personnel. A., Travelers' Aid Association, Charities, Interracial Association, Neighborhood Union, Red Cross and City nurses, an address from Professor E. F. Fraser, director of the social service school at Morehouse college, concluded the program. Director Fraser spoke in high terms of the work of the Social Service association, standardizing and publicizing social welfare among colored people, not only in Atlanta, but in the south through the moral co-operation in perpetuating and making prominent the school of social service now operating at Morehouse college. The meeting was very largely attended and discussed with great interest with enthusiasm and good cheer.

Jesse O. Thomas, field secretary of the National Urban League, left the city to attend the State Baptist convention held in Columbus, Ga. From there he plans to go to Tuskegee before returning to the city.

The above mentioned cities qualified.

CHLOROFORM THIEF FOILED AT AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., November 18.—(Special)—Friday night a white man entered the sleeping quarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Green street. He had chloroformed two of the sleeping roomers when another of the roomers awoke, the result of a sudden illness.

The awakened young woman gave the alarm and the intruder left the building and rode safely away. No report was made to the police department that the thief carried away any property.

NEGRO WHO SLEW FOREMAN OF FARM SOUGHT BY POSSE

AUGUSTA, Ga., November 18.—(Special)—News reached the city tonight that a sheriff's posse is engaged in a man-hunt near the Columbia county line for Quincey Robinson, a negro, who last night, on the John Turner place, killed E. Fountain, white.

He stabbed the foreman in the left side with a knife, breaking two ribs and penetrating the lung. Fountain died in a few moments.

The negro escaped and when last seen was making his way in the direction of Harlem. Fountain has a family and was highly regarded in his community.

BIG SYRUP OUTPUT EXPECTED IN THOMAS

THOMASVILLE, Ga., November 18.—(Special)—Cane grindings are in order in south Georgia just now, and the farms around the county are busy places, as well as the plants.

Much of the syrup of the 1922 crop is being shipped from Cairo, and, according to reports, about 1,500 barrels have already been shipped.

Today's shipment will make the count much larger. A little more than forty cents is being received, which, compared to last year, is a splendid price. Everywhere the quality of the syrup is better and reported to be above the average.

Lessons to Be Learned At the Baby Clinic

Many valuable lessons are to be pointed out in the establishment of a free clinic for babies and children, in the Central Presbyterian church, which is in co-operation with the Atlanta chapter, American Red Cross.

It is here that sickly infants receive medical treatment, their suffering is relieved, and health restored through this particular service, which is in operation every Tuesday and Friday afternoon in the church on Washington street.

Parents who are not financially able to pay for medical attention at home, are being given every possible attention for their children with the aid of competent doctors and nurses, who are on duty all afternoon.

If we pause to consider just what this means to child life and to the mothers, we can at once realize that the child has a wonderful opportunity to grow into a healthy, normal adult, while the mother has contentment of mind, and a profound gratitude, in the fact that she is not oppressed by money matters, in order to meet the doctor's and nurse's fee and the drug bills, and feels assured that her child is being cared for in exactly the same careful manner as is the rich's mother's child.

A physical examination is made of each child, and that is recorded. The weight of the child is also tabulated, and a reference is made to this schedule with each treatment given.

By this method the progress, and the reason, should there be no improvement in the condition of the patient, are both made perfectly clear to physician, nurse and mother.

Wherever there is a special case which makes the step necessary, a nurse visits the home of the child to instruct the mother exactly how to carry out the treatment prescribed for the case. It is here, too, that the mother is being taught how to guard her child's health, for physician and nurse take her into their plan in their relief program, and make her feel that upon her shoulders rests her child's welfare, and that her assistance and help far exceeds the good they can render, if she abides by their advice and instruction.

Through the channels of the free clinic, faith and hope are held out to the mother who is worried over her sick child. She appreciates and believes in the generosity of humanity when she sees her baby bloom in health and happiness.

One of the most engaging influences of this free clinic also expresses itself upon her, in the fact that she is not made to feel she is an object of charity.

The clinic entails an enormous expense upon the church, which through its relief programs furnishes prescriptions, drugs and supplies quantities of milk for the babies. A phase of work such as this should interest every public spirited citizen in Atlanta to aid in the maintenance thereof.

Home Park P.T.A. Hears Talk by Mrs. R. L. Turman

An unusually interesting meeting of Home Park Parent-Teacher association was held on Wednesday afternoon, November 15, at the school.

Mrs. R. L. Turman, chairman for the eighth ward of the League of Women Voters, made a talk on voting, presenting the subject from a new angle and giving many new ideas. Among other things, she said:

"There are just as many reasons why a woman should vote as why men should. Do you believe in a democracy, in a government by, or for, the people? If so, are women people? The supreme court has decided that they are, and I think we will all agree with that authority."

Mrs. R. L. McCollum, president of Atlanta Parent-Teacher council, also talked to the members, explaining the vital need for the parent-teacher work and the importance of every mother with children in school attending the meetings and doing each her share toward better conditions for children everywhere.

Mrs. McCollum also referred to the candidacy of Mrs. Annie T. Wise, goodwill candidate of the P.T.A., the public schools, the Woman's club and the Teachers' association, mentioning Mrs. Wise's long and devoted service in the schools, the high standing of the school, the Commercial high and her knowledge of languages and other qualifications as a goodwill candidate.

Reports were made by the following chairmen: Mrs. L. S. Bragg, building and grounds, reported that the hedges were to be reset on sections of the grounds, and the new fence was being purchased.

A report was made for Mrs. Blackstock, relief chairman, who was ill, stating that a hope chest was being completed to furnish necessary clothing to children who otherwise could not attend school. Mrs. J. L. Hudson, attendance chairman, reported that there were no schools of school age in her district out of 100.

Miss Henderson reported that the teachers who would co-operate in every way in making the candy-pulling, planned for November 22, a great success; Mrs. Boyce, chairman of the improvement committee, reported that the community work had been initiated and organized to park Calhoun street in the near future, the work having been delayed because of the impossibility of getting stone transported, owing to the shortage of flat cars, also that efforts were being made by Alderman Watkins to have sand put out on the school yard, as requested by the P.T.A.

The fourth grade children gave a very pretty dance to music.

Mrs. Freeman, the president, read a letter which she had written to Superintendent Sutton, expressing the appreciation of Home Park for all his efforts in behalf of the children of Atlanta.

Mrs. Wilson Heads Kirkwood Meeting.

The Kirkwood P.T.A. met Wednesday, November 15, at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. A. I. Wilson, the new president, presiding.

Mrs. R. A. Golden was elected secretary to fill the vacancy made by the death of Mrs. J. W. Templeton.

The following committees were appointed: December 1 and 2, and the delegates will include learned men and women from every part of the United States.

Addresses will be made by prominent specialists in the teaching of English, and the program will be of decidedly interesting features.

Lokout Mountain Missionary Ridge and Chickamauga park will be visited by those attending the conference, which will be of historic valuation to the organization.

Resolved: First. That the Parent-Teacher association of Kirkwood school has suffered a great loss in the death of one of its most valued members. That we offer to her loved ones our sincerest and tenderest sympathies.

Third. That we commend her life to all one worthy of emulation, and trust that some one, receiving inspiration from it, may take up the work which she has laid down, and do it as faithfully as she did.

Fourth. That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this organization, a copy to be sent to the bereaved family, and a copy to be published in the Atlanta Constitution.

MRS. A. I. BRANCHAN, chairman.

MRS. J. L. MURPHY.

Highland P.T.A. to Send Out Carolers On Christmas Eve

The combined business and social meeting of Highland Parent-Teacher association on Wednesday afternoon was an occasion of interest and enjoyment.

Mrs. Hill Huffman made report of the Halloween party, saying that both socially and financially the party was a splendid success. Many mothers and their children came and had a good time. The proceeds from the party amounted to $105.50. A rising vote of appreciation was given Mrs. Huffman by the association.

Mrs. Kamper, of the grounds committee, reported that the stone wall which was almost complete, the wall which is 630 feet in length, is being built by the city at a cost of $15,000. When it is finished and the yard is graded, the committee plans to have a flower garden eight feet wide extending the length of the wall and filled with flowers and shrubs.

The combined plan for the school children, outlined by Mrs. W. D. Stayton, the efficient chairman for sandwiches. She reported a hearty response from all mothers.

For the Red Cross roll call Mrs. Babcock made report, that though the booth sponsored by the Highland P.T.A. 112 members had been enrolled, 100 percent.

In answer to an appeal for Tallulah Falls school, the association voted $25 to this worthy mountain school.

Ben Watkins brought to the meeting a request for Christmas carol bands. A number of ladies volunteered to make bands for the carolers, and plans are being made to send to many bands of carolers on Christmas eve.

Mrs. Clark, for the citizenship committee, urged that all women attend the series of studies on law, which the Atlanta P.T.A. citizenship committee provides each month at the capital.

By unanimous vote, Mrs. Annie T. Wise, of the Commercial High school, was endorsed as a candidate for the good will visit to France.

A resolution was passed requesting that personal letters be sent to Superintendent W. A. Sutton expressing to him the esteem and appreciation of the Kirkwood P.T.A.

Dr. Davison then addressed the meeting. In a short, but interesting talk, he presented the vital subject, "Prevention of Cancer."

The fourth grade children gave a very pretty dance to music.

Mrs. Freeman, the president, read a letter which she had written to Superintendent Sutton, expressing the appreciation of Home Park for all his efforts in behalf of the children of Atlanta.

N. C. of T. E. to Meet In Chattanooga.

The National Council of Teachers in English will hold the first meeting in a southern city, Chattanooga, Tenn., since its organization last year.

The convention dates are December 1 and 2, and the delegates will include learned men and women from every part of the United States.

A committee was appointed to select a pin, suggesting the emblem of the tree which appears on the title page of Child Welfare Magazine—the tree to be gold on a background of blue.

Upon request of Columbia university, the national executive secretary already have federations of Parent-Teacher associations and it is expected next spring to form a Canadian congress. It is interesting to note that an international organization has been formed between the Canadian sister cities of Detroit, recently formed and is now staging a music contest.

The principal, Miss Mangum, stated that a new moving picture machine had been secured for the school and that in the evenings there would be movies at the school auditorium.

A numerical report of the executive secretary's office for the month shows a highly desirable P.T.A. leaflets are thought to be. More and more libraries are asking for sets to be loaned to them to form Parent-Teacher associations. These requests come from public and college libraries alike:

This organization is one of the active parent-teacher associations in the city. It has recently organized for its members a dress-making class, that meets at 3:30 o'clock every Thursday afternoon at the Fulton High school. Efforts are being concentrated now on plans for a benefit entertainment to be given December 9, to raise money for a moving picture machine for the school. Over 500 children attend the Georgia avenue school, and the officers are eager to get the mother of every child interested in the worth-while work that is being done by the P.T.A.

P.T.A. National Board Meeting Sends Interesting Notes

The president of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, Mrs. Milton F. Higgins, is one of a committee of 200 cooperatives with Will Hays in the interest of better films.

The National Congress of Mothers and P.T.A. will convene in Louisville, Ky., the week of April 23.

Plans are on foot for a child welfare building at the sesquicentennial of Washington.

Women's Conventions Good Points and Bad

Attendance upon some ten or twelve conventions of women in the past year has afforded opportunity for observations which are both flattering and unflattering to women's methods in organization and in convention assembled. Perhaps it will do no harm to mention some of both. Even criticism, when it is constructive, cannot offend the fair minded; and in truth, the burden of comment must be praise for the women's conventions, certainly in comparison with meetings of men.

First, a remarkably large proportion of the women in organization are good speakers. (There is room for sarcastic comment here, of course, that they begin talking early and keep themselves in good practice.) A surprising number of them throw their voices out well and apparently don't have stage fright. They are learning rapidly to do away with the reading of papers. Observation has taught them that the woman who appears on a platform with a sheaf of papers or even a sheet, prejudices her audience to start with. They get restless. Even if the reader does not bury her head in the papers so that only the people in the first two rows of seats can hear her, yet when she reads she loses the value of direct conference with her audience. She is not talking to them. She is reading something from a paper, and the audience feels that they can do that at home without going to a meeting.

Then women are, many of them, really good raconteurs. It is traditional that a woman always forgets the point of her story, or tells it too soon. But it is tradition, not proved by the facts. Many women can tell a good platform story and tell it well.

Few women, however, know how to condense what they have to say. Early in a convention, when everybody is comparatively fresh and amiable, the audience may be able fairly well to restrain its impatience when a woman speaker rambles all around the lot to get to the spot which is her objective. But when the convention is drawing to a close, unfinished business has piled up, and many women are waiting anxiously for their turn to put over maybe one of the biggest concerns of the organization or at least to give such report as will convince their constituents that they have attended to their job, then it is maddening, not to say heart rending to have a woman wait until she gets to the platform to remove her gloves, or to find that her lorgnette is inextricably twisted in the face on her gown, or to start out with a long dissertation on how impossible it is to tell all she has to tell in the short time allotted to her, or how she has looked forward to this convention and what it has meant to her individually in inspiration, etc.

Closely related to her is the woman who is plainly not interested in any other feature of a program except her own contribution. She ratifies her own papers while other women are speaking, she consults other women on the platform or sits around in the body of the house to whisper with other women, and indicates by the way she acts and what she says when she gets to the center of the stage that she has absolutely no organization perspective. In other words, she cannot see her own work fit into the program of the organization. It is a good thing for every woman to throw the weight of her interest and her influence into the particular thing she is responsible for, but while a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, it is well to remember that that main purpose of the links is to make a chain.

The business of our long reports can be handled fairly well by a presiding officer who will stick to the letter of the law. When she lets a woman go over her time, with a mistaken idea of kindness to that woman or reluctance to offend her, she is not being kind to the women whose places come after her on the program, and who may be prepared to give reports or messages of much more value to the convention at large.

The fair and practical thing is to have a perfectly heartless and adamanitine timekeeper who stops each speaker when her time is up.

Still more effectual is the method of saving time used by some of the men's scientific societies. Every paper which is to provide subject for discussion in the convention must be submitted to the general executive committee several months before hand. Copies of the paper are sent for study to the members of the particular group specializing in this line, and then when they reach the convention, the author does not read his paper but gives a synopsis of it—emphasizes his points and questions and exchange of views follow. This method is already followed by most women's organizations where there is a proposed change in the constitution or by-laws. It is expensive, but it is tremendously educational.

Most important of all is the matter of haphazard approval or endorsement. Measures or movements have been heard endorsed by women's organizations which are not only no real concern or business of that organization, but are actually contrary to the principles of the organization.

Indeed, the evils and the growth of this condition are so bad that they will be treated in a later comment as a subject by itself.

To close with a favorable observation, women are more faithful in their attendance on convention sessions than men are. When men are bored, they leave. Women stay on and endure. Whether it is from a case of duty or for fear they will miss something, it would be hard to say; but they are faithful on the job.

Mrs. Hays Speaks On Interests Of Federation

The busy rounds of a state federation are suggested in the program of Mrs. J. E. Hays, Georgia's president, for almost any week.

For instance, she was the guest in Ocilla recently of Mrs. Poult, president of the Ocilla Woman's club, where she spoke at a meeting of the club and attended the Ocilla flower show.

From there she went to Cordele, addressing a night meeting of the teachers and faculty of the high school, the county board of education and the county school superintendents of the third congressional district. She was the guest while in Cordele of Mrs. Max E. Land.

She spent the week-end in Tifton, the guest of Mrs. Nellie Peters, Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Walter Purdon, Saturday to Sparks, Ga., where they were guests of Mrs. Walter Purdon, for a meeting of the Sparks Woman's club. On this occasion there were representatives also from a number of clubs in surrounding towns and library extension was the principal subject for discussion.

On December 1 Mrs. Hays will be the guest of Mrs. R. H. Heinsohn in Sylvester for a meeting of the Woman's club there.

December 6-7 are the dates for the meeting of the southeastern council of federated clubs of which Mrs. J. E. Hays is president. It will be held in Pinehurst, N. C. Mrs. Hays will go, and probably Mrs. Albert Thornton, Mrs. Sproule Lyons, Mrs. Samuel Imman of Atlanta; Mrs. Frank Lawson, of Dublin; Mrs. Albert P. Hill, of Greenville; Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and others.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid avar; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid avar in any drug store in four ounces in all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—(adv.)

Men Interested In Woman's Work In Sixth District

The working power of the women of the sixth district is unlimited and with that working power put into action they have shown great ability in organization and concentrated work. It is said that the work of the women of the federation did not realize their power and that it was probably well that they did not. This is equally true of the branch of the federation located in the sixth district of Georgia. A plan is laid, a movement is started and they all pull together until the movement is won. Such movement of importance is kept before the district and when they have seen it completed another is launched. The secret of success in the sixth district is co-operation.

Through the working power of the women of our district held the greatest women's convention in the state. It was a one-day session held at Zebulon and is unparalleled in attendance of delegates and also in interest and enthusiasm of men. By holding only one day everybody could go. The number of delegates was 475 and 50 men. The women's interest in our work, their presence all the time, of these men have been attending these sessions for five years. The program was carefully planned, the speakers were limited in time and every woman was at her post ready to respond. By the end of the day the whole work of the convention had been completed.

Our work in the sixth district has ever been undertaken in behalf of the "Made in Georgia" campaign. It is through club work that our people are learning to know and to appreciate the wonderful resources of Georgia. The sixth district ranks second in the observance of "Made in Georgia" week this year.

The women's clubs of Pike County were the promoters of the Pike County centennial fair held at Zebulon September 27, 28 and 29. It was an accomplishment that would have been deemed impossible in the prosperous times of 1914. Some 15,000 people coming day, consisting of over 40 floats. It was said by all who saw it to be a real wonder. The co-operation of the women's clubs made a success of what seemed to be an impossibility and stunned the thousands of visitors with admiration. This is but an illustration of the work done by county clubs working as a unit in the sixth district this year.

Five new clubs have been added to our already splendid roll. Two of these are county community clubs.

One of our primary objects for the next year is to "make the sixth district a great place to live." It is our purpose to organize music clubs and particularly junior music clubs in every town in the district. There are now eight music clubs in the district while two years ago we had but one.

The student aid has attracted great interest in the sixth district, particularly among the students, who are giving scholarships. One club, the White House club, heard of business scholarships and student aid for the first time at their first meeting two months ago. Already they have placed a girl in these departments. The fact that the sixth district is getting prominent in industry and labor is reflected in our interests.

In every division of work of the federation the sixth has measured up, and promises even better things for the future.

If the clubwomen know," says Mrs. Walraven, "they will not dare to interest them in their 1,500 patients, who either have no living relatives or their relatives are financially unable to afford them the many luxuries that other patients enjoy.

The ages of these children are from about 6 years to 80 years. During all the years they have been (and some of them have been there over 30 years) they have never, 'till last Christmas, received any gift from the outside world. Do you not think this institution should be accorded the same recognition of loving care and interest that other institutions receive?

"These dear children are practically ignorant of the world. With the exception of our ignorance of the fact that we could cast out the rays of sunlight into their dead lives and that many of them are mentally capable of enjoying the pleasures of life.

"I have been asked, 'Will the patients receive what is sent them? Yes. After last Christmas I had the pleasure of accompanying Mrs. Jones, who is the author of the book, as is done throughout the state, which will end in a special program on December 6 when every club member is expected to contribute one or more books to the cause. A list of books especially desired in the schools here will be published at an early date.

On Armistice day the club sponsored the sale of poppies, the proceeds to go to the local American Legion post.

A request from Mrs. Thomas Winter, president of the Federated clubs, asking for figures showing the number of club women who were registered and voted on Tuesday, showed the club was being almost 100 per cent faithful, whether club members or not.

On December 1 Mrs. Hays will be the guest of Mrs. R. H. Heinsohn in Sylvester for a meeting of the Woman's club there.

December 6-7 are the dates for the meeting of the southeastern council of federated clubs of which Mrs. J. E. Hays is president. It will be held in Pinehurst, N. C. Mrs. Hays will go, and probably Mrs. Albert Thornton, Mrs. Sproule Lyons, Mrs. Samuel Imman of Atlanta; Mrs. Frank Lawson, of Dublin; Mrs. Albert P. Hill, of Greenville; Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and others.

Self-Development In Unselfish Work, Says Mrs. Akers

Mrs. Albert T. Akers, president of the fifth district federation in her three-months' address at the state convention in Athens laid special stress on the reaction upon the worker that is fed into federated club activities.

"To be a woman," said Mrs. Akers, "is indeed the grandest heritage, and while it is freighted with many honors, joys and privileges, it is also laden with many and varied responsibilities."

After a guessing contest, Mrs. Akers was presented a beautiful piece of lingerie.

The members include: Misses Lula Ham, Anna Gandy, Jessie Deibert, Daisey Allen, Carrie Roberts, Frank Taylor, Catherine Drewry, Sophie Mullany, Grace Owens, Hatlie Henderson, Frances B. Daniel, Madames Merle Hanson, O. L. Rudasill, J. A. Walker, Hubbard Alfred, Alfrey, M. Martin, Barfield, W. Bailey, G. C. Mathis, Mrs. R. L. Riddle, Mrs. Niles, Annie Estes, Agnew, Rose Holder, Fannie Evans, R. E. Harrell and W. F. Haroldson.

There is economy in a few steps around the corner.

This is certainly true of the women of the fifth district. To be better citizens and to help others to enjoy the blessings of our country is our aim. To aid in education, sanitation, legislation, and transportation; to encourage and cultivate expression in music, fine arts and domestic art; to labor for the preservation of our forests and natural resources; to cultivate the habit of good reading by putting good books in the reach of all; to sponsor wholesome recreation and diversion; and to co-operate for the betterment of school and home.

"Our 62 clubs are most active along all these lines, and are planning re-newed effort in their fall programs, and as our standing and never-failing obligation as federation women, we have the National Falls school aid fund with its ever-growing and never-ending benefit; and last but not least, the Ella F. White endowment, which I should like to see wiped from the slate of the fifth district this year.

"So when we speak of 'woman as a working power,' I feel that we are speaking of every woman in every church in the fifth district and while these women have accomplished much in the past, I feel that, with our broader vision and with each renewed effort we shall go forward, onward and upward to a larger and fuller accomplishment."

GREENWICH FOLLIES AT ATLANTA THEATER

Second Production of Gay and Artistic Revue Opens Engagement Thursday.

On Thursday the second annual production of that gayest and most artistic of revues, the Greenwich Village Follies will be seen at the Atlanta theater, when it will begin an engagement of three nights and Saturday matinee.

Each year the Bohemians, incorporated, produce a Greenwich Village Follies at the Greenwich Village theater in New York. The "Follies" that comes here played all of last season at the Greenwich Village and Shubert theaters in New York. It is even said to surpass the first of the seasons, which were reported for the future it created when shown a little more than a year ago.

The Greenwich Village Follies is a smartly designed and executed spectacle, with its rich drapes and hangings, its motif curtains, its wizard lighting effects, its daring costumes and unusual settings. It is directed and staged by John Murray Anderson—the same imaginative genius who created the first of the "Follies"—and to him goes the credit for its rare artistry and exceptional beauty. The "Follies" has a naive grace and whimsical charm that sets it quite apart from its fellows. John Murray Anderson never permits his revue to drop into the stale haphazard routine that identifies the great run of musical comedies. There is not a touch a stridency, garishness or rattle in the three-hour entertainment.

The personnel of the first and antiannual are the same that made the "Follies" the vogue of the sophisticated in New York and Chicago. Conspicuous among them are Lou Powers, the infinite comedian; Rogers and Coleman, with their hilarious travesty on the gossipy and intriguing "Isle"; Lynn and Longwood with their rural and exceptional singing; the droll Crawford Sisters and their equally droll songs and dances; Nuova and Nelle, who might have wandered in off the steppes, so barbarous are their whirling Russian dances in the "Stampede"; George E. Dunn, Arthur Hadley, Abbott Adams, George Schiller, Robert G. Dare, Rosa Rosario, Edward and Annie Pritchard and the West Sisters.

"TANGERINE" COMING.

Thanksgiving week at the Atlanta theater will be marked by the coming of "Tangerine," the antiannual different from the one which ran a solid year at the New York Casino, and which comes with a fine record of achievement on its southern tour. No musical play produced in New York in recent years has attracted wider attention, not only for its whimsically improbable story, but also for its lovely music and the eighteen numbers that adorn the Carlo-Sanders score, a round dozen have found their way to the recording devices and are numbered among the best sellers of music counters. Of these perhaps "Sweet Lady," "In Our Mountain Bower," "Isle of Tangerine" and "Atta Baby" have become best sellers. To give full value to the score a number of principal musicians are carried with the company. The organization is a large one, and the cast includes Loretta Sheridan, a beautiful and gifted soprano; Vincent Sullivan, the handsome tenor; Remont, leading man with "How D'You Know"; Fielder, a clever comedian who will be seen as king of the Isle of Tangerine; Salie Keith, George Phelps, Rebekah Weaver, George Eising, Lillian Young, Karl Neilson, William E. Nun, the Ritz quartet and a chorus said to have been carefully selected by Mr. Carter himself, not only for its beauty but for their ability to sing the music as it should be sung. Incidentally Carle Carlton was the sponsor for "Irene" so well and pleasantly remembered as one of the outstanding hits of many years, and it is declared that in "Tangerine" he has equal record in making for the attractiveness of this later work. Matinées are to be given at the Atlanta on Wednesday, Thursday (Thanksgiving day), and Saturday during the engagement, and the mail order sale of seats is now progressing. The regular box office sale will begin on Thursday morning.

Our earth's volume is 260,000,000 cubic miles.

FIRST OF UNIT SHOWS OPENS WEEK AT LOEW'S

Vaudeville Acts Combine in Miniature Musical Comedy as Feature.

The first of the big unit shows to be produced for the Loew circuit, this one by Lew Cantor, who has sponsored many of the girl and big acts seen at Loew's Grand, will be the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday attraction at that house.

There are five numbers in all including four vaudeville acts in their specialties, and then their combined efforts in an act that runs about 40 minutes and called "You'd Be Surprised," from which the unit takes its name.

Clayton and Lennie, the English chappie and his friend, funnier than ever, and with a greater number of gags and furnished, will offer some new stories and songs, using, of course, the apparent stupidity and inability of the Englishman to appreciate American jokes and sport.

A couple that are graduates of musical comedy, Gene Mason and Fay Cole, pleased with youth and good looks and plenty of spirit, will offer a skit called "Rain and Sunshine."

Their chatter is snappy and original, productive of much good humor that leads to a kissing bit that will be considered a classic.

Dave Bernie, with Remont and Bowers, two charming little ladies, will offer piano, step and songs, and a glib repartee. Remont and Bowers, bringing magic and illusion, will complete the four vaudeville numbers.

The unit feature is beautifully set, gorgeously costumed with good music, catchy tunes, and a story running through it. There are dances and loads of laughs, a sort of miniature musical comedy with the farce and satire thrown in, and with real artists, each of the cast is a standard one, whose ability has been tried and tested.

"You'd Be Surprised" lives up to its name, for it is real entertainment and a forerunner of the others to come.

The feature of the screen bill is Shirley Mason in "The New Teacher."

Polecats and weasels are very numerous in Palestine.

At the Vaudeville Houses

JOE BENNETT HEADS BILL AT THE LYRIC

Former Musical Comedy Star Now, Specializes in Eccentric Numbers.

Joe Bennett, the lad who features the bill at Keith's Lyric for the first half of the coming week, is what is known in ordinary parlance as a "dancin' fool." Those who saw him as a member of the team of Bennett and Richards will vouch for that—will those who saw him in his musical comedy days.

Joe is coming to Atlanta alone, and his skipping nuttiness, is said to be one of the funniest bits of the year. There is also a precious situation concerning a glib young man in a derby hat.

"Not much pathos in this picture," one reviewer describes it. Edna Purviance, his perennial leading lady, again has the chief feminine role.

In the second half of the bill are such attractions as Alice Thornton and Tom Squires, who have taken a barrel of fun called "In the Swim," and mixed their own talents with it for the happy benefit of humanity in general. Bits of song and dance are the chiefest components parts of the bill. Then, too, on the first of the week's bills, the Countess Verona, who is an accomplished artist with a quaint musical instrument called the cimbalon.

Most appeal for many, however, will be found in the appearance of Sultan, the educated horse, presented by Miss Edna Purviance. The ability of Sultan to understand talk is a source of wonder to all who have seen him. He is the sort of horse that made "Black Beauty" a classic, because he is the typification of all that is noble and good in horse flesh, observed humanly and impartially. The act for the rest of the day is rounded off by Remont and company, wherein the dexterity of the most famous of Europe's jugglers is blended nicely with a sense of humor that takes advantage of each opportunity.

The latter half of the week will be led by "Babies," an original satirical farce. On the same bill are Marie Cavanaugh and company, a splendid singing and dancing act; Gilbert Wells a most eccentric comedian; the Don Sisters, with the sort of music that charms, and the Lorrays with a novel surprise.

The Eight-Hour Face.
Lou Chaney, the screen character actor of a thousand faces, now playing in the Metro-SU version of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," knows an ex-director who is considered somewhat of a bore. This director button-holed Chaney and began at a gathering one evening, going continually in his account from bad to worse.

"They foreclosed the mortgage," he said. "They threw us out. My mother-in-law got scarlet fever. My butler absconded with the silver. My wife ran away with the chauffeur. My son became a classical dancer."

Chaney stood unmoved throughout the recital. "He has a heart of stone," the director complained to others in the party.

"Directors order my face around so much before the camera," said Chaney, "that something awful will have to happen to a director before I'll register anything for him after working hours."

"HOUSE OF GLASS" AT THE FORSYTH THEATER

have succeeded in holding an audience under the spell of suspense that enters into the unfolding of the plot in "The House of Glass," the heroine of which is released after its triumphant New York run, will be the attraction at the Forsyth theater this week.

It is a story of a woman's love, sacrifice, suffering and final emancipation from bondage. It is at all times thrilling and intensely emotional, yet there is a touch of comedy introduced which acts as a relief to the overstrained sympathy that goes out to the innocent victim of the remarkable chain of circumstances that are so graphically related in "The House of Glass."

The Forsyth Players are sparing no pains to make "House of Glass" an unusual one, and Miss Belle Bennett, the talented leading lady of the company, has one of the biggest opportunities of her stage career to make a hit.

REID IN "CLARENCE" ON SCREEN AT HOWARD

Harl Smith's Novelty Jazz Orchestra Added Attraction in Cabaret Prologue.

Harl Smith's famous novelty jazz orchestra will be at the Howard theater all this week. These famous exponents of jazz music will play the prologue entitled "The Cabaret," in which a saxophone solo, "Nolo," which is the latest national musical hit, in this scene Miss Ruth Stockton will offer her latest eccentric dances.

Distinctly unique and praiseworthy is William de Mille's latest Paramount production of "Clarence," a picturization of Booth Tarkington's celebrated stage comedy, which had a triumphant run in New York a few years ago. With three famous Paramount stars—Wallace Reid, Agnes Ayers and May McAvoy—and a supporting cast which embraces many notable screen players, "Clarence" is a charming comedy of American family life, and one that carries a great deal of pathos and pathos. It is a picture every man, woman and child in the country who sees it will enjoy for it is clean as a pin and directly in line with that better grade of pictures which the public demands and which Paramount is producing.

Wallace Reid is in the role of "Clarence," a saucy young playing ex-soldier who unconsciously becomes a domestic happiness expert and general fixer in the squabbling family where he lodges, has one of the finest roles of his screen career. Clarence finds the Wheeler family at sixes and sevens, and he must be disrupted when he dutifully begins to smooth things out, with the result that happiness comes to all and he himself wins the love of a charming girl. The plot is not intricate, but the story has sympathy and appeal and the sentiment will please the most blame picture lover.

The picture is played by the Howard orchestra. Enrico Leide and Lloyd Remus, conducting, will render musical comedy hits including "The Merry Widow," "Floradora Sextette" and the "Prince of Pilsen." Fath News completes the program.

Shirley Mason in "The New Teacher" Offered at Loew's

Shirley Mason, the charming little Fox star, opens the week at the Grand theater in "The New Teacher," a unusually interesting story. It will conclude a three-day run on Wednesday.

The film was adapted from the story by Dorothy Yost, "The Little Alien." Miss Yost also wrote the screen version. In her latest offering, a society girl who tires of social life. She decides that she should do something worth while and when the family fortune is depleted, as she is advised by her mother, she becomes a school teacher. She is assigned to a school in the slums of New York City, but she comes in contact with a number of unruly boys who succumb to her charms and become model lads. Her sweetheart, portrayed by Alan Forrest, learns of her whereabouts and is appointed to the police force and assigned to the Cherry street district, that he can keep watchful and protecting eye on his fiancee. An East Side gangster attempts to make love to the little schoolmistress, who repulses his advances.

All of the members of the supporting cast handle their parts exceedingly well. Little Pat Moore, the child actor, is a member of the cast.

The Well-Dressed Man. Raymond Hatton, whose parts usually require rags and minimum dress, all his old clothes to the Salvation Army, according to his press agent. "But that isn't the half of it," Hatton said when his eye fell upon this item. "That's where I buy most of 'em!"—Screenland Magazine.

IN BRITAIN AND HERE.

The speed and facility with which the British government has just passed from the control of one school of political thought to that of another serves again to call attention to the unresponsiveness of our own electoral system.

Approximately one month ago the Lloyd George cabinet, finding itself hopelessly at loggerheads with the majority in commons over fundamental questions of policy, resigned and a new cabinet was immediately formed temporarily to take its place.

A parliamentary election was called, and the people given an opportunity to express their preference as between the two contending parties.

That election was held last Wednesday, and on Monday the new parliament will assemble, ready to carry out the popular will.

On November 7 the American people elected a new congress, the result of which election attested marked disapproval of the policies of the present congress and of the incumbent administration.

But the congress which the people elected on November 7 will not convene until thirteen months from this time unless it is called together in extraordinary session.

Congress will assemble on Monday; but it will not be the congress which the people have just elected.

It will be the congress which has just been repudiated by the people.

It will be composed in large part of members who were candidates for re-election, but who were defeated by the people.

And yet, under our system of democratic government, those members who were repudiated are still to go on exercising a voice and a vote in the shaping of laws for the people who have repudiated them.

All of the members of congress who were defeated on November 7 are going back to their seats to pass appropriation bills and tax laws, if they see fit to do so, and to formulate governmental policies, regardless of the fact that the people have expressed disapproval of their past records.

Commenting upon the contrast between the British and the American system in this respect, The Kansas City Star said in a recent editorial:

"The British system contemplates no such inconsistency as allowing a defeated parliament to reassemble and legislate for an electorate that has repudiated it. The existing parliament is always dissolved before the election is ordered. Then immediately after the election the new parliament meets, the government is formed and the will of the voters is acted upon. Parliament acts while its mandate is fresh, but in the case of congress there is no way of telling what the mandate of the voters is, thirteen months after they have given it. Maybe they would like to give a different one by that time, but they have no chance. Congress, elected for two years, must go on with the best guess it can make as to what the country wants; but the ironical thing is that when the country does say it doesn't want a congress, that congress comes back and legislates for four months."

In many respects our system of government unquestionably is superior to that of Great Britain.

But in point of quick responsiveness to the expressed will and mandate of the electorate the British system unquestionably is vastly superior to ours.

Voting is either a privilege or a nuisance, depending on whether you are permitted to do it.

Love is the quality that makes a wife laugh gaily the forty-second time she hears her husband's favorite story.

Thousands of farmers have followed his rules this year to their abundant satisfaction.

The thing to do is to not become confused with too much high-brow stuff, but to use common sense, and work hard.

If women really had a sense of humor, a tiny little wife wouldn't waive so much sympathy on a great husband who has a pain.

THAT SENATE SEAT.
The liberal and courteous position of Senator Walter F. George in proposing to withhold his credentials as junior United States senator from Georgia, for one day, sensibly admissible, in order that Mrs.
Felton, who received the ad interim appointment, might actually take the oath of office, for its historical effect, is to be commended.

When the congress convenes in extraordinary session tomorrow it could serve no other purpose than the gratification of sentiment to have this distinguished woman from Georgia sworn in, marking as it would an incident of historical value and uniqueness; but it would be an event of great concern and of pleasing interest to millions of women, who are now equal sharers in the responsibilities of citizenship.

To that end it has been generally hoped that a clear and unobstructed way might be found by which this could be done.

The question will be settled tomorrow.

Even sentiment, however ambitious, must yield to the written law, and senate "precedence" is a mighty thing.

However, whether Mrs. Felton takes her seat or not, she has maintained the great honor of an ad interim appointment well; and the people generally are firm in the conviction that the time is not distant when there will be women senators, not carrying empty honors, but clothed with every delegated right of service.

LESS WORDS, MORE WORK.

In order to unify the various recommendations being made by the different state boards of entomology, as well as experiment stations,
as to the control of the boll weevil, a conference of leading planters, respecting state agricultural department heads and federal officials, will begin in Washington Monday.

It is, in the purposes it seeks to accomplish, one of the most important meetings called since the various problems of post-war reconstruction have been before the peoples.

The growing of cotton successfully in spite of the boll weevil—for the pest will never be eradicated—is the greatest economic undertaking before the United States, for it is much more than a problem that is confined to the south, or concerned in only by the south.

It is going to be difficult, however, to adopt a uniform standard of boll weevil control, even though the basic principles for dealing with the insect are known.

To illustrate early planting; tested seed that mature early; liberal fertilization; intense cultivation on a radically reduced acreage to the plow; the proper use of calcium arsenate, are some of the control essentials after the plant bed season begins.

During the fall and winter the fight must begin by turning under stalks, cleaning the fields, and hedges, draining the cotton land thoroughly; and, of course, planting cover crops.

Different localities will find that climatic conditions and weather precipitations, etc., so effectively control the time and plan for applying these rules for cultivation that it is impossible to standardize any system that shall apply to all sections alike. Planting is earlier in south Georgia than it is in middle and north Georgia, or in the Carolinas, of course. One soil zone will require certain fertilizing program and another a different one.
One variety of seed will do best in one locality, another in another, and so on.

These are matters that should be left up to the respective state boards and to the local extension officials. The great problem is to see that the fundamentals are adopted by the planters, wholeheartedly and without prejudices; and that they will apply brain and muscle to the job.

There has been too much reso-luting; too much theorizing; too much science; too much "paper farming" in dealing with the weevil problem, and too little "backbone" common sense and "elbow grease."

Conceded by cotton planters in every section of the belt, from New Mexico to Florida, and by federal and state agricultural officials and educators, the most practical series of articles ever prepared on the problem of growing cotton under boll weevil conditions were written by James A. Holloman, of The Atlanta Constitution, after several weeks of careful study and investigations, not in the laboratories of entomologists, but in the fields of cotton planters.

He has repeatedly said that the weevil problem is the most common sense and muscle—that is to say the careful, systematic application of rules of reason through a system of intense cultivation, which means work, work and more work until the job is finished.

Thousands of farmers have followed his rules this year to their
abundant satisfaction.

The world isn't really growing better; it just seems that way because writers have quit talking about "he-men."

The cotton must be made better than ever before, rushed away from the weevil, and this can only be done by the use of ten acres or less to the plow, and keeping everlasting-ly at it from the seed bed to the opened staple. Nothing else will succeed.

THE NEED IS NERVE!

The Anti-Saloon league announces through its high priest, Wayne B.
Wheeler, that it will make no fight against the weather-beaten, archaic and wholly unjustifiable system of seniority rule in congress.

Mr. Wheeler declares in explanation that if the ranking member, who may be advanced to a committee chairmanship, is a "dry" he will oppose any attempt to bust him and make a "wet" the chairman.

He doesn't explain, however, what he would do if the converse were true; that is, if the ranking man should be that.

Undoubtedly the Anti-Saloon lobbyist would oppose the seniority rule under such a condition.

In other words the principles of Mr. Wheeler are to be shaped as the experiences develop.

The fact is, there are no such terms as "wets" and "drys" in the actual, unprejudiced situation developing in congress as to the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

It is only political organizations that live off the sentiment of the public, and the free-will offerings of the poorer people of the country, and through these maintain expensive offices and fabulously salaried officials, that seek to keep a "wet" and "dry" issue before the public.

There is not a handful of members in congress who are "wet"; that is to say who want the eighth amendment repealed, and the old corner saloon reopened.

But there is an overwhelming majority in congress who believe that the Volstead act, which is merely a vehicle of enforcement, should be strengthened so that the whole country should not be a veritable inferno of bootlegging, polluted nostrums, and crime; or it should be sanely and reasonably modified so that the incentives for the present deplorable situation shall be lessened.

Something must be done—that is inevitable. And the peculiar thing about it is the strongest allies the so-called "dry" agitators have today are the bootleggers themselves.
Their organizations and their money and their paid attorneys are doing more to abet the cause of prejudice and sentimentality, and to keep alive the fanaticism that a few lobbists feed upon in Washington, than the churches.

It's a serious situation, but it never will be solved until the members of congress get nerve and backbone enough to deal with so great a problem on its merits, and not from under the big sticks of a well-organized "invisible government" at the capital whose chief weapons are threats.

A MARVEL CITY.
In a personal letter to an old-time friend who recently came to Atlanta and engaged in business, Richard H. Edmonds, editor of The Manufacturers' Record, Baltimore, Md., the other day expressed an appaisal of this city which should inspire every Atlantan with renewed confidence in his community and its future.

"I am glad to learn," wrote Mr.
Edmonds to his friend—
"that you found in Atlanta that fountain of perpetual youth for which you were seeking, and I trust you also found the fountain of perpetual prosperity in that same city,
a city which is one of the marvels
of American development.

"That you found in Atlanta that

which you were seeking, and I trust
you also found the fountain of perpetual prosperity in that same city,
a city which is one of the marvels
of American development.

It follows, therefore, that the saving and remanufacture of a ton of waste paper means the conservation of one-sixth of an acre of forest trees from which paper pulp is made.

In Current Markets, a "house organ" of the Salvation Army, the statement was made—and truthfully so—that the situation with regard to the nation-wide demand for print paper "is simply alarming; and it should be shamed from the households that waste paper must not be destroyed, but conserved and saved so that it may be returned to the mills for remanufacture."

Success to you in your new venture. You have rightly sensed the coming burst of industrial activity in the south I think there is just before us a revival of business, and indeed creation of new business throughout the south which will far surpass anything ever before known by this section."

This is the opinion of a man than whom none is more competent to reach a correct conclusion regarding business conditions in the south or to estimate its commercial future.

It is an opinion and a prophecy based upon years of studious observation of the development of Atlanta and the south, and intimate contact with industrial and commercial influences that have contributed to the upbuilding and progress of this section—an opinion and a prophecy the value of which is heightened by the fact that it is expressed candidly and privately by an experienced business man and observer to a friend.

THE ELECTION OF ANDY GUMP

Andy's election was a foregone conclusion. If he had been defeated he had already made up his mind to publicly accuse Mr. Sydney Smith of having perpetrated one of the worst election frauds ever committed in this country. From the moment Andy announced himself I was convinced that he had every qualification for attracting the ballots of the American people.

The opposition newspaper, which accused Andy of having "the mouth of an alligator and the brain of a minnow," knew little of this great American democracy of ours. The editor keep it safe forever.

So, the brother who gets up in meeting and shouts "Hallelujah!"

"A man can't keep from shouting with religion in his soul!"

And that impulse comes from memories of the mothers of men who know the meaning of the bells of Sunday.

And in the hearts of all there thrills a song of sunrise—"I know that my Redeemer liveth!"

AN ENIGMA OF LIFE.

The fact that a showman thinks he sees handsome profits in renting the New Brunswick, N. J., "murder house" and charging a fee for admission to it is not a happy commonplace upon public morals and decency, taking the American public by and large.

Press dispatches say that the "murder crabapple tree," under which the bodies of the New Brunswicks minister and his choir leader were found lying side by side, dead and mutilated, has disappeared, root and branch. But by its branches, chips from its boli and finally even its roots were carried away as "souvenirs" by the throngs of the morbidly curious who have visited the spot daily since the discovery of the gruesome tragedy.

The Annual Meeting.—The tentative suggestions that have been made for the annual meeting and banquet of the American Association of Woolen and Worsted manufacturers are such as to encourage the belief that the evening gathering, at least, will be one of the most successful ever held.

The opinion prevails that by far the larger majority of those who attend the affair in the evening come there to be entertained, and that the best program followed is in the policy that it is being outlined. The humorist who has been engaged to speak in the evening comes very highly recommended, and an endeavor is being made to get a speaker of national importance to talk in a serious vein.

The entertainment will involve a very attractive bill, and the guests can be safely promised a satisfactory evening.

The afternoon session will be given over to discussing wool, clothing and women's wear, a speaker of note from each of the respective fields addressing the members. After the experience of last year, it was decided to make the afternoon session too long. What the developments will be, aside from this, remains to be seen.

Thus does The Atlanta Constitution comment on the movement in Indiana to erect in memory of the immortal Hoosier poet a practical memorial, not a granite slab or a marble statue, but a real memorial, a hospital wherein thousands of sick and crippled children whom Riley loved most, will annually find relief from their suffering.

Construction work on the hospital is now going forward, the cornerstone for the institution having been laid on October 7, the anniversary of the birth of the poet. A bronze trowel, the gift of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding, was used in the laying of the cornerstone.

Approximately $600,000 of the $2,000,000 building fund already has been raised. Although contributions for the most part have come from Indiana people, many have been received from persons in all parts of the nation who wish to aid in forever perpetuating the memory of the celebrated poet who was regarded by many as the poet-laureate of America.

All contributions to the building fund are made payable one-fifth annually for five years. Of course gifts may be made in cash and every gift, no matter how small, is not unwelcome.

Buyers in and around Philadelphia, and in and around Worcester, Mass., have interesting gatherings, discuss matters pertinent to their business and get a great deal of contact. It is thought that the benefit they derive can be extended into other spheres of usefulness, and, finally, the whole group of manufacturers being identified with groups, can be induced to take a more active part in the annual meeting to advantage.

For instance, the group of manufacturers in and around Worcester, Mass., and in and around Philadelphia, have interesting gatherings, discuss matters pertinent to their business and get a great deal of contact.

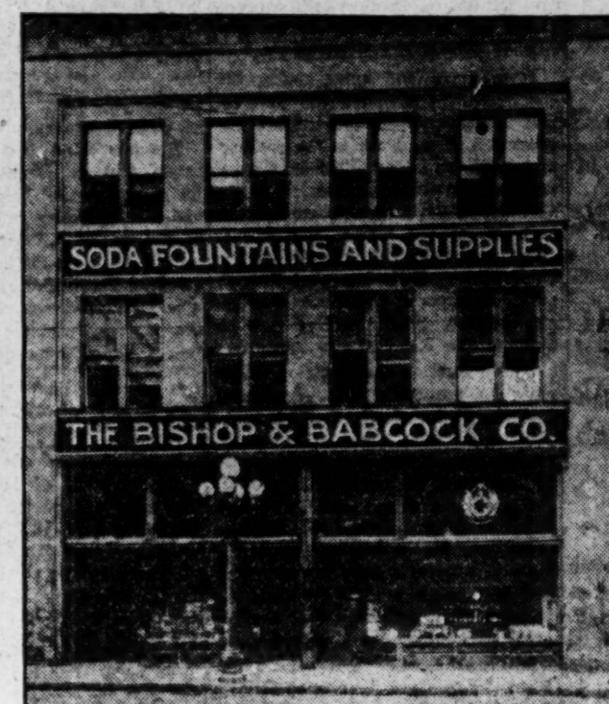

The Prospect Next Season.—The question, "Will prices hold?" is rapidly extending beyond the piece goods market. Naturally, it would be to the advantage of the clothing manufacturers if they did not hold. But the disturbing prospect is that it will be slight. There is hardly a seller, in making such a prediction, who would not be pleased to find himself wrong if it worked out in the other direction, but the attitude of the wool market is such that there is little hope of a lessening of the intensity of conditions.

Buyers are seeing information as to the real prospect and there are some who are trying to dislodge their minds of attitudes which they may, or may not, have assumed, colored by ideas of what they would like rather than what they find to be the case. Unquestionably the prices will be a shock when they come down, but there is still a feeling that there is nothing in the situation to warrant the upward trend, while at the same time, there is nothing in the situation to cause it to turn downward. The prices at which certain classes of worsteds will sell, as a result of the situation, are high and it is difficult to see how they can be disposed of at the quantities worsteds were disposed of this year. If these prices continue, it is for this reason that it is believed woollens will have another filing at popularity.

Sellers of worsteds yesterday, like those of last week, were disposed to contend that the experience with woollens of any ordinary type is entirely too recent to have had the public going in the direction of woollens so generally as they did. Also, it is contended that in the better grade cashmeres the advances will be quite as marked as in worsteds. There has been a decided trend toward quality in merchandise of late and it may be that this will be the means of encouraging consumers to pay the price and get the article they want.

Demand for Overcoatings Continues. The demand which exists for overcoatings is very interesting, indeed. The fancy back and through-and-through cloth idea dominates the entire interest in overcoatings, and there are some who are enthusiastic enough now to state that this year will be the biggest year in fancy backs and through-and-through cloths ever experienced.

Announcement has been made that the city engineer of Athens will supervise the construction of the new school building to be erected in the city.

All material bids should be sent to Captain J. W. Barnett, city engineer, who will do all purchasing.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Burks, who were recently married, have returned from a 10-day honeymoon trip to Florida. The happy couple, who have a wide circle of friends in the fields, visited both the Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the "Flower State," and down one side and returning the other.

Before their marriage Mrs. Burks was Mrs. Louise Muller, who had for several years held an important post in the insurance department of Smith & Rankin. Mr. Burks had joined seven years ago, but who left the company to enlist in the army, again at his desk in the office of the popular firm.

The Builders' Exchange has foot plans and specifications for a new school building to be erected at Concourse N. C. to cost $100,000. G. Gadsden Sayres of Anderson, S. C., is the architect.

Real estate activity on the south side continues good, with the steel structure of the new postoffice very near completion and the promise of the building to be ready for occupancy by December 15. There is much speculation as to what will be next in construction development in that section. A property owner in that section declared last week that he expected to erect three new stores at an early date, another contemporary, a five-story building soon. A big boom is on, it is believed, which will continue until a greater part of that section of the city is built up.

The city engineers state that they

Atlanta Realty Will Advance, Declares Turner-Pasdrall Co.

"Will Atlanta property advance?" This question is asked daily in Atlanta, and an answer to it has been made by Charles Paschal, of Turner-Paschal, as follows:

"Most emphatically, yes," said Mr. Paschal, "for several reasons, first, in a growing city like Atlanta the building hardy ever is more than just a step behind."

"Second, with the exception of a few items, such as piping, electricity, all building materials are on an advancing market and labor is not in for due a cut in wages."

"Again, that portion of the city is being served by the street cars, buses and rapidly developed All vacant property and building lots so served are in demand and are getting scarce. The remaining lots naturally enhance in value and we all know that the price of the land largely determines the price of the houses."

"It is true the forward-looking men of Atlanta are opening up subdivisions in and around the city, and the wise might argue that this would have tendency to reduce prices, but the growing ones realizing the great amount necessary to pave and lay out streets, sidewalks, etc., in sewers, water, lights and gas, can see no place for property in Atlanta. In other words, in Atlanta, as in all other growing and developing cities, suburban property, with few exceptions, is the high property of all."

"It is true there may be shortfalls in the market, but when a man able to buy a lot and pay all cash and build a home may save a few hundred dollars, but the average purchaser must buy a home ready to move into. He can pay only a small cash payment and have the balance carried for him, and to this big majority of home-wanters, it is buy buy now."

"When the apartment renter who has housed himself for the winter comes into the market this spring for a home, I look for a real boom in Atlanta really, and I believe a man may save several hundred dollars by buying a home right now."

"Grandeleon"

The above pictured apartment building, with 10 handsome homes, is at 624 Ponce de Leon avenue. It has recently been completed and is under control of the Grant-Jeter company. This company controls exclusively twenty-eight of the most splendid apartment buildings in Atlanta.

"The Edward"

This beautiful little apartment, which has just been opened, stands at 458 North Boulevard. It will accommodate twelve families in the beautifully finished apartments, and is in every way modern and luxurious. It is under exclusive management of the Grant-Jeter company.

SKY-SCRAPERS MADE POSSIBLE BY ATLANTA MAN'S INVENTION

JOHN WELLBORN ROOT

Mills building, San Francisco

Combination of concrete and steel in building foundations, first used by the late John Wellborn Root, an Atlanta boy who became world-famous as a designer of tall-buildings. Etchings above show Mr. Root and two famous buildings designed by him.

BY PAUL JONES.

Not only is Atlanta famous as a city of tall buildings and the center of southern architecture, but this city has another claim to fame through the fact that John Wellborn Root, the man who invented the vital idea that has made the construction of the modern "sky-scraper" practical, was the son of a prominent Atlanta business man, and was himself a citizen of this city for several years.

The famous Equitable building, which at the time of its erection, was looked upon as one of the structural marvels of Atlanta, the Masonic temple, Root's office, the Woman's temple and other prominent buildings of Chicago, the Mills building, of San Francisco, and many of the most noted structures in the United States were erected after the designs of the man who received his grammar school education in this city and who at a young age went from Atlanta to Liverpool, England, at the suggestion of the civil war.

James L. Rice, who loves sports as well as Atlanta reality, and who believes that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," went to Atlanta yesterday morning to be present at the Georgia-Vanderbilt game.

HAL-MORRISON WITH THE BERRY COLLINS CO.

Friends of Hal Morrison will be pleased to learn that he has joined the staff of the Berry Collins company and is now one of the salesmen of that popular concern.

Mr. Morrison, who is well known both from a business and social standpoint, gained wide circle of friends through his connection with the National Shirt shop, with whom he served for some time before going north for his studies from northern cities after several months.

Hal Morrison accepted employment with the Berry Collins company and his friends will find him at 64 Peachtree street.

HAMLETT GOES WITH THE J. L. LOGAN CO.

James L. Logan announces the addition of Edgar Hamlett to his sales organization. Edgar Hamlett is a well known young realty salesman of Atlanta, having been connected with the J. H. Ewing & Sons Agency for the past year.

He comes to this company to specialize in the sale and leasing of central business and investment properties.

Mr. Hamlett's many friends will be glad to learn of this new connection, and he assures them of his best endeavors in their behalf in any of these real estate problems.

Pola Is Countess.

According to her passport, the Countess Apollonia Dombka recently disembarked from the Majestic and boarded a train for Hollywood. But her dressing-room door at the Lasky studio bears the briefer name of Pola Negri.—Screenland Magazine.

On the first buildings in which Mr. Root used the method of combining steel bars with concrete for the purpose of making a foundation, was the Equitable building, in this city, which stands at the corner of North Pryor and Edgewood. When this building was in course of construction much discussion was precipitated regarding the manner critics pointing out the firm belief that its peculiarly constructed foundations would not endure the enormous strain that was placed upon it, while others declared the new methods of construction were radically wrong in principle. Croakers, who could not muster the imagination to conceive of the possibility of such a structure existing ten years ago, to say nothing of the greater Atlanta of today, said that the structure was entirely too big—that there would never be demand for enough office space here to fill the eight floors with tenants.

Time Justifies Construction.

Time, however, has amply justified the construction principles of John W. Root with the commercial and industrial progress and prosperity of Atlanta has more than corroborated the wisdom of the builders of the "Equitable" or the Trust Company of Georgia building.

Not only is this building standing today as one of the many handsome structures of Atlanta's downtown section holding its place "up to the stone wall" among the beautiful buildings that have made this city famous, but every available space in the big edifice is taken, despite the fact that more than a score of taller and larger buildings are also filled to the guards of the Gothic influence that was uppermost in this handsome newly-constructed firm.

Settled in Chicago.

Taking up his life work in Chicago, John Root and his partner became known as competent designers only after a struggle with the "wolf at the door." They arrived in time, however, and received a number of important commissions.

Among the first of the important commissions given to this firm were contracts to design the famous Sherman residence in Chicago. The execution of this fine design brought out the wonderful artistic possibilities possessed by John Root and his handling of the Gothic influence that was uppermost in this handsome newly-constructed firm.

BOOK REVIEWS IN TABLOID

Winona on Her Own. The author was widely read and enjoyed by the children of many lands. The illustrations are by Eric Pace and they add to the attractiveness of the book.

Miss Slaughter's story is about a little girl by the name of Barbara, who was very fond of books, especially Shakespeare. In fact her love for Shakespeare was something like that many children have for Louis M. Lippincott's stories. In all her explorations in the U. S. A. and in foreign lands she did not forget her love for these plays and she was made very happy while traveling in Rome, Florence, Lyons, Paris, etc., when she visited the scenes of Shakespeare's life and heard the stories of his life and witnessed his plays by noted actors she was delighted. (The MacMillan company, New York.)

Half-Past Seven Stories. By Robert Gordon Anderson. Illustrated by Dorothy Hope Smith. Sixteen illustrations. The author's "Three Happy Children," whose friends are numberless, will find them in these new stories just as happy as ever. There are new adventures and new thrills which will keep the children interested from the nursery to the fourth grade. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.)

Polaris. The story of an Eskimo dog. By Ernest Harold Baynes, author of "Wild Bird Guests." There are many illustrations from photographs by the members of the Baynes family which will please the reader of a story of a dog, loved like Albert Payson Terhune's Ladd, his beautiful collie.

JUNIOR BOOKS. Shakespeare and the Heart of a Child is by Gertrude Slaughter, whose book, "Two Children in Old Paris," is a wonderful story for grown-ups— "Rose-Garden Husband," known how to entertain girls also, and her "Winona" books have been very interesting, and they keep the girls wondering what Winona would do next.

It is too bad for girls to tell that things have not been going well in a camp where they are with Winona and her friend, Louise, and they finally accepted positions as counselors in a camp of lively young girls who have been indulged until they are really what is termed "spoiled." Now, the word means "indulged" in the good sense, and character by too much indulgence or praise." You can understand what these two counselors had to do when they were out with swimming parties, hiking trips and many other activities in which all girls find much real pleasure.

This story is about what Winona and Louise did when the camp closed and it is one of the most interesting of all the stories that have been woven around these two Camp Fire girls. The other books belonging to the Camp Fire stories are "Winona of the Camp Fire," "Winona of Camp Karonya," "Winona's Way," "Winona's Farm," "Winona's Field," etc. They are all wholesome books and are attractively illustrated. Price $1.75. (J. B. Lippincott, Philadelphia.)

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1922.

It is a wonderful story. (The MacMillan company, New York.)

BOOKS FOR GIRLS.

Red Robin. By Jane Abbott, author of "High Acres," "Aprilly" and other interesting stories. It was just a year ago that the young girls all so delighted over "High Acres."

The author's beautiful story about Robin Forsythe, who inherits the Forsythe fortune through her benefactress, Madam Forsythe, and goes to live in the college of her selection. (The Penn Publishing company, Philadelphia.)

"Little Colonel" Books. The Page company, Boston, continues to bring out "The Little Colonel Series," by Annie Fellows Johnston, in a new and attractive dress each year, and there is no journal better suited to the present day than the beloved boys and girls as the delightful little Kentucky girl whom the author has woven all her interesting stories around.

There are about nine volumes of "The Little Colonel Series," and then there is "The Little Colonel," "The Times Book," $2.00, and "The Little Col. Dull Book," $1.90. There have been so many inquiries where a "good times book," such as Betty kept, could be obtained, so the author decided that she would publish just such a book and the same will be greatly appreciated by the young readers, especially the girl lover of the "Little Colonel books."

A Little Maid of Virginia. By Alice Turner Curtis. This is a story of a little Virginia girl and the author has written it especially for little girls from 7 to 11 years old.

It is all about Mary Lou Abbott, who in 1781 during the revolution, left New York to live with her cousin, Rose Ellinor Moore, near Yorktown, the parents of the latter gave each little girl a pony and a dog. They went riding around every day and they soon got into trouble because at this time spires were very active.

The experiences of these two little girls until they went to Yorktown to witness the surrender of Cornwallis is the enthralling story.

The Little Cockalorum. By Wallis Shulman. Illustrated by Ralph Dunleavy. This is a story for girls from 10 to 15 years of age. The first question the girls will want to know, "What is a cockalorum?" The author knowing this explains in his introductory why this little girl was called a cockalorum.

Gerry was probably christened Geraldine, but the book is dedicated to all the "Gerrys" in the world who are brave enough to attempt the impossible."

This is a near-novel story that will appeal to every girl with the college spirit. The next story, which is now in press, tells about Gerry at the college of her selection. (The Penn Publishing company, Philadelphia.)

BOYS' BOOKS.

The Story of Grenfell of the Labrador. By Dr. Grenfell. Illustrated by Dillon Wallace. Illustrated Mr. Wallace tells the story of the great Labrador mission and his remarkable work which will prove to be interesting as any of his popular stories. It is full of thrills and yet is a true story. (Fleming H. Revell company, New York.)

The Boy With the U. S. Minks. By Francis Rolt Wheeler. This is the fourteenth volume of the U. S. Service series, with 36 illustrations and 16 pages of maps and historical sketches. Decorated cover. All the books are written under the unofficial patronage of prominent agents of the United States government, and in this instance a bright American boy is taken as the central figure of a thrilling and instructive book. (Lathrop, Lee & Shepard Co., Boston.)

Heroes of the Ruins. Round the world with the boy journalists, by Francis Rolt Wheeler. This story is woven about a little French boy of 14 years. He was called Andre, the Mole, a well-earned title, as he will grow up to be an adult. It is full of fun if you will read the story of thrilling experiences from the first page to the last. (George H. Doran Co., New York.)

The Boy Adventurers in the Forbidden Land. By A. Hyatt Verrill. This is the first of a series of articles describing the various experiences of the Boy Adventurers who on their explorations entered the home of the Kuna Indians, and naturally the Indians made captives of them. They were rescued by an American aviator. Even grownups will enjoy reading the thrilling story and it is a mighty odd story for boys. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.)

The Boy Scouts at Camp Lowell. By Brewster Corcoran. These books are published by the approval of "The Boy Scouts of America," and this story is one of the popular Boy Scouts books. The illustrations are by Charles Livingston Bull.

The author is well known to boys, and it is well known that he knows how to write stories that boys know how to appreciate. Editors and parents, as well as critics, all agree that Mr. Corcoran's stories are full of strong and splendid characters, and that they can always recommend them as good stories for good boy scouts. (The Page Co., Boston.)

The Land of Punch and Judy. By the originator of the "Tell Me a Story" books—Mary Stewart. Children have enjoyed the make-believe stories more than that they demand that they be continued.

This book contains a delightful excursion into fairland, therefore, it is both entertaining, amusing and instructive, for the big folks, too. Edward Sheldon, the famous dramatist, says: "Mary Stewart and Mary Chisholm have caught the glamour and the mystery not only of childhood's fairland, but that other grown-up fairland—the theater. (Fleming H. Revell Co., Chicago.)

Once on a Time. By A. A. Milne, who enjoys the distinction of being one of the playwrights whose plays have been successfully produced with in London and New York, and the plays in this volume have been especially welcomed in both England and America, and are as follows: "The Great Broxop," "The Truth About Biyads," the latter, The New York Evening Post says, is a real comedy, although many critics think that "The Dover Road" ranks even higher. (Putnam's, New York.)

Peter Cottrell's Treasure. By Rupert Sargent Holland, who knows just how eager boys are for a new adventure story. Adventure! That was just what one boy, especially Tom, one summer afternoon, as he leaned over the garden gate. Tom was 16 and ready for anything and he felt like his home on the New Hampshire coast was offering very little excitement for a boy of that age.

Walls he was busy thinking about it along comes a man by the name of Tuckerman, who was looking for some boys to camp out with him on Cottrell's Island in the arbor. Of course all Tom's chums were included in the invitation and from that time on he had a full complement on account of the lack of excitement, for there was the haunted house, the buried treasure, the mysterious lights, all furnishing enough excitement to last a lifetime. (J. B. Lippincott, Philadelphia.)

CHILDREN'S STORIES. Among the many, and we might say numberless books that are being written for children, many of which are very entertaining, there are still a few written some time ago that will never be forgotten. These books are brought out each year, all dressed up in colorful toggy and befitting the beauty of the sentiment to be found on the inside.

A Child's Garden of Verses. By Robert Louis Stevenson, with attractive illustrations in colors by Maria L. Kirk.

Gulliver's Travels. By Jonathan Swift. With illustrations in colors by Miss Kirk.

Hänsel and Gretel. By Johann Spurz. Translated by Elizabeth F. Stork, with illustrations by Miss Kirk.

Robinson Crusoe. By Daniel Defoe. Illustrations by Williamson.

The Cricket Clock. By Mrs. Moberly. Illustrations in colors by Miss Kirk.

The Water Babies. By Charles Kingsley, beautifully illustrated.

The Swiss Family Robinson. Edited by G. E. Mitton. Illustrated in colors by Harry and Helen Rountree. "Fairy Tales," with illustrations in color, and many others that represent the very best stories which every child should read.

Through the Cloud Mountain. By Florence Scott Bernard. This is a story of Jan, the little boy, who was surprised to see Alice of Wonderland, Jack and the Beanstalk, the Little Lamb, Jack and Jill and even Peter Rabbit and the Tea Baby of Uncle Dick. This is one of the most attractive of the juvenile classics and will prove delightful to the little folks as they listen to the talk about the adventures of a brownie.

In the same volume to be found another charming story told in rhyme, the story of the Little Lame Prince, the story of Prince Dolor of Nonnaland, who walked away from his town to the mountains to live with his fairy godmother. There is also a story of "Poor Fred" told in such a charming style that you will judge all the little folks knowing this explain his introductory why this little girl was called a cockalorum.

Gerry was probably christened Geraldine, but the book is dedicated to all the "Gerrys" in the world who are brave enough to attempt the impossible."

This is a near-novel story that will appeal to every girl with the college spirit. The next story, which is now in press, tells about Gerry at the college of her selection. (The Penn Publishing company, Philadelphia.)

THE BRIGHT SHAWL. A gorgeously romantic story of the Orient land is Mr. Georges Heine's latest novel, "The Bright Shawl." After modern main-street novels, it is a great relief to revel in the colorful romance of old Havanna. It is the story of an American boy, Charles Abbott, who throws himself into the conflict for freedom of Cuba. His love for Andres Ascorab and his intense hatred for the Spaniard and the English, the story of a number of youth, and also of the two women who wore it, the Spanish dancer and the half-caste informer; La Clovel, who danced like a tortured flame of ecstasy and Pilar, the Chinese waterlily whose stem was in the mud. These two women, with the scenes of revolution and peace, the safe's plan and bull ring of Havana, form the current for a story which has a vivid background of intrigue and violence.

The title of the book is well chosen. The Bright Shawl is significant of the bright and gay atmosphere of youth, and also of the two women who wore it, the Spanish dancer and the half-caste informer; La Clovel, who danced like a tortured flame of ecstasy and Pilar, the Chinese waterlily whose stem was in the mud.

How Many Objects in This Picture Begin With the Letter "P"?

IS YOUR SpareTime Worth $1500?

Let THE CONSTITUTION answer for you by saying "Yes."

You can win $1,500 for just a few hours of rollicking fun spent in hunting "P" Words.

This tantalizing "P" Word picture is full of surprises. Why not get into the game? Get out pencil and paper and write down the "P" Words as they come to your mind. Once started — you won't quit.

Other people have won splendid prizes in our previous Word Games. No reason why YOU shouldn't try this time and win. Opportunities are equal, whether you live in the country or city.

Think of the thrill in picking up The CONSTITUTION shortly before Christmas and reading that YOUR answer had won FIRST PRIZE! You surely could make many a happy dream "come true" with $1,500 in cash. Someone is going to win, that's certain. Why not yourself?

But remember — you can't win unless you TRY. So don't forget the first step. FIND THE "P" WORDS IN THE PUZZLE PICTURE.

You Can Win the $1,500 First Prize

Study the "P" Word Picture closely, and then make up your list. When you are pretty sure you have found all the objects beginning with "P," send your list in. It costs nothing to try. If the judges find your list FIRST PRIZE winner you will be awarded $35.00. You can win $35.00 without sending a subscription. But if you want to win $1,500.00, $1,000.00, or one of the large prizes, read the following:

If you send one six-months' subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution at $5.00 and win FIRST PRIZE you will receive $500 instead of only $35.00. (See second column in prize list).

Your BIG OPPORTUNITY is made possible by sending two six-months' subscriptions at $5.00 each, or one yearly subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution at $9.50. Then, if you win FIRST PRIZE, you will receive $1,500.00. (See last column in prize list).

Either new, renewal or future subscriptions will be accepted. Your own or a friend's or neighbor's order will count.

Study These Simple Rules

1. Anyone may compete, except our employees or their relatives. Prize winners in other similar word contests are also ineligible.

2. Use only one side of the paper in writing your answers. You must number each page and each word submitted consecutively — 1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address in the upper right-hand corner of each page. All answers must be mailed by December 2, 1922, to The Atlanta Constitution. A 5 per cent additional prize will be awarded for promptness, as specified in the prize list.

3. The answer having the largest number of words which correctly name objects shown in the picture wins First Prize, etc.

4. In the event of ties, the full amount of the prize will be awarded each tie-contestant.

5. The winning list will be made up from applicable words in all answers submitted and not from any predetermined or master list. One credit will be allowed for each correct word in your answer, and one credit will be deducted for each incorrect word or omission.

6. Three independent judges will judge the answers and award the prizes. Webster's New International Dictionary will be used by the judges as authority for all words. It is understood and agreed that participants entering this game will accept the judges' decisions as final and conclusive.

7. Do not use obsolete, compound or hyphenated words, or any word made up of two or more complete English words.

8. Words of the same spelling can be used only once. Where the singular is used the plural must not be used, and vice versa. You can name an object only once; however, you may also name any visible part of an object.

9. Only one answer will be accepted from a family or from a group of persons who have worked on the picture together.

10. Every answer will receive the same consideration, regardless whether or not a subscription has been sent in. Neatness, style or handwriting will have no bearing on judging the winners.

11. Announcement of the prize winners and the winning-list of words, together with the correct list determined by the judges, will be made in the columns of The Constitution just as soon after the close of the game as possible.

Absolute Fairness to All

Every possible step will be taken to insure perfect fairness and square dealing to each contestant.

Three independent judges — prominent Georgia educators — will judge all lists.

The "correct list" will be made up from all applicable words submitted — NOT from any predetermined or "master list." This gives everyone an equal chance to find all possible "P" words.

The WINNERS' list, together with the final CORRECT list, will be published in The Constitution, so each contestant may check his or her own answer in comparison.

Announcement of winners will be made in the December 24 issue of The Constitution — the day before Christmas.

Yet too often, we, endowed by the Divine Providence with eternal hope forget the danger and neglect the protection we should all provide for ourselves and loved ones.

Knowing the danger and realizing that we could render a wonderful service for this very protection at a very nominal cost, The Constitution brings forward its reader service insurance and offers every reader, both men and women, between the ages of 16 and 70 a

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

VOL. LV., NO. 160.

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 19, 1922.

Y. W. Building Bungalettes at Camp Highland

In building bungalettes at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Highland, Ga., that are to take the place of many of the army tents that are now too worn for further use, the association is carrying out its program to improve the camp from year to year and to enlarge its equipment in order to afford larger accommodations for the girls who double the attendance at camp from season to season.

Ten of the bungalettes will soon be completed and ready for the 1923 season. Each miniature open air house that is being erected at a price of $220 is 16 by 22 feet and is weatherboarded for four feet with screening extending above to the roof which is of the best composition roofing. A bungalette will accommodate eight girls.

Five of the bungalettes were given to the camp by the committee of the Y. W. C. A. boarding home that is at 56-62 West Baker street, the committee including Mrs. J. P. Averill, chairman; Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. F. M. Robinson and Miss Sally Eugenia Brown.

Five bungalettes were given by Mrs. Charles Conklin, chairman of the camp, and her committee, Mrs. W. R. Preecott, chairman of the Y. W. C. A. health center, Miss Irma E. Finley, general secretary, and Miss Lucy Marvin Adams, camp director.

The S. I. S. P. club of business and professional women are donating a smaller bungalette to the camp to be used by Miss Adams, camp director.

Christmas Carol Plans Launched.

The Atlanta Christmas Carolers have elected new officers and inaugurated plans for singing cheer into the hearts of Atlanta people the coming season at Phillips & Crew's auditorium. Robert H. Jones, Jr., president of the Georgia Children's Society, for the benefit of which the carol program has been put on for the last four years, was temporary chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. J. M. High, president of the Home society's auxiliary board of women, assisted him in organizing the large number of women present into heads and members of various committees to reach Atlanta with song in a larger way this year than heretofore.

Mr. Jones showed that not only

Atlanta would sing for Georgia's homeless children this year, but the larger towns in every part of the state were going to put on the same program at the same hour. He said it would be much easier to organize the work in the smaller cities if it could be shown that Atlanta is taking the lead. When the program was started last year, he said, more than $2,000 was given to the carolers for this worthy cause by those who were eager to help. He felt that with favorable weather and very many more groups of singers out it would be just as easy to collect five times that much.

The following officers were elected:

Mrs. Charles Love, publicity;

Mrs. Arthur L. Norris, boxes, with Mrs. A. S. Pringle, as-

November Brings New Lowered Prices to Furs---

Fur Coats and Wraps The Mildness of the Early Winter Favors Purchasers of Fur Wraps

ON the other hand the fur business has been adversely affected by the unusually warm winter—and great fur stocks remain on their racks. Notwithstanding this condition the fur market remains unchanged—should we wish to duplicate garments in our stock we would pay the same price we paid six months ago—about the same price we're offering them in this sale. In fact, many coats in our very magnificent stock are offered at less than today's cost of production. Allen furs are guaranteed--finest pelts and smartest designs--

Eats Candy But Loses Her Fat

Here's joyful news for every fleshy person who loves good things to eat, especially those who are denying themselves the things they like most because of their desire to keep down their weight to reduce the fat with which they are already burdened.

The famous Marmots' Prescription has been put up in convenient tablet form and is now sold by druggists everywhere at only one dollar per case—the world over price.

To get rid of fat steadily and easily, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or flabbiness will remain to show where the fat came from.

Simply use Marmots' Prescription Tablets according to directions; they are harmless, free from poisons or injurious drugs, and can be used with perfect safety. Try them for just a few weeks and get results without going through long stages of tiresome exercise and starvation diet. They are good for a good store. If your druggist should not have them in stock you can secure them direct from the Marmots' Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., by sending one dollar. (ad.)

Many Interesting Features On Woman's Club Calendar*Silver Musical

preceding programs of this popular department of the Woman's club.

A remarkable feature of the Vachel Lindsay program was the reading of Lindsay's poems, composed by Mrs. C. L. Dean, taking the part of the Queen of Sheba; Mrs. Sibley Lorenz, the part of King Solomon, and the entire class making the choral response. This was an unusual exhibition of ensemble singing, made as soon as a definite date can be set. The tournament will be the opening affair of the completed banquet hall, which is being rapidly constructed and promises to equal in beauty and utility the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium.

New Novelties.

The special showing due to the workers who gave time and service and made earnest efforts on armistice day for the aid of sacrificed American men received high praise from the press and the American Legion. Their efforts resulted in a total of $5,150.55 from the sale of poppies.

Christmas Class.

Mrs. R. M. Striplin, chairman of the class, of the Boston Conservatory of Music, will render several selections on the piano.

At the close of the musical program Mrs. R. L. Turman will tell something of the work of the league.

Many "beautiful prizes" will be drawn for and auctioned. Rogers company, Broyle's Grocery company, Piggle-Wiggly stores and others.

Greer and Mrs. Drake, caught the idea and brought it to another. Another southern woman, Mrs. Grier, of the Mary Barnard school, having been born in the South, and the Atlanta Woman's club induces their purchase both for the sake of the novelty of the occupation and for the increase of the building fund.

Helpful Invitation.

Co-operative home-making service, founded in life-long drudgery away from the housewife's calling to machines in the commercial world are revealed to the club members who have accepted the invitation of the Joseph May laundry on West Peachtree street. This invitation carries with it a direct cash return to the Atlanta Woman's club building fund for the banquet hall, a revenue member of the club is expected by Mrs. Boykin, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and the building committee to aid in rolling up the total to be derived from this.

Each registration by a member of the club at the May establishment will add one-half cent to the building fund. Four hundred members registering will add one hundred dollars to the banquet-hall building fund. On Wednesday, November 22, the May laundry company will keep open house for the Atlanta Woman's club, tea will be served to all visitors and a small committee of members of the club will act as waiters.

Receiving with Mrs. H. C. Bickmore, chairman of arrangements, Mrs. B. M. Boykin, Mrs. E. H. Goodhart, chairman of the department of public welfare, the department through which this opportunity for better acquaintance with the important part of house keeping work is offered the club. Mrs. Clarence Coppedge will pour tea, assisted by a large committee, and visitors will be registered by Mrs. W. K. Wrayant, Mrs. John L. Cody, Mrs. W. P. Dunn and Mrs. F. H. Neale, and Mrs. Sibley Lorenz.

Christmas Cards.

Mrs. J. A. Romance of the Periods

Do you take your furniture for granted, considering it merely from the point of utility, or do you realize that there is a very close relationship between the furniture designs of today and the best architecture of the ages. In all history there are perhaps no better examples of the intense effort to achieve better things than those to be found in architecture or such allied arts as the designing, carving and making of furniture.

A series of articles on period furniture now appearing in "Mather's Message," our monthly friendship magazine, is interesting and instructive. This publication will be sent you free on request.

State Chaplain—Mrs. T. J. Durrett, Cordele.

Reception in Honor of State Regent

Iris court, the palatial home of Mrs. J. R. Whitehead, was thrown open Thursday afternoon for the two General D. A. R. chapters. Thirteen states and Commodore Richard Dale, who entertained jointly in honor of Mrs. Charles Akerman, state regent, and Mrs. J. N. Tally, state corresponding secretary. The entire lower floor was artistically decorated in cut flowers and ferns.

Receiving with Mrs. Whitehead, who honored the regent of Thirteen states, Mrs. Charles Akerman, state regent; Mrs. Sam S. Bennett, regent of Commodore Richard Dale chapter; Mrs. J. N. Tally, state corresponding secretary, and Mrs. S. J. Jones.

A large number of members from the chapter called after the guests were seated, then repaired to the music room, where a delightful program was given.

After opening with the Lord's prayer and singing of "America," Mrs. Akerman was introduced and gave a splendid address. Mrs. A. M. Jackson sang two beautiful Indian melodies. Mrs. J. N. Tally was in attendance and gave a short talk. Mrs. O. D. Culpepper, concluded the program with two vocal solos, "Bless You" and "I Know a Lovely Garden."

A happy thought from the Commodore Richard Dale chapter was shown in the presentation of corsage bouquets to the honored guest of the afternoon.

Beautiful Dinner Party.

Honoring Mrs. Charles Akerman, state regent, and Mrs. J. N. Tally, the many wonderful records which Georgia is replete. Very respectfully, ANNE BOIFFUILLET PEACOCK (Mrs. J. A.) State Historian.

CHAPTER REPORTS

John Milledge Chapter, Dalton. The second meeting for the year was held recently at the home of Mrs. William Cannon with a full attendance. Among the correspondence received was a special letter of appreciation prepared by our own Mrs. Trammell who is chairman of the state Americanization committee. Mrs. Trammell was endorsed for next state regent at the first meeting following last conference and while she will, of course, make no formal announcement of her candidacy until the time comes for the state organization, her chapter stands solidly behind her and the very cordial letters she receives from all parts of the state, leads her chapter to hope that they may claim the next state regent as their own.

Two items of business were of special interest and importance. The treasury report showed a combination local, state and national—not about $60 in the bank, besides the playground fund and the chapter liberty bond and $150 in sight which will be in the treasury by Christmas, a very satisfactory record. Following routine business, Miss Mattie Lee Huff, in a few well-chosen words, reported to the chapter the resignation of Mrs. Charles Hollingsworth to Mrs. Herron and to Mrs. Trammell, ex-regents, the handsome ex-regents' pins. Each recipient made a graceful little speech of acceptance. The chapter has also purchased a chapter-regent's pin and it was turned over to the present regent, Mrs. H. L. Smith for the remainder of her term of office.

Following the business session, a paper prepared by Mrs. W. C. Moore was read. It was in blank verse and celebrated the glories of historic Virginia under the title of "Potomac Landings" being based on a book of the same name by Paul Wiltse—a task which is no small mine of history for that almost sacred ground and which may be obtained through the state library commission.

About thirty-five members were present, two new ones attending for the first time and another, Miss Mary McLean, being received at this meeting.

Social Circle, Ga. The John Clark chapter, D. A. R., observed Armistice day, with a fitting program, at the school auditorium.

Mrs. Howard McCall, Sr., vice-president-general, will be an honored guest at the next regular meeting, November 16.

Monticello, Ga. The first meeting of the Sergeant Jasper chapter, D. A. R., since June, was held on the afternoon of October 17, at the home of Mrs. Carrie Ezell, the new regent. Mrs. Samuel J. Smith presiding. Honor was paid to Columbus day and LaFayette day, special and appropriate observance of each. The chapter having been successful last winter by using the "Christmas Novelty Gift Book" decided to make a canvas this winter also as a means of helping to raise funds for the ensuing year.

After the business meeting was over the joint hostesses, Mrs. Hugh Tucker, Mrs. Glover Jordan, Mrs. Bradley Downs and Mrs. W. J. Phillips, served refreshments.

Brenau College Social News.

Mrs. Florence Weygandt, mezzo-soprano, appeared in a recital on Monday evening in the Brenau auditorium.

Miss Alice Chapline as accompanist and Mrs. H. J. Pearce as violinist added greatly to the beauty of the program.

From the calendar of Brenau has been checked the long-looked-for "Freshmen Week," but not without having left an indelible impression not only upon the minds of the freshmen and sophomores, but upon the upper classmen and members of the faculty as well. New ideas were evolved in the way of costumes and forms of activities.

A distinguished and most welcome visitor to the college is Walter Chapman, who is the guest of George Rogers. Mr. Chapman has just returned from a most successful concert tour in so far as with Miss Marie Morrisey, a noted soprano.

Mr. Chapman ranks among the most promising of the young American pianists and has already made for himself a most enviable reputation.

A lovely event of Wednesday afternoon was an informal tea which was given from 5 to 6 o'clock entertaining the patrons and patronesses of the Chapter of Tri Delta. A short musical program was given by Mrs. Florence Weygandt, Jennie Hansen and Doris Deer.

Miss Mary Lou Bell, Mrs. M. Overton was the honored guest of a delightful luncheon given by Miss Grace Jean Sails and Miss Maud Fiske on Tuesday at the tea room.

The Sunday evening vespers service of the Young Woman's Christian association was led by Miss Jane Parkinson and Frances Meier. The program for the evening was "World Citizenship," and was most ably led by Misses Parkinson and Robins. Miss Mary Lou Bell was the violin soloist for the service.

Miss Pansy Aiken of the class of '15 was a recent guest of the college and appeared before the students to talk on "France." She presented many interesting facts about the social and economic conditions of France."

Among the week-end visitors to Atlanta were Misses Hulda Seyfert, Frances Meyers, Thelma Seaman, Reba Mallory.

Miss Ethel F. Pearce and Mrs. Corinne Turnipseed were in Atlanta during the past week and attended the performance of "The Woman in Bronze," with Margaret Anglin in the leading role.

Miss Kathleen Sutton has returned from Louisville, Ky., and is now in Atlanta.

Miss Griffiths of Greenville, S. C., was the guest of her daughter, Miss Helen, at Lanier hall on Sunday.

Thomas Fisher to Speak Sunday.

Thomas Parker Fisher of Boston will address the Atlanta Psychology club this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the mahogany room of Hotel Ansley. Mrs. Amelia Woodall, vice-president general, will preside. All are invited to hear Mr. Fisher's presentation of the wholesome and cheering message of the psychology of the New Thought.

Mr. Fisher is also a poet and we are sure he will add the additional pleasure of hearing one of his poems, "The Christ That Dwells Within," sung by Mrs. Claudia Welsh Bass. The public most cordially invited to be present.

Chapter III., O. E. S. To Give Carnival

Atlanta Chapter No. 111, O. E. S., will hold a carnival at 432 1/2 Marietta street, Saturday evening, November 25, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Weiner, ice cream, home-made pies and cake will be on sale. A good musical program will be provided.

Extracts From Letter Of President General

To the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

Confederate Relief Fund—As the appeals come asking that we add to our list of chapters, it is with deep regret that we must say no. We have denied. May I beg that all chapters that have not fulfilled their pledges to this fund, do so at once? This is our sacred duty and opportunity to express our appreciation of the heroic self-sacrifices of the men and women of the "sixties."

Summary of Our Work—The obligations that we have assumed are as follows:

CONVENTION REPORTS

REPORT OF TEXTBOOK COMMITTEE.

Madam President, and Daughters of the Georgia Division:

I bring you greetings from your textbook committee, and beg to submit the following:

Books—We have the report of your chairman of textbooks, grows more satisfactory. So far as our state schools are concerned there is little to condemn in the histories being used. Appeals coming to me from members of my committee, in various sections, state that in their districts no objectionable textbooks are in use in the public schools. One chapter has Miss Rutherford, the U. C. V. committee and the Georgia division, U. D. C. conducted a crusade against disloyal and untrue history, but we find in Atlanta this year one of the largest organizations in the country, the Junior Order of United Daughters of the Confederacy, espousing the cause and calling on the board of education of the Atlanta public schools to condemn and forbid the use by any of the teachers, of the Human Interest library, as unjust to the south.

In her splendid circular letter in answer to northern critics, Miss Rutherford, who are loyal to the south and her traditions, has resolved that the truth shall now be taught in our southern schools, and every textbook false to the south or north shall be ruled out of universities, colleges, schools and libraries, unless the authorities prefer false histories. Your textbook committee goes hand in hand with her, and adds "so shall it be." In line with correct and unbiased history, the youth of the land should be taught to read and know southern literature. The shelves of most of our southern school libraries are filled, principally, with the works of writers of the South, and almost ignore the exclusion of southern authors. We find our children, and some of their teachers, unacquainted with many of the gems of southern thought.

Your Georgia chairman has read with much interest the report of the committee on "Southern Authors and Architects and Books," made at the St. Louis convention, and would recommend its reading by every U. D. C. Among the books condemned, one discredits the memory of Thomas Jefferson another reflects on the patriotism of John C. Calhoun, and another, "Encyclopedia of American History," by Alfred Bushnell Hart, of Harvard, is filled with insinuations and mis-statements. "The Man Without a Country," and Elson's School Readers, which almost ignore southern literature, have been black-listed by the South Carolina division, and the Georgia division would concur in the following: "The True Story of Andersonville," "The Trial of Wex," "Truths of History," and a number of Confederate pamphlets are recommended. The Encyclopedia Americana is a valuable reference book for school libraries, and is one of the few reference books that handle southern subjects competently and authoritatively. Finally—Articles on southern history, biographies and ideals, are written by southern specialists, from the southern view point, and would be far-reaching and helpful to our southern youth.

This committee, in closing, most earnestly urges every U. D. C. to place a copy of Miss Rutherford's book and pamphlets in their respective school libraries, and see that they are used in the history and literature work. The tide of misrepresentation concerning the south and her history, by writers and speakers, shows but little signs of subsiding, and we must put our shoulder to the wheel against it. The present should be regarded by the south as her historical crisis, and if we are persistent in our demand for true history, and faithful to those who publish it, we may yet go down in our annals as the women who restored the south in her rightful place in the history of our country.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. ZEPHULON WALKER. Chairman of Textbook Committee, Georgia division, U. D. C.

Report of State Editor. Madam President and Members of Georgia Division: Every Sunday since my appointment as your state editor, in April, I have reported to you through the official column in The Atlanta Constitution.

The work has been at all times, not only an inspiration and an education along all lines. U. D. C. work, but a great pleasure.

I have enjoyed the correspondence with many of Georgia's finest women and the closer touch with them which this work has given me.

My association with The Constitution has been the pleasantest at all times. They have ever been most courteous and considerate and though my editorial has often been more than allotted space, it has always appeared complete.

Each month I have given you our president's calendar, which has enabled the chapters to so efficiently plan their year's work, and the splendid historical programs prepared by Mrs. A. A. Campbell. I also have given you the monthly letter from the president general which appears in The Confederate Veteran.

During the summer months, while the chapters were resting, I used a number of interesting historical articles by our historian general, Mrs. A. A. Campbell, for which many interesting articles for which many members of the Georgia division.

I wish to thank each one who cooperated so splendidly and loyally in helping me to give you news of the division.

Each chapter reporting their meetings and other activities regularly and keeping in touch with the work of the other chapters through our day, which was Saturday, November 11, the ladies of the chapter sold poppies, those little symbols recalling the poppies that grow in Flanders fields. The proceeds received from the sale of the flowers were used for a worthy cause.

Delegates were elected to attend the general convention in Birmingham, Ala., as follows: Mrs. Paul Oliver, Mrs. Lila Morgan, Mrs. L. J. Bradley, alternates, Mrs. Jack Hill, Miss Ethel Griffin and Mrs. Thomas Gernes.

MRS. THOMAS GERNEs, Corresponding Secretary.

CHAPTER REPORTS

CARTERSVILLE.

The regular meeting of the Cartersville chapter, U. D. C., was held Tuesday afternoon, November 7, at the chapter house, with Mrs. Paul Gilreath, the president, presiding.

The chapter is planning a busy year. There are now over 125 members enrolled, this being the largest organization in the city. The ladies of the organization are now raising money with which to buy appropriate furnishings for the new chapter room. More than $200 has been raised during the past year for different purposes.

Atlanta War Mothers Hold Interesting Meeting

On Tuesday afternoon the War Mothers of the Service Star Legion held a most interesting meeting. As the president, Mrs. Sam D. Jones, was unable to be present on account of illness, Mrs. Howard McCaffrey presided.

Interesting reports were given by Mrs. Charles Adolphus, president; Mrs. L. P. Rosier, Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. Warren White, secretary.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore told of the beautiful exercises on Sunday following Armistice day at Pershing Point, where the monument erected by the War Mothers is placed to the memory of the Fulton county boys who died in the world war. General McPherson, introduced by Otey Mitchell, commander of Post of Officers of Foreign Wars, made a splendid address.

Mrs. Edward H. Barnes made report forget-me-not day for disabled veterans and tag day for Armistice day. Mrs. Barnes represented the War Mothers at the Armistice day program.

Mrs. L. M. Park as chairman gave the report of the work undertaken at Hospital 48 for the disabled soldiers. The Thanksgiving dinner was spoken of and arrangements were made.

Business Women Interested in More Efficiency

The earnestness of purpose of the Y. W. C. A. Business Women's club and their interest in Atlanta's civic life is demonstrated by the program of the club that included the speaker at a meeting of the past week, Miss Jessie Hall, of the Opportunity school, who spoke on the work of the school and the opportunity it affords employees to study for training or to attain greater efficiency along specified lines, although they may be holding at the time regular positions of employment.

Among the members of the club who are interested in seeing that young boys and girls in stores and offices be given time by their employers to attend the Opportunity school are Miss Emily Agricola, Miss Belle Beecher, Mrs. Sarah Clayton Blake, Miss Janie Bond, Miss Fannie Clegg, Miss Emily Coyne, Miss Stacie Adela Eastlack, Mrs. Eddie Faulkner, Mrs. R. S. Jennings, Miss Adel Jacot, Miss King, Mrs. Lander, Miss Clifton Lyndon, Mrs. A. E. Mullin, Mrs. Gussie Merchant, Mrs. S. L. Owen, Mrs. E. C. Pike, Mrs. A. W. Richards, Miss Doris Ragdale, Mrs. Evelyn D. Snow and Miss Pauline Ross.

A type of the social service work that the club is doing is their yearly contribution to the Needle Work guild. This season the club gift will be underwear. On Tuesday evening of this week Miss Jessie Hopkins, of Carnegie library, will speak to the club on some of the new novels that are being published. Some of the books will make a poster of the list and display it at the Y. W. C. A. Peachtree Arcade, in order that the 1,000 girls and women who visit the association daily may see the list and profit by Miss Hopkins' talk. On Tuesday evening, Miss Sarah Eastlack also will give reading for the club.

W. J. Harris, United States senator from Georgia, delivered a very interesting and profitable lecture on "International Relationships" in the college chapel on Wednesday evening.

The college students had the opportunity on Thursday evening of hearing Dean Southwick of the Emerson School of Expression, Boston, Mass., read "Julius Caesar." He is a man of national reputation and has great power and ability as a reader.

College life at Bessie Tift has been saddened by the passing of Dean Mrs. C. C. Lemon and G. Paul on Wednesday afternoon, November 8, and the body, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Lemon and Mr. G. Paul Whately, a faculty associate, was taken to his home in Ohio. The funeral was held there at Morning Sun, on Friday afternoon.

While the connection with Bessie Tift has been brief, he early and easily won the esteem and affection of the faculty and the students, and gathered about him numbers of friends in Forsyth and in other parts of Georgia.

PEOPLE AND THINGS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY LOUISE DOOLY

Atlanta's Opportunities For Development in Arts

Opportunity in art is knocking hard at Atlanta's door. Will Atlanta open it? To be quite truthful, she seems a bit indifferent. And yet "man does not live by bread alone." The spirit must have food or it perishes."

That we are not totally lacking in recognition of the value of beauty is apparent in a few of our municipal buildings, like the county courthouse, the city library and even some of our office buildings. They would have been just as useful without beauty.

In music, even the motion picture houses play up to what they have found is a craving for music, by going to an expense for it which is not justified, except by the belief of the exhibitors that the music is part of what people pay for when they go to see a movie.

The fervor of the few is offering Atlanta a series of concerts for the winter which New York and Boston do not surpass in quality, although New York and Boston get more of it.

But—was the City Auditorium full of enthusiasts at the first concert last week, one of the most beautiful that the most exacting listener could ask for? Far from it.

When another few, this time enthusiasts for art, brought an exhibition of paintings to the Southeastern fair which would have done credit to any city in the country, did Atlanta people in any great numbers go to see it? Well, did you, who read this?

Now a new prospect faces Atlanta in the appointment by the American Federation of Arts, an organization founded by such men as Theodore Roosevelt, John W. Alexander, Elihu Root, Frank D. Millet, of Mrs. E. W. More, of Atlanta, as chairman of the federation's invitation committee in Atlanta.

Mrs. More's task will be the leadership of a campaign for individual membership in the federation. The Atlanta Art association is already a chapter member. Some of the advantages of membership are a subscription to the American Magazine of Art, the use of the federation as a bureau of information on matters of art, special consideration when visiting leading art museums of the country, and opportunity to secure the federation's exhibits of art and crafts, these exhibits worth approximately $350,000.

Robert W. de Forrest tells what the individual member can give to the federation. He states as reasons for joining:

"First, not chiefly because of any personal advantage. Primarily to help the cause of art, nationally and locally. Nationally, just as you would wish to make art free in the world; locally, just as you would wish to aid in placing good works of art in museums and homes, and to aid in the establishment of local art museums."

"The federation has been and is giving national service in many directions. The important art museums and art institutions of the country are chapters of the federation. It is, through its own organization and its 343 chapters, in a position to concentrate public opinion and to promote intelligent action in all matters relating to art. Through its traveling exhibitions and circulating lectures it is giving education in art to every part of the country. Every one interested in art should help to further this public service."

Mrs. More has announced her committee, and the last week in November will be the campaign week. Will Atlanta people depart from their negative attitude towards art, put the idea of public service conspicuously in their mind's eye and join the American Federation for the sake of Atlanta and her development "in the gentler ways?"

Outdoor Joys of Indian Summer In Colorado

With the wealth of beautiful Indian summer days Georgia has enjoyed during October and early November yet a bit of envy comes over the southerner who realizes that his own people do not in any great number make the most of the Indian summer charm of the out-of-doors, when a letter comes from Colorado, that tells of the active, grandiose people there for their comparatively brief season of mild weather.

The letter comes from Colorado Springs and the story in it is of a Halloween party in North Cheyenne canyon.

A place had been chosen a short distance up in the canyon where the moon shone down, all evening.

"A 'ogie man' with his burning wand lighted the entrance as the cars drove up. Back at home the hostess had received her guests costumed as a ghost, but a very kindly ghost, who presented each with a ticket telling which particular car he or she should ride in.

The picnic grounds were found to be lighted with yellow lanterns and pumpkin heads hanging from the trees, as well as the light from a big bright fireplace (this fireplace is a community gift, repeated at intervals throughout this interesting country, with printed directions, too, on the trees).

There was a fire under the children in which coffee was served from tin cups, with the picnic supper brought from home. The picnic benches were covered for comfort, and a carpet of autumn leaves had been laid, with a few old rugs, to protect the guests in a real tank of mountain weather.

The usual Halloween decorations were everywhere, and artistic efforts were exerted in gourd-trunk trees and lighted with lanterns. Brown pitchers of cider, yellow bowls of doughnuts, baskets of peanuts, pumpkin pies, and delicious apples were some of the refreshments. Witches told fortunes and old fashioned games made the grown folks forget they were grown.

Could not Georgians profit by such suggestion of return for their pleasure to the beauty and the simplicity and the invigoration of such joys out of doors?

French Club Is Honored.

Georgia Woman Introduces Uncle Remus in Rumania

Rumanian Queen Favors American Type of Sports

The National Y. W. C. A. tells the following story of how two of their foreign secretaries, Miss Willa Haynes and Miss Lillian Jackson, had their royal classes run relay races in the palace throne room at Bucharest:

"Teaching gymnastics to the royal children in the palace at Bucharest, opening a shelter for the half-frozen and hungry women and girls traveling in the windowless and heatless cars of the Romanians, crippled train service running a hotel to the little fortresses struggling to live on 1,500 lei ($10-$15 per month)" are some of the versatile experience that Miss Willa Haynes and Miss Lillian Jackson recently brought back to the national association.

Both young women have just returned from two years' work with the Young Women's Christian association in Bucharest.

"Queen Marie is much interested in American ideas," declared Miss Jackson. "At our bazaar exhibition of health work she asked us to start gymnastic classes for the royal children. After a conference with the head-lady-in-waiting, we saluted up the marble stairway, a footman pompously carrying out American Indian clubs and basketballs. The throne room was turned over to us twice weekly and our balls used to bounce up and off the floor in a most democratic fashion. Yet there were difficulties. The king and queen would invariably enter when the classes were flat on the floor doing mat exercises. Nevertheless, according to court etiquette, they would have to leap up and curtsey. Not until then could we proceed with the lesson."

"The Y. W. C. A. work in Bucharest is the pioneer in organized social service and is being watched with much interest by the ministry of labor," says Miss Haynes. "They have given numerous grants for its support. The need for housing homes is acute. For instance, taking the fortresses at $10 to $15 per month. These young business girls are expected to support themselves. Room rent takes nearly two-thirds of their meager wages. Most of them go hungry as a result. The Y. W. C. A. work there was no help available. We offer room and board at $600 lei monthly."

Incredible tales of hardship were related by both young women in speaking of traveling conditions. "When the Germans withdrew, 14,000 refugees were all that Rumania had left to bring away her road schedules," explained Miss Jackson. "When we first arrived in Bucharest, trains were so few and far between that women and girls as well as men rode on the tops of the cars. In the bitter cold it was quite a common occurrence for a lady to suddenly disappear fall off her friend and get killed. We opened a shelter at the station, offering hot soup and a warm place to sleep during snowstorms. Conditions have now greatly improved, but the government is taking over the shelter, convinced of its good."

Miss Haynes is from Cartersville, Ga. Miss Jackson will visit her old home in Wilmington, Del.

Junior Music Club Again Sets Pace For the Country

The only thing the Junior Music club lacks is a good publicity agent.

Miss Evelyn Jackson, its director, went to Asheville a few days ago, taking with her a group of the junior members and gave a concert for the music club of Asheville, and Asheville is to return the compliment at an early date. During the coming week the Atlanta Juniors will go to Rome as the first step towards an exchange with Rome. But not a word of it all was given the Atlanta newspapers.

The Junior Music club of Atlanta has in several times cited the national federation as a model pace-maker. Once again there will be reason to exploit the Atlanta club for its initiative, for as far as has been reported no other junior club anywhere has had the enterprise to inaugurate exchange concerts between cities.

Miss Jackson's concert company included three piano players, Margaret and Elizabeth Morgan and Bala Eisenberg; a harpist, Polly Vaughn, and two dancers, Mary Grace and Kathleen Hogan.

Especially novel was the feature presented by the two little Morgan girls. It was called a miniature piano lesson. Margaret, 9 years old, was the teacher and her mother, only 5, was the pupil. Not only did the little pupil play her scales and exercises to order, but she transposed little pieces from one key to another and gave her audience a final surprise when a tiny violin was handed her and she proved she knew as much about that as the piano.

The Atlanta party were beautifully entertained while in Asheville. They were met at the train by officers of the Music club and given a luncheon of thirty or forty covers at the home of Mrs. R. G. Buckner. The concert took place at the high school and afterwards Mrs. O. H. Hamilton gave a dinner.

This coming together of music clubs of the southeast is directly traceable to the prospect of the national federation meeting which is to be held in Asheville, next June, and offers in itself a splendid example of the value to club life in any section of the meeting in that section of the national organization.

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Denver, Colo.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I can not tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house for I eat at that time of life when it calls for it. My husband saw your ad in the paper and said, 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound!' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better. 'I took about six bottles.' I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell everyone about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. R. J. LINTON, 1850 West 33rd Ave., Denver, Colo.

At High Noon

Griffin, Ga., November 18.—A beautiful wedding of Saturday, taking place at the First Presbyterian church at high noon, was that of Miss Jane Ogletree, of Griffin, and Lieutenant Robert Childs, of Honolulu, Hawaii, Rev. J. Marion Stafford officiating.

The church was decorated with palms, ferns, floor baskets filled with gorgeous white chrysanthemums, cathedral candelabra burning large candles and the choir loft was trimmed with southern smilax. On either side of the altar rose tall white baskets of white chrysanthemums.

Immediately before the ceremony, Miss Mary Leila Patterson sang "Until."

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Ogletree, sister of the bride, was lovely in a cocoon-brown canton crepe gown, with draperies of accordion pleatings, a large brown Jeanne velvet hat with facings of canary-colored velvet and a corsage of Ophelia roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Robert David Ogletree, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, James Carter, of Newborn.

The bride was beautiful in a draped model of blue pointe twill with trimmings of pink tucks and bronze buckles, a hat of blue canton crepe and trimmings of petals of same material with facings of fawn-colored silk, a double sable neckpiece and other accessories to match. Her corsage was of orchids and valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony, Lieutenant and Mrs. Childs left for California, going later to Honolulu, Hawaii, where he is aide to Major General Menoher.

Launius-Williamson Wedding Event of Wednesday Evening

An autumn wedding of prominence and beauty, around which centers cordial interest, was that of Miss Kathleen Launius, daughter of Mrs. C. D. Launius, to Donald Williamson, son of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Williamson of Rockmart, which was celebrated, Wednesday, November 15, at 5 o'clock, Rev. W. C. Robison officiating.

The Launius home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with yellow and white chrysanthemums and smilax. The library, living room, parlor and dining room were thrown together, and smilax was arranged as a frieze and entwined in the chandelier on the ceiling of the dining room. The improvised altar of ferns and palms was in the parlor, with tall wicker baskets of white chrysanthemums on either side. Burning tapes in the candelabra gave a soft brilliance over the artistic altar.

Before the entrance of the bridal party, Mr. B. C. Robison sang "O Prayse Mc."

To the strains of Miss Kathleen Launius's wedding march, played by Mrs. P. N. Launius, the bridesmaids entered. First came Miss Helen Cox in a gown of rose velvet and carrying cream chrysanthemums. Next came Miss Lillian Cox, dressed in blue velvet and carrying yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Florence Wright entered next. Her press was American beauty velvet and her flowers were cream chrysanthemums. Next came Miss Bearden, maid of honor, wore yellow velvet and carried white chrysanthemums. All wore bracelets of silver foilage in their hair, gifts of the bride, and silver cloth slippers. The daintier flower girls, little Jean Lee Launius and Mary Frances Launius, wore exquisite yellow organdie dresses, and carried baskets of Ophelia roses.

Mrs. Williamson is one of Monroe's most beautiful girls and by her unusual charm and lovable personality has endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. She comes from one of the county's most prominent and influential families. She graduated from Monroe High School and later attended Shorter college.

Mr. Williamson came to Monroe a few years ago from Rockmart, and during his stay has made friends of all with whom he has come in contact. He is a young man of fine business ability, who holds the position of manager for the Monroe Brick company.

The bride entered with her brother, P. N. Launius, to the strains of Mr. Hennigan's bridal march. She was exquisitely beautiful in her bridal gown of white satin crepe, with trimmings of pearl ornaments. The draperies and court train, gracefully falling from her shoulders, were caught with pearl beads.

Mrs. Ripley

To Entertain.

The announcement that Miss Mary Brent Whiteside will give a lecture on the "Philosophy of the Rosicrucians," on Sunday afternoon, has attracted much interest, and those who heard her address on this subject last spring, are in response to numerous requests from all over the state that the forthcoming lecture has been arranged.

Miss Whiteside, in addition to being a poet of national standing, is an accredited exponent of the ancient Rosicrucian teaching, having written extensively from the traditional high council of the American branch of the order. This fraternity, which is one of the oldest in the world, has always been strictly non-sectarian, and its activities at the present day are centered, as they have always been, upon philosophical, scientific and religious subjects, upon the promotion of brotherhood. Its membership list throughout many centuries of uninterrupted activity has contained names illustrious for achievements in science, literature and statesmanship, and at the present time the teachings of the order are attracting the attention and interest of many men and women of prominence and ability.

Mrs. W. C.
